Rodeo Parade Set

The annual parade to kick off the 16th Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the old south grade school lot at Malone and Stoddard.

The rodeo will feature Ken Curtis, better known as Festus Hagen on the "Gunsmoke" television series. He will appear at all performances Aug. 8-11 at the rodeo grounds.

A little Mr. and Miss Western tot contest will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in downtown Sikeston preliminary to the rodeo.

The parade route next Wednesday will be: North on Stoddard to Front St., east on Front to Kingshighway, south on Kingshighway to Malone and east on Malone to the Midtowner Village Shopping Center, where it will disperse.

Entries in the float competition will be accepted until next Monday. Anyone wishing to participate should contact Peter Myers or Art Hobbs. Myers is the parade chairman; Hobbs is the co-chairman.

A $30 cash prize will be awarded to the winning floats in three categories: Prettiest float, western or rodeo theme, and most original.

Participants in the parade will include, floats, bands, parade horses from Kinney Brothers rodeo stock and local horses. Cars will carry dignitaries, and local implement dealers will show the latest in equipment lines.

Hike in Steel Prices Reported

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The steel industry's two giants announced price increases today, less than 24 hours after the United Steelworkers Union won a new billion-dollar labor contract-richest in its history.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, announced an increase of almost 5 per cent across the board-first of its kind since the late President John F. Kennedy force a rollback in 1962.

Hanoi Charges U.S. Lies of Victories While Losing War

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam today denounced press conference statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as new evidence of "the obduracy of U.S. aggressive ruling circles" in pursuing a "policy of war and aggression."

Speaking in the 15th session of the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Ha Van Lau also charged that "the U.S. government has told lies" in asserting North Vietnam has committed aggression against South Vietnam and in "boasting of victories" when, he said, it is being defeated in the war in Vietnam.

Rusk called on North Vietnam at a news conference in Washington Tuesday to say what it will do to scale down the fighting if the United States ends all attacks on its territory.

Earlier, going into the meeting, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam with ruling "through terror and butchery" and they ought to give their people a little freedom.

Harriman also told newsmen as he entered the 15th meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that he intended to denounce North Vietnam for failure to live up to the 1962 agreement to neutralize Laos.

Harriman made the accusation against the North Vietnamese leaders when asked what he thought about recent jail sentences given by the Saigon government to critics or opponents.

"Have you seen any freedom in North Vietnam, in Hanoi." Harriman responded.

"It would be a great thing for Hanoi to give a little freedom to the people there." he continued.

"They impose their will through terror and butchery and so it's rather ill becoming for them to make any comment about freedom in other parts of the world."

Harriman told newsmen that "the North Vietnamese never kept the 1962 agreement on Laos for one day."

"One of the ways to make peace in Southeast Asia on a permanent basis," he said, "is for North Vietnam to leave its neighbors alone."

North Vietnam's chief delegate, Xuan Thuy, who has been slightly ill recently, did not attend today's session of the talks. His chief deputy, Col. Ha Van Lau, headed the delegation.

Brezhnev Becomes Ill as Soviet-Czech Talks End

PRAGUE (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, secretary-general of the Soviet Communist party, became ill and the history-making showdown talks between Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders on the fate of this country's liberal course ended late today, reliable sources reported.

The informants said Brezhnev, head of the Soviet delegation at the three-day meeting, did not attend today's session at the border town of Cierna.

There was no immediate word whether the illness had forced a premature end to the talks. They had been generally expected to wind up late this afternoon.

The nature of Brezhnev's illness could not be learned immediately. He is 61.

Cierna, where the meeting opened Monday, was closed to Western newsmen.

One of Czechoslovakia's leading Communist reformers reported earlier in the day that the crucial talks between the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak party presidium were taking a "promising course."

"The atmosphere is optimistic,'. said National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky in Rude Pravo, the Czechoslovak party newspaper.

The leaders of the two parties met for the third day today to the martial accompaniment of record Soviet military maneuvers. The talks continued at least one day longer than expected as the Soviets sought to develop evidence of discord among the Czechoslovaks.

Talks between the top-ranking leaders of the two parties, which had been expected to end Tuesday, were extended after the Soviets insisted that each member of both delegations have a chance to state his personal views on the liberalization program launched by the Czechoslovak party's new leaders.

The Soviets presumably hoped to draw out dissident members of the 11-man Czechoslovak party Presidium attending the conference that began Monday in the tiny farming village of Cierna, in Slovakia one mile from the Russian border.

Arm and Leg Injuries Treated

Four were treated Tuesday at the Missouri Delta Community hospital for arm and leg injuries:

Burglary Charge Dropped

A charge of burglary against Robert T. Harvey, Benton, was dismissed and court costs were certified Tuesday in magistrate court in Sikeston.

Harvey was charged in connection with the theft of about $75 in jewelry from the Fred Laminack home in Morehouse. James Gadberry was charged with burglary in the same case. Judge Marshall Craig directed a verdict in favor of Gadberry Monday in circuit court in Benton. The jewelry was recovered from a car occupied by Gadberry and Harvey when they were arrested.

Judge M. E. Montgomery presided Tuesday. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore represented the state.

Armetha Ray Taylor, Morehouse, charged with allowing an unlicensed driver to operate her motor vehicle, was fined $10 and costs.

Danny Dale Whittle, Canalou, charged with speeding, was fined $75 and costs.

Charles Eugene Miller, 529 Coleman, charged with speeding, was fined $11.50 and costs.

Gary R. Adcock, 836 Wayne, charged with speeding, was fined $21.50 and costs.

William J. Nicholson, route one, Sikeston, charged with public intoxication, was sentenced to 60 days in jail, and given a stay of sentence until Aug. 13 to pay court costs.

Dan R. Caldwell, 115 Sixth St., charged with operating a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes, was fined $5 and costs.

Arrest for Assault

Rolley D. Riley, Blodgett, was arrested by police shortly after noon Tuesday and charged with assault.

Riley was transferred to Scott county authorities in connection with the beating of his ex-brother-in-law Eugene Abbot yesterday near Crowder, Scott county sheriff John Dennis reported.

Riley was released on bond and will appear Aug. 13 in magistrate court.

Abbot was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community hospital for injuries.

In other police activity, Lindsey E. Ozment, 401 Broadway, was charged Tuesday with operating a motor vehicle with no city automobile license.

The city street sweeper driven by Leo W. Rofkahr, 729 East Kathleen, was invovled in an accident at 9:10 a.m. today on South Kingshighway in front of P J's Auto & Home Supply.

The sweeper struck a car driven by Charles R. Tisdel, 51, 402 Virginia, when it pulled from the curb police reported.

A car driven by Roy Lee Rhyme, 56, 710 Montgomery, collided with a car driven by Wesley D. Cooper, 64, Sikeston, at 2:35 a.m. today at Murray Lane and Montgomery, police reported.

Living Costs Take .5 Per Cent Leap

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of living, paced by higher mortgage interest and other home ownership charges, jumped one half of one per cent in June to a level 4.2 per cent above that of a year ago, the government announced today.

The June rise equaled that of February 1966 and was larger than any other since September 1962 when the index went up six-tenths of one per cent.

The suit of Virginia Stahlhuth, Alice Goessling and LaVerne Hale against James Porter was dismissed by their attorney.

Objections to Boat Docks Withdrawn

NEW MADRID--The Mississippi Valley Association and the American Waterways Operators have withdrawn their objections to the building of boat docks on the narrow point of the river bend at New Madrid.

A protest had been filed with the U.S. Engineers at Memphis, whose plans included docks for unloading coal and aluminum ore on the bend.

The city of New Madrid will build the dock as one phase of developing the 4,000-acre St. Jude Industrial park, on the Mississippi river south of New Madrid.

The federal government has approved a $2,929,000 grant for the development of the park. It will be matched by the city if voters approve bond issues Aug. 23.

A portion of the park has been leased to Noranda Aluminum Inc. for an induatrial complex.

The city will build a steam generating plant to furnish electricity for the complex and the dock will be used for unloading coal and aluminum ore.

Objections were raised by barge line operators, who believed heavy traffic at the loading docks would cause congestion at the narrow point of the river bend.

McGovern to Push RFK Ideals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern has emerged as a rallying point for some supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—but mainly to influence the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, an outspoken war critic, said in an interview he has rejected suggestions from Kennedy people that he actively seek the presidential nomination at next month's Democratic National Convention because of his own hard re-election race.

"But I have told them if they want to use me as a rallying point, that's okay," McGovern added, observing that "this will give a little more leverage at the convention."

It was for this reason that he went to California last weekend to discuss the convention, and especially its platform, with Kennedy supporters.

He called on them for a moral commitment to "passion and action in the service of the nation" and implied that neither Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey nor Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the party's presidential contenders, could do this.

McGovern, however, made it plain he will support the party nominee.

When asked whether a dark horse such as he might wind up as the nominee, he said this is "a very, very unlikely event."

He did say he would accept a nomination, adding that "anyone in politics who gets as far as the U.S. Senate who says he wouldn't accept the presidential nomination is crazy."

McGovern said he will probably ask to testify before the convention's platform committee on both farm and Vietnam policy, and added he will work at Chicago to organize delegates to try for "the strongest possible plank on Vietnam, to improve our chances in November and to line up with the mood of the country."

In his Los Angeles speech, he indicated he thought the platform should admit the errors of the Johnson administration's policies."

"I am convinced," he said, "that any president with the will to do it could end the war in Vietnam on terms acceptable to the American people in 60 days."

"It is imperative," the senator went on, "that we nominate a standard-bearer who can run with a clear mind and conscience on our party's platform. That is why I have declined to endorse the candidacy of an old and dear friend—the vice president.

Then, in apparent criticism of McCarthy, McGovern attacked "those—some of them candidates for high office—who cannot seem to detect the urgency of the warning, cannot see the bush that has been burning these many years.

"They think America is tired; that it is time to relax; that we need not action and passion but cool philosophy," the senator said, adding "as Robert Kennedy said so often, that is not the road history has marked for us."

McGovern has been designated South Dakota's "favorite son" by the 26-vote delegation Kennedy captured just hours before his assassination. In addition, over 200 of more than 700 undecided Democratic delegates, including the 174 from California, are believed to be Kennedy supporters.

As for the 46-year-old McGovern, a college professor before entering politics, he still intends to devote most of his energy to his second-term fight against former GOP Gov. Archie L. Gubrud.

Although recent polls have shown McGovern well ahead, the state is normally Republican. In addition, the senator may be hurt by the arrest last weekend of his 19-year-old daughter on marijuana possession charges.

Nixon Urges Platform Endorsing Militant Crusade Against Crime

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon called on the Republican party today to endorse "a militant crusade against crime ... to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

"Only fifty years ago, Americans dreamed of making the world safe for democracy," Nixon said. "Today, our present leadership cannot even make America safe for Americans."

Nixon's statement, given to the GOP Platform Committee by Texas Senator John G. Tower, was the first such presentation of the views the front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination to plank-writers drawing up the party's 1968 document.

At about the same time two other Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—were appearing in person at the pre-convention policy session. And there was a contrast between them.

California Gov. Reagan—whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate—stressed a firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of Communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

New York's Mayor Lindsay, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself for president, accented reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this Johnson administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

The young-looking New Yorker got loud and sustained applause when he took the stand—and perfunctory applause after he got through.

GOP platform drafters indicated that their planks will be broad enough to suit any of the potential presidential nominees.

Nixon's statement today dealt only with the crime issue.

"During the decade of the 1960s," he said, "the peace forces of our society surrendered critical ground to the criminal forces. The first right of every American, the right to be free from domestic violence, has become the forgotten civil right of the American people.

"One paramount need is for the men of government at the national level to exert their moral authority to the limit, to marshal the armies of public opinion behind what can be nothing less than a militant crusade against crime.

Committe Tables Fortas Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee shelved Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice until after Labor Day when not enough senators showed up today to take action on the appointment.

Sen. James O. Eastland, DMiss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said he wouldn't try to call another meeting until Congress returns in September after the national political conventions.

The latest delay consumed more time in the fight by Fortas' foes to block the nomination by filibustering after it reaches the floor.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, RMich., opposing President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments of both Fortas and Judge Homer Thornberry, said his forces have doubled in recent weeks and claimed he has more than enough votes to keep a filibuster going indefinitely.

Only five members of the 16man Senate Judiciary Committee showed up for today's meeting.

Griffin said Tuesday 40 or more senators now oppose the appointments and added, "I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed."

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Fulbright, Rockefeller Victors

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won renomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bernard, father of five, farms and operates a dry cleaning business. His only public service came as a city alderman.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

Rockefeller, the state's first GOP chief executive since Reconstruction, indicated that Bernard would have the all-out backing of his organization. The drive to give the state its first Republican senator in 100 years follows by two years Rockefeller's own triumph which helped Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt become the first Arkansas Republican congressman in a century.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Boswell, at 35 the youngest candidate and a strong advocate to revamp the 94-year-old state constitution, and Mrs. Johnson, the first woman to seek the governorship in Arkansas, appeared headed for a down-to-the-wire battle for the No. 2 spot. Mrs. Johnson is Jim Johnson's wife.

Bill Alexander of Osceola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

WE ENDORSE: FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Given the proper information, this newspaper will always support the so-called political white hats over the black hats, the proverbial good guys over the political bad guys. perhaps no contest in the Democratic primary next month presents such a classic example of the white hat versus black hat candidate as does the race for Missouri's Attorney General.

The two men in the contest are Norman Anderson, the incumbent, now serving at the end of his first four-year term, and Russell Millin, a former U. S. Attorney who now seeks nomination and election as the state's top legal officer.

Anderson, four years ago, ran against a lackluster candidate from western Missouri in the Democratic primary, and since he was fairly well known in his home area of St. Louis, Anderson needed only portions of outstate Missouri, including the Bootheel, to beat his primary opponent. From then on, Anderson's political career seemed to be going nowhere but up.

Forgetting the fact that service from the Attorney General's office was slow - sometimes agonizingly so – there seemed to be nothing in the Anderson record that did not recommend him for another term in office. There was nothing, that is, until some facts began cropping up about Anderson that caused thoughtful Democrats and thoughtful Missourians to have some second thoughts about their boy Norman.

The Anderson record - which includes some peculiar associations with unsavory elements in Kansas City and St. Louis and his strange association in the smelly Presidential Insurance Co. scandal - convinced many persons that Anderson's public career should be terminated as quickly as possible.

This newspaper urged state Sen. A. M. Spradling of Cape Girardeau to make the race, but he chose not to do so. We regretted this, and still do, but Anderson has a formidable opponent - at least when it comes to public and personal qualifications - in Russ Millin. A graduate of the University of Missouri Law School, Millin was engaged in private practice for seven years. During that time he served as area coordinator for Sen. Symington's presidential campaign bid and later served in a similar capacity for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

In 1961, President Kennedy named Millin as U. S. Attorney - and this he became, in deed as well as in title. As a federal prosecuting attorney, he became one of western Missouri's most vigorous law enforcement officers and was responsible for the wholesale clean-up of the Kansas City area. He worked tirelessly and effectively against Mafia elements in Kansas City; he quickly earned a reputation as one of the outstanding U. S. Attorneys in the nation. He was reappointed to the federal post following Lyndon Johnson's election in 1964.

We believe Russ Millin would be a credit to the Democratic party and to the state of Missouri were he to be elected Attorney General. He would seek to drive out some of the underworld groups in this state that have been winked at but permitted to operate almost openly in certain areas. Millin would - and could - administer the office without the cronyism that has been part and parcel of the office for the past four years.

If Russ Millin is qualified, he is also inexperienced in the matter of getting elected. He lacks political know-how and he lacks compaign funds. He does not have the vigorous support of the Steamfitters, the Alex Presta group in Kansas City, the Jimmy Michaels gang in St. Louis - all of which are totally committed to Anderson, who also has the support and blessing of the Coran organization.

Millin lacks the campaign staff, the necessary political knowledge, the advantage of being an incumbent. In our opinion he can only be elected if enough Democrats decided they want their party to be represented by the best elements, not the elements that are constantly being investigated and questioned by the press.

Millin can only win if independent, conscientious and worried Democrats will go the polls and nominate him on Tuesday, Aug. 6. Otherwise indifference and complacency will take their toll - and many well bring about the nomination of Norman Anderson, a man who could help bring down the Democratic party next November. If there are enough concerned Democrats, Millin will be elected; if not, the party has only itself to blame.

We wholeheartedly and enthusiastically endorsed Russ Millin for nomination to the office of Attorney General of Missouri.

TELEVISED CONVENTIONS

The Democratic and Republican conventions of 1952 were the first carried to a nation- wide audience by live television. They were also, it turns out, the last conventions in which there was any doubt as to who would win the Presidential nominations. Although Dwight D. Eisenhower won on the first ballot 16 years ago, a credentials fight between Eisenhower and Taft forces kept viewers and delegates from becoming bored. And three ballots were required before the Democrats nominated Adlai E. Stevenson.

In the three succeeding presidential election years, the conventions were more predictable and therefore less exciting. At the same time, TV coverage became more proficient. So television, which needs excitement or controversy to attract viewers, has had to supply its own. One of the leading non - events of 1964 occurred when John Chancellor of NBC-TV was arrested on the floor of the Republican convention for blocking an aisle, was ushered out, and then politely escorted back. Chancellor's exit and re - entry represented one of the highlights of an otherwise cut - and - dried affair.

When the Republican National Convention opens at Miami Beach on Monday, Aug. 5, 1,333 delegates, 1,333 alternates and about 160 tons of network television equipment will be on hand. The GOP can claim the honor of holding the first national political convention carried entirely in color on television.

Whether the convention itself will be colorful is another matter. If the floor battles prove uninteresting or nonexistent, the networks are prepared to fill the breach. NBC has Huntley- Brinkley, CBS has Walter Cronkite and a huge supporting cast, and ABC has William F. Buckley Jr. and Gore Vidal. As waspish observers of the political scene – though from quite different vantage points – Buckley and Vidal should keep things lively. National Review editor Buckley does not like any Republican candidate except California Gov. Ronald Reagan very much. Playwright - novelist Vidal is a Democrat who supports Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. Neither Buckley nor Vidal, it appears now, will see his favorite win. The disappointment of both should sharpen the dialogue between them.

'Buddy, If That Gun Ain't Registered, You're In Worse Trouble Than I Am'

Hal Boyle

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It is about 200 miles between New York and Washington, and some motorists can make the trip in as little as four hours. It takes us 10.

That's because my husband has a yen for taking ferryboats. If there isn't a ferry where we are going, we go where there is a ferry.

Thus on a recent trip to the nation's capital we disdained the direct mode of travel via turnpike and expressway in our eternal pursuit of a ferryboat route.

Instead we traversed the entire coastline of New Jersey, all the way down to Cape May where, by diligent map study, my would-be sailor had located a ferry that took us from New Jersey to Delaware. From there it was only a roundabout trip of some hours before we reached our destination.

En route to Florida we always drove down to the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula, from which point we were waterborne in slow splendor across Chesapeake Bay. When they built the 17-mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel a few years ago and eliminated that ferry, what others regarded as an engineering marvel my husband regarded as a personal affront.

The next time we went down that way we traveled a couple of hundred extra miles in order to take a ferry he had discovered in Wilmington, N.C.

There is always some heated debate between us as to whether the ferries he has ferreted out are seaworthy. I always take the negative.

On one occasion we rode a vessel so tiny that it resembled a raft. It was so small it wouldn't even hold the car, but that didn't deter my determined spouse. We left the family vehicle behind and went to an island and back just for the ride.

When we do manage to get the car onto a boat, I am always convinced that we are going to drive straight into the water when we leave it. Actually there is not much danger of this as my chauffeur is usually not even at the wheel when we make landfall. He always insists on getting out, no matter how short the trip, to view the passing scenery and is usually not back by the time the chains are down and the attendants are motioning impatiently for the car to move.

Each time my husband reads that a new bridge is being built and an old ferry is being dropped, he reacts as though a favorite uncle had died.

Outwardly I commiserate with him, but inwardly I smile. I'm all for progress.

RAZING THE RUMOR MILL

The idea that what employes don't know won't hurt them is giving way to the much-less-complacent thought that what employes don't know CAN hurt the company.

Increased use of in-plant publications and announcements, meetings at all levels between management and production people to discuss changes and innovations—these and other tools of communication are being used to brake the wheels of the rumor mills, which have rarely been known anyway to press anything more palatable than sour grapes.

An old Indian chief was on his first visit to a city and wandered into the lobby of a skyscraper. Just then he saw an elderly woman step into a small room with a sliding door. A light flashed, the door closed and she was gone. A few minutes later, the light flashed again, the door opened and out stepped a beautiful blonde. "Ugh," muttered the old chief to himself, "should have brought squaw."

WASTE AND FRAUD IN THE POVERTY PROGRAM

A special committee of the Michigan legislature is currently investigating the poverty program in Detroit. Thus far it reveals many flagrant examples of waste and fraud.

The Detroit program has received $53 million in federal funds. The chairman of the investigating committee reports: "Out of $53 million, less than $13 million could have reached the hard-core poor from 1964 to 1967. After overhead costs and salaries are deducted, less than 25 per cent of the poverty funds actually reached thepoor in direct services or on-the-job training."

Many abuses were uncovered. The program's director collected $6,030 for travel expenses, including a trip to Honolulu. $100,000 in dental equipment was purchased in 1966. By the end of 1967, only four patients had been treated. About $45,000 was loaned to businesses which were discontinued shortly after receiving the loans.

The chairman of the investigating committee estimated that about $1 million in equipment had been stolen from the poverty program office, including 6 public address systems, 11 air conditioners, 31 motion picture projectors, 14 tape recorders, and 6 duplicating machines.

The report of the investigating committee stated: "The over-all picture of the entire program is one of gross mismanagement, misuse and fraudulent use of funds, and diversion of funds from one program to another. It is the old story of everyone grabbing tax dollars as fast as they can be grabbed with the least amount of effort." The Detroit program is ample evidence that very little money appropriated for "poverty" actually goes to help the poor. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: FBI reports underground black nationalist movement; secret strategy planned to take over capital; Strokely Carmichael lies low after subversive statements in foreign countries.

WASHINGTON--An alarming confidential report has been prepared by the FBI on the underground black nationalist movement in the United States.

It may explain the sudden outbreak of violence in Cleveland, a city under a Negro mayor, Carl Stokes, which has been making great progress toward racial understanding but where a handful of black nationalists began shooting police last week merely because they were towing away a parked car.

It definitely explains some of the extremist moves by Negroes in Washington.

Finally it gives a key to the tremendous upsurge in the popularity of George Wallace of Alabama, who represents a latent American fascism whose answer to Negro violence is white violence.

What the FBI has found in Washington is that the Black Militants have worked out a secret plan to take over the nation's capital. The militants argue that Negroes are now in the majority and that given home rule they can take over the city.

At present Washington is governed by a Negro mayor, Walter Washington, an able executive, who is supported by a city council, half Negro, half white. Mayor Washington, however, is considered much too moderate by the black militants. They have worked out the following secret strategy to take over the capital, neighborhood by neighborhood.

SECRET STRATEGY

First they will try to persuade the moderates to become militant, and if they fail, then bury them with frustration and harassment. When the moderates hold meetings, the strategy is to break up the meetings or be so unreasonable that the moderates will have to disassociate themselves from the meetings.

This was the explanation of the recent meeting in the African Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss neighborhood control of police where the black militants demanded that all whites leave. The whites present had been strong supporters of Negro progress. When they left, moderate Negroes walked out with them in protest.

Stokely Carmichael sat quietly in a back row of the meeting. He had been one of the chief architects of the new secret strategy. Another was chuck stone, former assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both militant and moderate Negroes are burnt up over the double standard of Ethical conduct in Congress, whereby Powell, a Negro, was expelled, and Rep. Mendell Rivers of South Carolina, who has had inexcusable bouts with Alcohol and has used government airplanes almost at will, remains a power in the white establishment.

This has caused far more resentment in the black world than congressional leaders realize and appears to moderates to be a legitimate case against congress.

STOKELY LIES LOW

Carmichael, who helped devise the secret strategy to take over Washington, Neighborhood by neighborhood, has been laying low following his subversive statements in foreign countries. He has been careful not to say anything publicly which would cause his arrest.

His operations, however, have been very carefully followed by the Justice Department, including some of his talks with the late Dr. Martin Luther King who finally persuaded Carmichael to stay out of the Poor People's March.

Rev. Ralph David Aberanthy, also Anti-Communist, seems more susceptible to Carmichael's persuasion than King. Shortly before the start of the Poor People's March, he told the New York Times: "I love Stokely. He's a wonderful guy. I may disagree with individuals like him on strategy, but not on goals. All I know is that we will remain nonviolent."

Carmichael's real goal, however, is the overthrow of the United States government. He spelled this out last Aug. 18 in Hanoi at an AFRO-American rally attended largely by North Vietnamese.

"We are not reformists," he said. "We do not seek to reform. We do not wish to be part of the U.S. Government, of its system. We are revolutionaries. We seek to change the imperialist system of the United States. We will be satisfied with nothing less.

"We are comrades," he told the North Vietnamese, "Because we seek to redeem humanity, because we seek to stop the greatest destroyer of humanity--The United States. When we succeed, and we will succeed, our blood, our lives would have been a little price to pay."

Probably Carmichael did not know that his words were picked up by powerful U.S. monitors. What he does know, however, is that his words in Hanoi cannot be used to prosecute him in the United States because the Justice Department can get no witnesses from Communist countries.

Back in the United States, Stokely is being very careful not to repeat these remarks. However, he has been very active in rpomoting quiet moves by which the black militants will gradually take over Washington.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

DIS-ALIENATING THE INTELLECTUAL:

Reuther-Teamsters Alliance Plans '69 Convention to Launch Massive Federation to Sweep U.S. With New 'Social Action'.

Washington, D.C.: – The other day Victor Reuther, who still carries the obvious wounds of a shotgun blast which the Detroit underworld poured into his face, summoned in some members of the foreign diplomatic corps to brief them on Walter Reuther's alliance with the Teamsters.

Apparently a great deal of blood, good and bad, has gone over the dam.

Brother Victor confided that this Alliance for Labor Action (ALA) would engender the dynamic "social action" the Reuthers feel has long been lacking in the United States.

This explanation moved forward from the other Reuther's statement in the ALA's Declaration of Purpose, that collaboration with the Brotherhood of Teamsters would "repair the alienation of the liberal - intellectual and academe community and the youth of our nation in order to build and strengthen a new alliance of progressive forces in the broad effort to advance the common good."

Last Wednesday, many of the diplomats were fascinated by Victor's discourse on how Walter Reuther and Frank Fitzsimmons, Jimmy Hoffa's one - man caretaker government, and the Teamsters fraternity would rewin the groves of academie.

It was explained that soon enough the impact of the joint social action would be felt. For example, there will be vast housing projects in the black ghettos.

The money, Victor Reuther disclosed, would come from the huge workers pension funds now administered by the auto corporations. First, he said, the ALA will approach General Motors and urge it to use the money for construction, instead of having it managed by financial institutions who hold it in trust for hundreds of thousands of older auto workers.

There will be drives to purify the air, beautify the cities, organize millions of unorganized, build a vast strike defense fund.

And, of course, there's always the Kenneth Galbraithian intellectuals who take AFL-CIO President George Meany as a personal insult. The Galbraiths of the world now must be rewon, and doubtlessly Brother Fitzsimmons will be able to help.

The intellectual community will thus be dis - alienated, not only in America but on all continents and centers of basic thought, including Moscow, to which Walter Reuther soon will travel.

To the diplomats (labor attaches) from abroad, including those from Eastern European lands, Victor Reuther's discourse on social action was impressive indeed.

But to insiders it was hardly complete despite its sweeping grandeur of illusion and sharpness of disillusionment with most of American labor.

What was not said was that the Reuther brothers plan a new labor federation, and not merely an ad hoc series of cooperative drives on the political, medical health, small farmers' and black workers' fronts.

To the informed, this is obvious. People may not be logical. But events are.

The new auto union - Teamsters alliance has hit the high road to federation, a mass movement, and a daring and electrifying confrontation with the 14 million - member AFL-CIO.

Walter Reuther simply is rebuilding his old Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Reuther is a brilliant strategist and did not talk and walk his way out of the AFL-CIO to win up in a cul-de-sac.

Having charged the major labor federation with inaction and insensitivity to the new day, the UAW president simply could not continue bombarding George Meany with white papers, and produce nothing.

He had to move. For this he needed a power base which his own union tried but could not build on the political and black fronts outside the auto industry.

So he turned to the one massive power structure outside the AFL-CIO -- the Teamsters. Reuther is a most agile and shrewd bargainer. In return for the alliance, he gave Fitzsimmons his first chance to dramatize himself without the aid of Jimmy Hoffa.

Thus, Fitz found himself sitting alongside the sociological Reuther instead of some of the scatological muscle so prevelant in preressurection days.

The alliance was announced and there were vague words about social action ad hoc efforts to revitalize labor. The specifics were left for a meeting some time in September.

Meanwhile, having developed his power base, Reuther put himself in a most strategic position. As Victor Reuther told the diplomats, the alliance has huge funds available for organizing.

This will tempt many a union. Reuther also now can offer the bait of Teamster support in new drives and future strikes. This is tempting too.

So some of Reuther's men now are contacting other unions ousted from the old CIO years ago.

There are, for instance, Harry Bridges' left - wing, Pacific Coast longshoremen's union and the East Coast's United Electrical workers.

They're all being told their ouster from the old CIO on charges of having followed a pro - Soviet line is just so much "water over the dam."

And that they're welcome in the new crusade. But welcome to what? Certainly more than an "alliance."

They may all be under the same roof early in 1969 when the new ALA runs "a representative national conference" -- a convention, actually.

Such a "conference" needs "structuring," as the alienated academicians say. And structuring means a central headquarters and a secretariat. There could be unions with well over four million members at the "conference."

Thus Walter Reuther will have his new labor movement, and the Teamsters will have a new charisma. And the country may well see a new civil war on the labor front.

Judith Moll Says Vows with James F. Diehl in California

Mrs. James F. Diehl

FULLERTON, Calif.--Roses, gladioli and pompons in shades of red and pink decorated the Garden Grove Community church July 13 for the wedding of Miss Judith Ann Moll and James F. Diehl of Anaheim, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Moll of Fullerton, former of Sikeston, Mo. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Diehl Jr. of Easton, Pa.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Stella Moll of Sikeston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza over taffeta Empire gown fashioned with ruffles at the neckline and wrists.

A picture hat of transparent braid secured her floor-length veil of illusion. She carried a nosegay of Pink roses and stephanotis. Her necklace and earrings were gifts from the groom and had belonged to his mother.

Mrs. Sharon Bell, Buena Park, Calif., was matron of honor and Mrs. Danny Bueno, Diamond Bar, Calif., bridesmaid. Both wore pink linen A-line gowns and carried pink carnations.

Phillip Busby, San Clemente, Calif., was best man and Robert Kuhns and Thomas Hodgins, Anaheim were ushers.

Mrs. Hodgins assisted at a reception in the church parlor and garden attended by 200 guests.

The bride's mother wore a lime green sheath with matching coat and pink rose corsage. Mrs. Diehl wore a yellow linen dress and yellow roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Diehl are employed by Ling Temico Vought Ling Altec in Anaheim.

They will live in Anaheim after returning from a northern California wedding trip.

The entire adult life of the mayfly may consist of only several hours, or at most a few days, in the sun.

Last U.S. president to be inaugurated in March was Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4, 1933.

Teacher Proposes In Newspaper Ad

NEW YORK AP - Stephen N. Delit got his girl through the New York Times.

Delit, 23, a romantic fellow from Flushing, Queens, placed the following ad in Tuesday's Times to celebrate the 23rd birthday of his finance, Ellen, J. Richter:

"E. J. R. Happy birthday. I love you. Will you marry me? S. N.D."

"I thought it would be romantic in an age of unromanticism," explained Delit, a high school math teacher, "especially in such a staid paper as the Times."

Miss Richter was equal to the occasion. Upon reading the two-line ad at the bottom of the front page of the second section, she promptly placed a reply running in the same place in today edition. It reads:

"S. N. D. I love you too. Yes I will. E. J. R."

Met Run Harmless As Birds Pad Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson, who's been dealing almost exclusively in zeros for two months, shrugs off an occasional odd number on the scoreboard.

Tony Cloninger hardly can afford the luxury.

Gibson's latest shutout string was severed at 23 innings Tuesday night but the St. Louis ace breezed past the New York Mets 7-1 for his 12th consecutive victory.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Cloninger, whose next shutout will be his first in two years, blanked Philadelphia on three hits for seven innings but had to settle for relief help and a 5-2 victory that sent the Reds into second place in the National League.

Cloninger, acquired from Atlanta in a trade last month after an injury-plagued 1967 flop with the Braves, failed to go the distance for the 17th time in as many starts this season.

Pittsburgh swept a twi-night doubleheader from Atlanta 8-5 and 5-4 in 10 innings, dropping the slump-ridden Braves from the runner-up spot to third. Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs trampled San Francisco 10-4.

In the American League, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 5-0; Baltimore whipped Boston 8-3; Cleveland drubbed Washington 10-1 and Oakland defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

The Cardinals made it a cakewalk for Gibson Tuesday night by striking for five runs in the fourth inning, with Julian Javier's two-run single the key blow. The league leaders' 23rd victory in 29 games this month gave them a 14-game bulge over the Reds.

Rookie Johnny Bench cracked his ninth homer as Cincinnati staked Cloninger to a 5-0 lead over the floundering Phillies. But Tony Taylor opened the Phils' eighth with a single, then kicked the ball out of Woody Woodward's hand as the Cincy shortstop tried to start a double play on Roberto Pena's grounder.

When Cloninger got behind Johnny Callison 2-0, Manager Dave Bristol yanked him. The Phillies went on to score twice against Clay Carroll before the reliever nailed Cloninger's third victory in nine decisions.

"Though he kept his pitches well under control, at the end he lost it," said Reds pitching coach Mel Harder of Cloninger's near-miss. "It's almost spring training for Tony since he hasn't pitched much this year or last year. It will take him a while to catch up."

It was the Reds' fourth straight victory and the 12th setback for the Phils in their last 14 games.

The Pirates extended Atlanta's losing string to five games when Matty Alou scampered home from third in the 10th inning of the nightcap as the Braves failed to turn over a double play on Manny Mota's hopper.

Pitcher Steve Blass stroked a two-run double in a six-run fourth inning salvo that decided the twilight opener. Catcher Jerry May drove in three Pittsburgh runs with singles in the fourth and fifth.

Bob Bailey drove in two Los Angeles runs with a double and single before Willie Davis tripled in the eighth and scored the clincher on Len Gabrielson's infield tap. The Astros closed the gap with a ninth inning run and chased winner Bill Singer before Jim Brewer came out of the bullpen to end it.

Adolfo Phillips golfed two home runs and Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams hit one apiece as the Cubs overpowered San Francisco. Willie McCovey slammed his 25th homer in the third, giving the Giants a 3-2 edge, but Banks' two-run homer and a three-run shot by Phillips put Chicago on top to stay in the bottom of the inning.

Kranepool Gets Rare RBI off Gibson

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Kranepool is one of a vanishing breed—he drove in a run against Bob Gibson of St. Louis. But as usual, it didn't do any good.

Gibson won his 12th straight game as the National Leagueleading Cardinals beat the New York Mets 7-1.

Kranepool doubled home Ed Charles, who had singled, in the fourth inning for only the second RBI and third run scored off Gibson in 101 innings. Denis Menke of Houston drove in the other run July 12, and the third scored on a wild pitch.

Gibson, whose 15-5 record includes eight shutouts and 13 complete games, has achieved just about every major pitching record except a no-hitter.

"I don't ever expect to pitch one of those," Gibson said. "I would be surprised. I'm a high ball thrower and that kind of pitcher can get hurt.

"A low ball pitcher can make mistakes and get away with it."

Well, if a high ball pitcher can't get away with mistakes, then Gibson must not be making any.

His earned run average is 0.96. The major league record is 1.22 by Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Philadelphia Phils in 1915.

Cairo Trips Sikeston Ruth Team

CHARLESTON--Sikeston was eliminated from the annual invitational Babe Ruth tournament last night, when R. Hileman of Cairo held the Sikeston team to two hits.

His teammates gathered 10, to win 4 to 2.

Hileman was the winning pitcher, while Blankenship was the loser for Sikeston, but Blankenship had the honor of getting the only two hits for the losers.

In a scheduled second game, Clinton, Ky. won by 6 to 0 forfeit over Chaffee, which failed to appear.

No games are scheduled for tonight.

In second round play Thursday, Charleston will play against Scott City at 6:30 p.m. In the second game, Clinton, Ky. will play Cairo at 8:30 p.m.

RECORD CATCH brings happy smile from Elliot Fishman, who landed this 845-pound blue marlin in waters off St. John, Virgin Islands. The fish measures more than 13 feet with a girth of 71 inches and a tail spread of 56 inches. It was hooked on an 80-pound test line after a fight lasting three hours, 28 minutes.

Hot Passing Chief Hope For Undedog Grid Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, a 16-point underdog, have a potentially hot passing attack going for them against the mighty Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star football game Friday night.

Overall, the pros hold a 23-9-2 margin in the Soldier Field spectacle started in 1935. The last time the collegians won was in 1963 with a 20-17 shading of the Packers.

In other recent upsets, the All-Stars triumphed 35-19 over the Detroit Lions in 1958, after previously winning in 1955, nipping the Cleveland Browns 30?7, and—five seasons earlier—in 1950, by 17-7 over the Philadelphia Eagles.

If Norm Van Brocklin, former Minnesota Viking coach is to make a successful All-Star coaching debut Friday night, his quarterback duo of Gary Beban of UCLA and Greg Landry of Massachusetts probably will have to blaze away as successfully as Wisconsin's Ron Vanderkelen did in the 1963 derailing of the Packers and Michigan State's Jim Ninowski in the 1958 trimming of the Lions.

Beban and Landry, both highly regarded pro prospects for the Washington Redskins and Lions respectively, seemingly have the grab-and-take-off receivers to cause the Packers trouble.

It was Vanderkelen's 74-yard pass play with Badgermate Pat Richter which beat the Packers in 1963. In the 1958 All-Star triumph, Ninowski's shots to fleet Bobby Mitchell of Illinois demoralized the Lions.

Beban, the Uclan's Heisman Trophy winner, probably will get the starting call against the National Football League champions, but Van Brocklin also is expected to use the rangy, sharpshooting Landry as much to keep aerial pressure on the Packers.

Hansen's Solo Triple Play First in 41 Years

CLEVELAND (AP) — You wouldn't figure to find too many smiling faces in the Washington locker room after a 10-1 loss to Cleveland Tuesday night. There was one. Ron Hansen's.

He had an unassisted triple play.

"It just happened," the Senators' shortstop said. "It wasn't a pre-thought thing."

He became the eighth major league player ever to pull the play and the first in 41 years. John Neun, a first baseman for Detroit, and Chicago Cubs' shortstop Jim Cooney did it in 1927.

The Indians had men on first and second and the hit-and-run sign flashed in the first inning when Joe Azcue lined one down to Hansen.

He grabbed the liner, stepped on second to double Dave Nelson and got Russ Snyder coming down from first.

"I knew there were no outs and when I tagged Snyder I knew I had it," Hansen said. "But the importance of the play didn't dawn on me."

Bill Wambsganss of Cleveland is the only player to have an unassisted triple play in a World Series—in 1920.

Others were shortstop Neal Ball of Cleveland in 1909, first baseman George Burns of the Boston Red Sox in 1923, shortstop Ernie Padgett of the Boston Braves in 1923 and shortstop Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh in 1925.

The Washington Senators Or Case of Melting Bats

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Even the sun seemed about to drip. The Washington Senators, languishing around the batting cage, appeared barely able to lift their bats—which, the way things have been going, was not unusual.

In the Senators' dugout, the sprawling, ruggedly ruddy figure of James Robert Lemon, freshman big-league manager, watched his team work out. For him, the day was not unusual. The entire season has been oppressive.

A reporter mentioned to Lemon that, since the Senators were in last place, have been for a goodly time, and were several light years away from the ninth-place club . . .

"I know, I know the record," Lemon interjected, "do you have to repeat it?"

A sixth-place club was inherited from Gil Hodges, who defected to the New York Mets. Lofty hopes had pervaded Washington but they disintegrated into mere chimeras. What happened?

"Everything," said Lemon.

"All the things that happen when you aren't winning. Key players, like catcher Paul Casanova, get hurt. We get runners on, and they don't come off until three outs are made.

"Take a running game," said Lemon. "When your people can't run, you can't steal. And when your starting pitchers give up four and five runs in the first three innings, you can't play for one run. And what do you do when the outfielders break in for balls over their heads, break out for bloopers and break left for balls to their right?

"When a pitcher forgets to cover first on a bunt—like two did in both games of a recent doubleheader—he comes in and says, 'I know, I know what I should've done.' What can you do?"

All right, the pitchers aren't pitching, the fielders aren't fielding, the runners aren't running. That's baseball, as the flanneled philosophers declaim. But what about hitting?

"In the first 30 games," said Lemon, "five starters had only five runs driven in between them—Epstein, Casanova, Peterson and Valentine." Even a sports writer could figure out that was only four players. "Throw in Coggins, then. He's gotta be in there, too."

And now, some 60 games later? "We're doing a little better at the plate. At least we're starting to make contact with the ball." As in hide-and-seek, the players are beginning to get warm.

What about the future? "It's bright," said Lemon, slipping into his public relations disguise. "Epstein'll get better. Frank Howard has a few more good years left. If Casanova gets untracked he'll be one of the best catchers around. Coleman's gonna be a helluva pitcher. Brinkman's a fine glove man, a valuable man if a team can hit.

"I'll tell you one thing, though. No one has dogged it. All the players have given 100 per cent."

If they gave anything less, the Senators would finish below Caborca of the Mexican Rookie League.

Past president, Missouri Prosecuting Attorneys' Association.

One of our grave concerns must be the exodus of our people from the 10th district. For the 10 years covered by our last population census, we lost 8.7% of our people while the state of Missouri gained 9.2% and the nation 18.5%. It is tragic that, after we have educated our young people, they leave because they cannot find adequate employment here. A U.S. Congressman can do much to insure location of private and public industry in his district. Rocky Looks South

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is placing increasing importance on the Southern states in the effort to prevent Richard M. Nixon from winning the Republican nomination for president on an early ballot.

His aides in the South advise him that numerous Southern delegates who are listed as voting for Nixon, the acknowledged frontrunner for the nomination, in fact favor Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

"The first ballot is the key," said Robert Douglass, campaign manager for Rockefeller, "and the Southern delegates who are for Reagan could be the key to that."

He said there are potential defections from Nixon to Reagan in Texas, South and North Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee.

In a news conference in Denver Tuesday, Rockefeller underlined the importance of the first two ballots at the Republican National Convention.

"After the second ballot there will be a drifting toward the ultimate winner," he said. "In the history of our party, the person who has had the most votes in the beginning and then who has lost votes, has never regained that leading position."

Rockefeller's chief Southern leaders are Robert Snodgrass of Atlanta, Southern regional chairman, and Michael Neal of Florida.

Douglass said they have consistently reported "wide latent strength" for Reagan in the South. But so long as Reagan said he was not a candidate for the nomination—which he still says—they listed themselves as supporters of Nixon.

"However," Douglass said, "the minute Reagan began looking like a true, viable candidate, their situation changed."

The Rockefeller camp has not written off the South, although the governor says his principal strength is in the industrial states of the North. His aides said that he could get votes for the nomination in Georgia and Alabama.

The governor's strategists estimate the combined Reagan, Rockefeller strength on the first ballot at between 500-600 votes. They give Nixon approximately 550. The minimum to win the nomination is 667 votes.

Indian Trackers Find Missing Children in Wilds

GRAND RAPIDS, Man. (AP) — Persistent Indian trackers Tuesday night found an 8-year-old girl and her 4-year-old brother after they had been lost for six days and five nights in desolate bush country in northern Manitoba.

Although scratched and bitten by insects, little Jill and Kirby Sinclair appeared to be in good condition. They were taken to the radar station at Gypsumville, on the Winnipeg-Grand Rapids highway, for doctors to examine them.

The children were found huddled behind a log near Buffalo Lake, 12 to 15 miles from the spot where they wandered away from their parents' camp last Thursday.

Influence Of Pope's Edict Small

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

"Many are desperate to control the size of their families," said a well-placed source. "They otherwise have one baby every year, and that keeps them in poverty and it's bad for their health."

The source said that men, from the Pope down, "have always speculated on the moral and theological issues, but it's the women who bear the babies and they make the final decision."

HEW declined official comment on the Pope's encyclical released Monday forbidding Catholic women to use birth control pills or any other mechanical means of contraception.

No figures are available on the number of Catholics among women eligible for family planning services under federally supported programs, but officials say Catholics probably comprise a distinct minority.

HEW officials point out, however, that there are sizable concentrations of Catholics in low-income brackets, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, HEW's deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning, noted in an interview that predominantly Catholic Puerto Rico has pioneered in family planning programs and they have been extremely popular. But, she said, "it's too early to tell" how Catholic women will react to the Pope's statement.

The federal government provided about $38 million in birth control services last year.

President Johnson has asked for $56 million for the current fiscal year. Indications are that Congress will grant only part of the increase.

In another reaction to the Pope's pronouncement, the Roman Catholic theologians announced Tuesday in Washington that they were opposed to it and that they believe Catholic couples should use birth control techniques according to their own conscience.

"As Roman Catholic theologians, conscious of our duty and our limitations," they said, "we conclude that spouses may responsibly decide according to their conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

Houtchens Says Delegates Free From Unit Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Delbert Houtchens, Missouri Democratic chairman, said Tuesday the party will release its national convention delegates from the unit rule but that most still are expected to support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

In announcing Missouri will go along with Humphrey's wish for free delegate choice, Houtchens predicted the vice president still will get about 55 of the 60 Missouri votes at the convention in Chicago.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy protested at the state convention here June 1 when a rule was adopted requiring all delegates to vote for a single candidate if the candidate is supported by at least two-thirds of the delegation.

"We've given the McCarthy people about everything they asked for except half of the Missouri delegation, which they did not have the strength to claim," said Houtchens, who is a Humphrey backer.

The state chairman said the Missouri delegation will caucus in Chicago before the convention and learn how each delegate stands in order that the Missouri vote may be announced on the convention floor.

John Hasse of Kansas City, a spokeman for Sen. McCarthy's Missouri organization, said they will continue circulating petitions demanding an open convention despite Humphrey's release of delegations bound by the unit rule. Hasse said McCarthy backers have obtained nearly 6,000 petition signatures in two weeks.

Lifted Ban

Henry VIII, reputed to excel in throwing the hammer, was responsible for lifting the ban against track and field events in England. These had previously been outlawed by Edward III because they interfered with archery according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica

Pamphlet Deals with Fraud

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Attorney General Norman H. Anderson announced today that a pamphlet dealing with common fraudulent business practices has been completed and is ready for issuance to persons filing complaints with the consumer protection offices.

Anderson said the brochure explains those techniques frequently used in advertising, promotions, and sales which are intended to mislead the consumer public. Emphasis is placed upon "bait and switch" advertising, the bonus display pitch, the "free gift", fraudulent labelling, and selling under false pretense.

Anderson stated that another section of the pamphlet advises the potential purchaser of steps he can take to prevent being swindled and warns specifically against signing blank contracts, accepting oral guarantees, or making agreements without understanding all of the contractual terms.

The consumer protection brochure will be distributed to all persons who register complaints with the Attorney General's offices in St. Louis, Jefferson City, and Kansas City. It will also be made available to all local bar associations and business offices, with eventua distribution statewide to Missouri residents.

Study Shows Smoking Induces Lung Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking appears to multiply a person's susceptibility to a crippling lung disease associated with air pollution, a new American Cancer Society study shows.

Dr. Cuyler Hammond, a society vice president, presented preliminary results of the study of 12,86 men between the ages of 45 and 74 to a Senate public works subcommittee Tuesday.

"These findings suggest that occupational exposure to dust, fumes and gases has a greater effect (in respect to emphysema) upon cigarette smokers than upon nonsmokers," Hammond said.

"To put it another way, the combination of the two factors appears to have a far greater effect than might be expected from the effect of each of the two alone," he continued.

Emphysema is a chronic lung disease characterized by shortness of breath, fatigue and chronic coughing. The disease has been associated with both heavy cigarette smoking and air pollution.

A surprising finding in the study, Hammond said, is that "indications of emphysema were more common among rural residents than among metropolitan residents."

"There is no firm evidence that general air pollution increases the risk of cancer," he said.

Santa Comes Alive in Idaho

SANTA, Idaho (AP) — Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, nor an economy move stays them couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds to Santa.

The Santa Post Office was one of many across the nation recently scheduled for closing.

There was an immediate outcry from Idaho officials, who noted that thousands of children each year send Christmas letters to Santa. The letters are answered by volunteers among the 100 townfolk.

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested that maybe the Post Office Department had something against kids.

Tuesday, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced in Washington that the department had changed its mind.

Santa is alive and well in northern Idaho.

Protecting The Ozark Rivers

Governor's Committee Offers Bill for State to Preserve 29 Streams

From The Kansas City Star

"What do you want, a jungle?"

"Yes! We want wilderness. We want some of Missouri's rivers left like they are.

"You see, we're afraid. We're afraid for those streams and rivers. We're afraid that, the way things are going, it won't be many years before our Ozark rivers are either dammed or lined with cabins and other buildings or turned into filthy pools by industrial waste. We're afraid that one of these years we're going to wake up and be told, "You can't go outside any more."

The occasion was the House Interior Committee's hearing on H.R. 842, the Missouri Wild Rivers bill.

The bill names a river system—or a total of 20 rivers and streams—to be included in the Ozark Wild Rivers Preservation System, and in most cases, only a part of each stream would be protected.

The streams are the Eleven Point river; the Gasconade-Big Piney-Osage river system; North Fork and Bryant creek, the headwaters of Lake Norfork; the Niangua River, the St. Francis-Little St. Francis-Big creek system, which feeds Lake Wappapello; Big Sugar and Indian creeks, Elk river tributaries, Beaver creek, a Bull Shoals feeder; the Black river, Bull Creek and Swan creek, which enter Lake Taneycomo on the north shore; the James river; and the upper Meramec-Huzzah-Courtois system.

Those rivers were selected by the Wild Rivers Advisory Committee, a 10-member group appointed by the Governor to study the rivers and recommend a plan to preserve the best of the streams that still run free.

Only 5 per cent of the rivers themselves and the land within sight of the rivers up to an eight-mile on either side. It says that the land may be obtained in four ways: donation, purchase, exchange or condemnation.

Condemnation is an ugly word to many people. To them, it says, "I want this land and this is what you get for it. Get off."

That's why the bill is with 842. The Governor's committee estimates that scenic easements can be taken on 95 per cent-122,802 acres-of the total 129,002 required. Only 5 per cent-6466 acres-would be purchased.

The easements, which would be negotiated individually with each landowner, would put in black and white the uses for which the land could be landowner would be paid. He would used without taking away land ownership rights to the land.

Dr. Oscar Hawksley, professor of biology at Central Missouri State College and an-probably the-authority on Missouri streams, appeared on behalf of the bill. "We have some of the most valuable flowing streams in the United States," he said. "We are in the center of the country. Our rivers are mild, not wild people can get out on them and negotiate them."

"We will find," he predicted, "in a few years that the rivers are so popular there will be a demand for more."

Other than misunderstanding of the scope of the scenic easement, the bill had its roughest time in the finance department.

The cost of insuring a total of 761 miles of the 20 rivers and streams that would be protected was put at about: $4,500,000 in a fiscal note appended to the bill. The $4,500,000 would be spread over many years, with the easements or property being acquired when money became available.

Most of the money could come from Missouri's share of the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund. The remainder would have to be appropriated by the Legislature.

"We don't even record money now," said Ed Stegner of Jefferson City, chairman of the Governor's committee. "All that is necessary now is to establish the Wild River system. That won't cost no money.

"If we do no more than name the rivers, we will have some assurance the streams will remain free flowing."

The world's first subway system began in 1863 in London, England, using steam locomotives, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

FOOD INDUSTRY

The agribusiness picture is brighter this year. Strong consumer demands for food products and adequate supplies of most agricultural commodities should mean improved results for both processors and producers in 1968.

The general economy has surged to higher activity during the first half, as have consumer incomes. Expenditures on food, while not continuing the unusually rapid advance of the first quarter, should be up 5 per cent for the year. Low unemployment, higher wages, increased population, and desires for higher-value food products support this rise.

Coupled with strong demand, supply levels of most food commodities suggest livestock prices near or moderately above 1967 levels. Increased stocks of grain and normal yields on 1968 plantings should mean grain prices near year-ago levels.

Profits at the processor and farm levels should be improved from a year ago. Grains in both sectors will be dampened by important labor and supply costs. Net farm incomes are projected to be up 5 per cent from the $14.6 billion realized in 1967.

Adequate supplies of feed grains seem assured for 1968. Stocks this spring were 12 per cent above a year ago, and prospects are for sufficient supplies to meet both domestic and foreign requirements.

Corn stocks in April were up 17 per cent. Intended acreage, while expected to be down 8 per cent to 65 million acres, should produce 4.3 to 4.5 billion bushels, New crop developments will sharpen this forecast over the coming weeks, but fall cash prices will likely be in the $1.00 range for No. 2 corn.

Wheat supplies in April totaled 836 million bushels, 19 per cent more than a year ago. The 1968 winter crop may match last year's record. Favorable crop forecasts around the world will undoubtedly keep downward pressure on prices at around the $1.25 loan level.

Soybean production has been increasing more rapidly than demand, particularly in the South, in recent years. With stocks now up 17 per cent, acreage increase with this early-cover will hold prices in the $2.60 to $2.70 range this summer, with harvest prices at the $2.50 level.

Hog marketings this summer and fall may nearly match year-ago levels. While spring intentions indicated fewer farrowings for the spring and summer r months, volumes of marketings thys far have been above expectations. With demand strong, hog prices will probably peak in the $23 range during July-August bef declining seasonally in the and winter months. These p levels should result in favor feeding ratios for efficient producers.

The cattle industry is also a basically strong position. A reports showed only 2 per c more cattle on feed than a ye quite modest growth for in this year. Beef supplies consumers should be year-ago levels this summer fall. Rising demands, however will mean prices for choice cattle in the $26 to $29 ra (Chicago basis) during this half year, up $1 to $2 fr 1967. Adequate forage, exc feeding capacity, and higher f cattle prices will result in $1 $3 higher feeder cattle prices late 1968 compared with year.

Broiler marketings for reminder of 1968 are likely be the same or slightly lo than in the fall of 1967. With excessive red meats competition, broiler p generally average 1 to 2 ¢ higher this fall.

Broad-breasted turkeys (up 28 per cent on May 1) force a cutback in production the order of 15 per cent. may find average turkey pri up 2 to 3 cents during the fall marketing period compa with the lows of a year ago.

These adjustments in marketplace and on the basic farms will mean an improv most producers a processors in the food indust Declines in realization, wit certain segments will be mo than matched by improveme more broadly anticipated.

Jane Russell Ends 25 Years Of Marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former film glamor girl Jane Russell has divorced her ex-football star husband, Bob Waterfield, ending a 25-year marriage.

Miss Russell, 47, testified in divorce court Tuesday that her husband was cold and indifferent. He had filed a cross-complaint charging her with habitual intemperance.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $110,000 house in Newport Beach and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family house in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launced her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1943. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Waterfield became quarterback for the professional Los Angeles Rans while his wife starred in scores of pictures during the 1940s and 1950s.

During the last year of their marriage, Miss Russell testified, Waterfield was often out until 2 and 3 a.m. and rarely showed up for dinner.

TIPS ON HOME PLUMBING CARE

Can you imagine the chaos in your home if the plumbing in your bathroom suddenly stopped functioning or if you didn't have running water in the kitchen? Most of us take our plumbing for granted and don't stop to realize that the health, comfort and convenience of the entire family depend on it.

To do its best job for you, your plumbing equipment must be cared for properly. A booklet loaded with tips has been prepared with the help of qualified plumbing contractors. Besides telling you how to keep your equipment in good repair, the booklet also tells you what jobs should be left strictly to qualified contractors because of the danger of cross- connections between the potable water and waste drain lines.

The booklet is titled "Plumbing Care & Repair" and is available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Bank Burglary Attempt Fails

PUXICO-Bank burglars apparently stole a highway department dump truck at Puxico Monday night but were unsuccessful in completing a job at the Puxico State Bank.

The highway patrol reported the thieves apparently stole the 1967 Ford dump truck from the Puxico highway shed with the intention of hauling away a safe from the bank. Locks were cut at both the shed and at the rear entrance to the bank.

The truck was found abandoned Tuesday on highway 51 a mile north of Puxico and only about $1 in change was missing from petty cash drawer at the bank. Sgt. Kenneth Link said the night deposit box apparently had not been tampered with.

A burglar alarm system was disconnected, Link said, and the thieves took the alarm battery with them. The patrol and federal bureau of investigation are investigating.

THREE FACES of Holly Schmidt, 10, who has been named 1968 National Poster Child of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. Holly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schmidt, Saginaw, Mich., poses in swimsuit; makes like a glamor girl with a pet kitten; and beats out a tune on a xylophone.

TOURISM is down in France and recent strikes and uprisings are blamed. The well-known Place du Tertre, top, considered one of the gayest spots in Paris, normally would be bustling with tourists but shows a scarcity of strollers. Equally deserted are the beaches of the French Riviera, bottom, where resorts are reporting their worst season in years.

Color: A Vital Part of Life

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Home Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Since textile designer Dorothy Liebes picked up her bachelor's degree in art from San Jose (Calif.) State Teachers College she has made color a vital part of everyone's life.

Seen in her Manhattan apartment decorated in black, red, white and gold, she is a walking exponent of her favorite topic. Miss Liebes was relaxing after a day of photography and interviewing dressed in a light knit of blue, green and purple with green mesh stockings. Certainly the costume helped her hold her own in rooms with soaring ceilings which accommodated a classic mobile over a grand piano and with Oriental art mixed with sharp lines and colors of today's abstract paintings.

"Color," Miss Liebes says in her definite way, "comes first and then texture and composition."

She is happy that we are in a color culture where people can go to museums and study how the professional artists attack and control color. However, she is unhappy that more cities such as New York "have so little exterior color."

She adds that a lot of undistinguished architecture could be improved with more use of color. "Paint covers a lot of mistakes," she feels.

During her career as textile designer and color consultant the Liebes sleight-of-hand with colorations has touched all age groups through her designs in wallpaper, blankets, scarves, tablecloths, carpets, blinds, knits and other clothes. Recent Liebes-directed styles appeared in Morgan Jones bedspreads and Conso trims, for example.

DOROTHY LIEBES, TEXTILE DESIGNER and color consultant, uses color photographs to catch historic or nostalgic moments and also in her work. People afraid of color should look at nature, she says. "There is no bad color, just bad combinations of color."

To present her ideas she follows through with her adamant thought that "you can't talk color. You must see it." For this she has approximately 20,000 dye lots in her studio and travels with at least 10 suitcases of items to show prospective clients.

Another gimmick she uses stems from her interest in photography. "I started taking pictures when I was 8, and I have about 40 books of clippings and personal photographs."

She photographs a design project in color, Miss Liebes explains, and when traveling or entertaining in the apartment or in her summer home fashioned from two Denver and Rio Grande railroad cabooses she greets her guests with a clicking camera. "They all laugh and say, 'Here she comes with her camera,' but they always call for prints."

"Ours is a color culture," she continues, "and we are blessed as a nation with science to allow anyone to have beautiful color prints for decorating."

Her one regret is that some people are born with a blind spot which leads her to advise those shopping for clothes or the home that, "Good color doesn't cost any more than bad."

Washington Report

By Senator Symington

As this report is written, plans call for the Congress to recess this weekend, August 3, for the month of August and then come back to Washington after Labor Day for sessions during September.

Legislation that will probably be postponed until that time includes military appropriations, foreign aid appropriations, gun control legislation, and final action on the President's nominations for the Supreme Court.

Last week and this week have been filled with committee and Senate sessions on a variety of legislative proposals, important both to the urban areas in our State and in farm areas.

HOUSING BILL -- The omnibus housing bill is considered one of the most important measures yet passed in effort to meet the housing need. Included in the bill are provisions for a home ownership assistance program for low-income families, an insurance underwriting provision for damages resulting from civil disorders and riots, flood insurance programs, additional authorization for the model cities and urban mass transportation and Federally assisted water and sewer programs.

Also in the legislation is provision for Federally - chartered, privately funded corporations to plan and carry out the building or rehabilitation of housing for low - and moderate - income families.

AGRICULTURE ACT EXTENDED -- Most important action for people of agriculture was the vote in the Senate (58-18) to extend the 1965 act for four additional years. Following House action, conferences will be needed to work out differences.

No one believes that the type of program we now have is the perfect or final answer to the farm problem, but most farm spokesmen urged the extension of the present Food and Agriculture Act for four years so that farm owners could plan ahead.

PUBLIC WORKS VOTED Action has been completed on the Public Works Appropriations Bill for fiscal 1969, providing $46,644,000 for Missouri flood control projects.

This appropriation falls short of the Army Engineers capability on a number of projects important to the present and future development of our water resources. Our State is blessed with many important streams and two great rivers, the Missouri and Mississippi, but hundreds of millions of dollars of work has been authorized to control and develop this most valuable natural resource.

Nevertheless, because of the expected $20 billion Federal deficit this fiscal year, after the tax increase and the $6 billion cutback in Federal spending, it was not possible to get full funding on the more than 25 projects we want moved ahead. This is just one more reason why it is so important to bring an end to the Vietnam conflict.

Minister's Daughter Protests Sex Education by Parents

Dear Ann Landers: I saw myself in that letter from the 16-year-old minister's daughter who was consumed with guilt because she had let a boy kiss her. Your advice was excellent. I hope she takes it.

My brother and I were P.K.'s (Preacher's Kids). We were taught that sex was sinful and nasty. I was 17 when a boy kissed me on the way home from a church picnic. My father was riding in the car behind us. He saw this. I was punished so severely I was determined to get even. So I became pregnant by a no good bum. My parents sent me to another state and I never did return home after that.

My brother married a very quiet girl (another P.K.) at age 23. Within two years his wife had a nervous breakdown and she later sued him for divorce. The reason: He used to sneak out of the house at night and take up with street tramps. Why? Because he had such a low opinion of sex he couldn't function with a respectable partner. He needed a gutter type.

Fortunately my brother and I have had intensive therapy and are now living decent lives, but we were luckier than most. Please keep telling the teen-agers that sex is nothing to be ashamed of, that properly used it can be beautiful and a meaningful part of life. In fact you ought to write a book about it. -- ARKANSAS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I did -- three years ago. It is called "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex" and can be purchased in paperback for 50 cents. But let's get something straight, Lady, I don't buy the conflict between parent and child that you describe happens in all professions. The dedicated ministers I know raise fine children.

Dear Ann Landers: After publishing the letter signed "Pilloried," I'll bet you are the pin - up girl of every divorced man in the United States. My own soon - to - be shed spouse mailed that column to me and attached a note which read: "See, just like us."

Undoubtedly some men do get picked clean by conniving wives but a few of us deserve whatever we can get from the low - life skunks.

When Guy and I were married, his folks sold their home, bought a trailer and moved to our backyard. Guy has never made an independent decision. It was always, "I'll have to ask Dad."

For eleven years I served Guy his coffee in bed. When I was sick with the flu he went fishing because he was afraid he'd catch it if he "hung around."

I could have tolerated his disregard for me, but I couldn't stand the way he ignored his children. He said it was a woman's job to look after the kids, so he didn't even talk to them.

The day his son waited four hours for his dad to come and take him to a ball game -- and then called to say he couldn't make it -- was the day I decided to get a divorce.

We have $60,000 saved in cash and bonds. I want $500 a month plus $75 support for each child. (We have three.) He is screaming like a stuck pig.

I am asking you to break your rule and print my letter even though you are dead set against divorce. Granted, there's no such thing as a good divorce, but it beats living a lifetime with a mama's boy who is no father, no husband and no human being. ---FREEDOM IT'S BEAUTIFUL

Dear Beautiful: Here's your letter. Surprised to see it in print? I though you'd be.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Man Safe After Swim

CAIRO - Rescue workers searched more than four hours Sunday before finding a missing man who tired to swim the Ohio River.

The Alexander County rescue unit was called to assist in the search about 2 a.m., Sunday after a companion of the man summoned help.

Bob Hubbard and William Cade, both of Cairo, were in a boat in the river near Olmsted when it capsized and sank. Hubbard swam to the Illinois shore and got help. The rescue unit responded.

Bob Thomas of the rescue unit said more help was called for after Cade could not be found.

The search for Cade ended about 7:30 a.m., when the rescue boat found him on the Kentucky bank north of the Olmsted boat dock.

"He was safe and sound," Thomas said. "We went north on the chance he might have swam upstream instead of down, and there he was... sitting on the bank waiting for us."

The Prayer
from
The Upper Room

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain. (John 15:16)

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for what the church has meant throughout the ages. Yet even more is required of her in these tough days of crisis. Renew Your church to be equal to her task. As a member, make me so to live and serve that if each other member will do the same, Your church will fulfill her mission. Amen.

Mail Box

Dear Hiram:

I would like to take this opportunity to express to you my sincere thanks for the way you handled the incident involving payment by Mr. Jefferson for out-patient services. I feel that credit should go where credit is due, and certainly without your help and cooperation, this account would have been lost.

I am sure that many times you think that your job is a thankless one, and your efforts to help our city go unnoticed, but believe me this is not the case. I think that too many of us just do not take time out to express a big "thanks".

Again, may I express my appreciation to you for the manner in which you conducted yourself, and help in this particular incident.

Sincerely yours,
Pat E. Jones,
Assistant Administrator

Doors in Steam Bath Must Function Easily

THE CASE OF THE FRENZIED CAPTIVE
By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Henry went to a steam bath for his health and it nearly killed him. When it came time to leave the steaming Hades, he found to his chagrin that the door would not open.

Pounding on it in the hopes of being rescued from a fate comparable, in his mind, to that of a boiled lobster, he inadvertently pushed his hand through a glass window in the door and cut it badly. In due course, he sued the proprietor of the steam bath for his injury.

"The door had a faulty latch," he complained in court, "and the steam bath should not have been used until it was fixed."

"While I knew the lock was somewhat defective," answered the proprietor, "that wasn't the cause of Henry's injury. It was due to his own frenzy. Actually, the only thing he had to fear was fear itself. Since it was his own panic that caused him to cut his hand, I can't be held responsible!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you relieve the proprietor of the steam room of responsibility for Henry's injury?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that a steam room can be a device for inflicting grave injuries, including scaulding, burning, asphyxiation and even death. Thus, the proprietor of the steam room had a duty to repair the lock on the steamroom door so as to insure its being able to open and close easily. Having placed Henry in a dangerous situation, concluded the judge, the proprietor could not escape responsibility for Henry's injury because Henry, in fright, frenzy or panic added to his danger by an act which, in later serene moments of contemplation, might seem to have been unwise.

Yard of Month Winners Named

NEW MADRID-Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman of the Missouri Community Betterment city beautification project, announced the following yard-of-the-month selections for August.

In ward one, the yard of R. E. Pearson, 311 Locust, was named yard-of-the-month. The yards of Mrs. Pearl Arnold, 629 Mott, and L.L. Schuette, 1002 Mill, received honorable mention.

The yard of L. H. Recker, 1215 Davis, was named outstanding in ward two. Honorable mention awards went to Paul Foster, 1330 Scott, and Mrs. Thelma Funk, 741 Scott.

Mrs. Lena McKee, 170 St. Matthews, received the top award in ward three for yard beautification. The yards of Albert Ransburgh, 902 Main, and John Alfred Hunter, 725 Pinnell, were given honorable mention awards.

Miniature Car Won By Benton Farm Boy

Danny Kern, 12, route one, Benton, was one of five district winners of a Mini-Lizzie car, in a teenage drawing contest sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Malden.

The small cars are gasoline powered from the rear and have all the features of an oldtimer roadster in miniature.

The Sikeston area winner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Kern.

Other area winners were Tommy Stuart, Malden; Cindy Culbertson, Poplar Bluff; Donald Luther, Kennett; and Glen Rotan, Willow Springs.

Senate Approves Change in Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an amendment to its foreign aid bill which sponsors say could help gain the release of the USS Pueblo's crew, but which critics term "a cruel hoax ... silly and meaningless."

The amendment was added by a 43-29 vote to the pending $1.94-billion bill Tuesday.

It would withdraw, until North Korea releases the 82 crewmen seized last January, presidential authority to make exceptions to an existing law barring U.S. aid to Communist nations.

The President can authorize such aid if he thinks it vital to U.S. security, if the recipient nation is not controlled "by an international Communist conspiracy" and if the aid would spur the receiver toward independence from the Communist bloc.

The aid authorization has been cut more than $1 billion below President Johnson's requests.

Proposals to restore some of the funds for aid to underdeveloped countries were given little chance of success in today's session in the face of the current economy drive in Congress.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., sponsored the Pueblo amendment. He said the State Department had done nothing thus far to obtain release of the crewmen "except ask for their return."

"It is time we exercised some pressure," he said, predicting his approach would pressure Communist countries dealing with North Korea to seek release of the crewmen.

But acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Foreign Relations Committee, argued the amendment was a "cruel hoax" that would end in nothing but false hopes for the families of the prisoners.

Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said the Dominick proposal was "silly and meaningless."

Special Election Protest Denied --

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - Without comment, the Missouri Supreme Court Monday refused to look into a special election in the 8th Senatorial District of Jackson County set for August 6 by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The election, which coincides with the state primary, was challenged by Kansas Citians Richard L. Berkley and Robert L. Simpson.

The election was called by Hearnes on June 24 to fill a vacancy that resulted from the death of Sen. John P. Ryan, D-Kansas City. Distirc Democrats ahve chosen State Rep. Donald L. Manford, and the Republican nominee for the special election is Bob Frank of Raytown.

Berkley and Simpson argue that Jackson County Democrats normally turn out a much heavier primary election vote than the Republicans.

The Maltese cross has eight sharp points.

★ Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital)

★ Pays you cash benefits that increase each year...to a maximum of $130.00 -A-WEEK...at no extra cost to you!

★ No age limit—no medical examination required

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., AUG. 3, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you – or some beloved member of your family tomorrow . . . next week . . . next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do with your pay check stopped, but liying expenses still going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that . . . Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00 – or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year – at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments . . . at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and – best of all . . .

. . . The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost. You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan(#HP 18L-1067) . . .

PAYS Up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH — if you need a full time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital — up to 50 weeks.

PAYS $1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.

PAYS Up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.

PAYS Up to $5,000.00 when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.

PAYS you cash benefits that increase each year . . . to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK . . . at no extra cost to you

NO age limit – no medical examination required

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare – or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week . . . EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that – after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week – for as long as you need the nurse – even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential...

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days – as long as necessary – you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home . . . you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan . . . and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able

As a special consideration to you – if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL – TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time – direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone – and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensible x-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown in the enrollment form — just a few days from today

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy – only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive the Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then – show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still – show it to your own insurance man . . . even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below . . . even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III—FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us – or because of advanced age – but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
The full amount! You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.)

2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
You certainly will . . . regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day . . . or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.

3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢ — that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.

4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
$100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits . . . at no extra cost to you!

5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.

6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes . . . when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.

7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.

9. How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish — for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.

10. May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.

11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.

12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.

13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (excluding Waiver of Premium).

14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?
Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.

15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.

17. What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.

18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.

19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.

20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?
Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application — just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility — and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.

22. How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!

23. How do I join?
Fill out your brief enrollment form and mail it, with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

MRS. BILL ADKISON, 309 Wilbur St., East Prairie, works on a potrait of a friend of her daughter.

Mrs. Bill Adkison, East Prairie, Paints, Plays Organ

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 97th in a series of articles about the home life of Sikeston area families.—

By RUTH DILLENDER

EAST PRAIRIE--Mrs. Dickey Adkison, 309 Wilbur St., is a talented artist. She works with oils and pastels. Mrs. Adkison is completing a portrait of a friend of her daughter. She is copying the girl's face from a colored photograph.

Mrs. Adkison's husband, Bill, is an agent for the Mississippi County Gas and Oil Company and farms. Mrs. Adkison works at the company half a day.

The Adkisons have lived in East Prairie all their lives.

Their daughter, Marla, 19, is attending the summer session at Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif. She is living with a friend and family in Escondido. She attended Central Methodist College in Fayette. She will be a sophomore at Murray State University in Murray, Ky., this fall.

Miss Adkison plans to major in art and go into the commercial art field.

Mrs. Adkison says she plays the organ for her own enjoyment. She raises roses and freezes and cans fruits and vegetables raised on their farm.

The family attends Nelson Memorial Methodist church.

Mrs. Adkison says she has no set routine.

Prized possessions in the Adkison home are a round wooden table made before the Civil War, a 1919 watch box and razor strop that belonged to her great-grandfather, and a pitcher from the World's Fair held in 1904 in St. Louis.

Miss Adkison has a clock that belonged to her great-great-grandfather.

Recipes Mrs. Adkison suggests are:

BAKED LASAGNA

1 pound Italian sausage, bulk pork sausage or ground beef
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon parsley falkes
1 tablespoon basil
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1 pound can tomatoes
2 6 ounce cans tomato paste
1 10 ounce package wide or lasagna noodles
2 12 ounce carton large curd cream style cottage cheese
2 beaten eggs
2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoon parsley flakes
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
1 pound mozzarella or American cheese, sliced thin

Brown meat slowly; spoon off excess fat. Add next six ingredients to meat. Simmer, uncovered till thick 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Cook noodles in boiling salt water till tender, drain, rinse in cold water.

Meanwhile combine cottage cheese with the next five ingredients.

Place half the noodles in 13 by 9 by 2 inch baking dish; spread half of the cottage cheese mixture over; add half of the mozzarella cheese and half the meat mixture over that. Repeat layers. Bake in moderate oven 375 for 30 minutes. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes beofre cutting in squares filling will set slightly. Makes 12 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE DELIGHT

1 small box cottage cheese
1/3 cup cucumber, diced fine
1 tablespoon onion grated
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3 tablespoon Mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon worchester sauce
1/2 teaspoon black pepper, peppercorns ground
1/2 teaspoon salt

Chill and serve as salad, or slice fresh tomatoes and use as stuffing.

This also can be used as a dip by adding 1 can of crab meat and five drops of tobacco sauce.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

2 cups crushed pineapple
Juice of one lemon
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup grated american cheese
1/2 pint whipping cream, whipped

DRESSING

1 cup Hallmans mayonnaise
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon celery, chopped
1 teaspoon onion
1 teaspoon green pepper chopped

Meat crushed pineapple, add juice of lemon and sugar. Soak: gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water 10 minutes. Add gelatin to pineapple, mix and cool. Add 1 cup grated cheese and 1/2 pint whipping cream. Stir and mold.

Mix ingredients for dressing and fold on top of salad. Let set overnight before serving.

Mrs. Adkison suggests molding this salad in a round mold and serving the dressing in the center.

John C. Fremont was the first presidential candidate for the Republican party: he was defeated.

Construction and Right of Way Program Totals $1 Billion

The five year right of way and construction program of the Missouri State Highway Commission, beginning July 1, 1968, totals slightly less than one billion dollars, according to a statement issued today by Chief Engineer M. J. Snider.

The program covers all categories of state highways and is distributed to all areas of the state.

The Interstate, Primary, and Supplementary systems account for approximately $838,420,000 of the total.

The Urban program amounts to $157,514,000 with $48,941,000 of the total in the Kansas City Urban Area and $72,955,000 confined to the St. Louis Urban Area. The balance of the urban program totaling $35,618,000 is planned for other urban areas throughout the state. An urban area is one with 5,000 or more population.

The Hill Cumorah Pageant

More than 450 persons will participate in the 31st annual religious pageant at Palmyra, N.Y. The outdoor spectacle depicts the rise and fall of an ancient American civilization according to the Book of Mormon. It will be presented July 29-Aug. 3 on the broad slope of Hill Cumorah.

time-established principles of right reason and scientific research."

A spokesman for Archbishop Terenece J. Cooke of New York said the papal decree was "an authoritative teaching on the part of the Pope that does require assent by Catholics."

"Rome has spoken," said Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, "and for the time being the case is closed."

In Washington a group claiming to speak for 142 of the 1,223 clergymen in the archdiocese went on record against the anticipated ban last Saturday, saying in a letter to Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle:

"Many of your priests cannot in conscience follow this directive because it gives no room for either probable opinion regarding the practice of contraception or the right of conscience so clearly enunciated in the documents of Vatican II."

Mary Louise Birmingham, a Catholic housewife and editor of Hackensack, N.J., said: "The papacy is an outmoded institution, something like the English monarchy. Catholics are paying less and less attention to it."

"I don't care what the Pope says," said Maryann Napolie, a young Manhattan housewife and mother of two. "I have the feeling the clergy are talking to themselves on this issue. I've made my decision, and couldn't care less about people at the Vatican who are designing another Galileo case."

Jewish and Protestant leaders and officials of population control organizations were generally critical of the Pope's stand as were some medical authorities.

Evangelist Billy Graham, arriving in New York from Paris, said: "In general I would disagree with it. Anyone who travels has seen we need some form of birth control."

Graham added: "Within the framework of marriage, there is no such sin as sex."

Outside the United States, there was also a good deal of negative reaction.

Anglican bishops attending the Lambeth Conference in London expressed fears that the encyclical would harm closer relations between Anglicans and Roman Catholics.

Belgians heard a Jesuit priest, Father Delepierre, declare over their national radio: "The Pope's encyclical is not the language that people expected. It appeals to a very high ideal but is too remote from the daily life of Catholics."

Reactions Sharply Divided On Birth Control Ruling

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some Roman Catholics have reacted with dissent or indifference to Pope Paul VI's encyclical against birth control while others hailed the papal statement as refreshing and a reaffirmation of Christian truth.

The Pope, in a long-awaited pronouncement Monday, upheld the prohibition on all artificial means of contraception and appealed to leaders of civil governments everywhere to outlaw contraception, sterilization and abortion as means of limiting population.

Most liberal Catholics who spoke out after the announcement took the view that those among the world's half billion Catholics who already use modern birth control methods would continue to do so based on the belief that sexual morality is a matter of conscience.

Gerald L. Fitzgerald, a Catholic layman and official of the Christian Family Movement, said in New York: "I suspect that Pope Paul and a lot of church authorities are going to be surprised by the lack of concern caused by the encyclical.

"If Pope Paul had come out with it four or three or even two years ago, it might have made a difference," he said. "But by now I think that most couples who have been struggling with the problem have made up their minds and settled their consciences."

Commonweal, a liberal weekly journal edited by Catholics, said in an editorial for publication this week: "For millions of lay people, the birth control question has been confronted, prayed over and settled—and not in the direction of the Pope's encyclical."

On another note, Triumph magazine, which voices a Conservative viewpoint, declared the papal statement was "a courageous reaffirmation of Christian truth" that "invites the world to return to moral sanity."

Most Catholic prelates and priests preferred not to comment until they had seen the official text of the Pope's encyclical. Some, however, did voice their views.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, a conservative, found the Pope's statement "refreshing" and "in conformity with

BILL BOON examines construction of strip-plow at Portageville. Top shares move all trash into the middles.

DR. LEO DUCLOS stands in a plot worked by strip-plow at the Delta Center in Portageville. Wheat stubble was knee high before working rows are free of trash beneath and above the plowed strip.

Tillage Tool Tried

PORTAGEVILLEA new minimum tillage tool was tried out at the Delta Center reports E. B. Nace, area farm management agent. The strip-till plow and planter was developed by J. S. McKibben, agriucltural engineer at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

The plow-planter unit is designed to work under trashy conditions in shredded corn stalks or wheat stubble with no preparation. The unit works a strip 14 inches wide and 8 to 10 inches deep, leaving the tilled strip free of trash underneath and on the surface. All the trash is swept to the middles leaving the planted row practically level with the rest of the field.

It is amazing to watch this machine invert a strip of soil and sweep it trash free and plant it in one oepration. One of its big advantages is that it does not work any trash into the tilled strip to keep it fluffy so that moisture is lost. Seed are planted in a firmed seedbed for moisture conservation and quick germination. Moisture for germination is the key to a stand of beans after wheat and this method of tillage can conserve this moisture.

After crops are planted the midddles can be cultivated with a set of half-plows of the same design or with conventional cultivators.

Most of the research with this strip-plow has been done in old corn stalks or small grain stubble planted to corn. We can see real promise here for its use on soybean land with our regular crop and on wheat land planted to beans.

No burning of straw is necessary. The unit can begin to plow and plant right behind the combine. It works well where a straw spreader is used on a combine, thus eliminating the straw chopper which requires a lot of horsepower.

In comparing the time and fuel required to plant an acre the strip-plow is way out in front of breaking and wheel track planting. Wheel track planting required 115 minutes per acre to break, plant and cultivate one acre and used 3.28 gallons of fuel. The strip-plow required 72 minutes to prepare, plant and cultivate one acre and used 1.86 gallons of fuel.

Professor McKibben says most of the old crop residue seems to disappear from the middles after the first cultivation. Apparently a little mixing of the trash and soil at the surface causes rapid decomposition and this trash has not been a problem.

The machine is ready for commercial production. Manufacturers can get the details of design from Professor McKibben.

The Outlook for Business

For the last six months of 1968

CREDIT OF INTEREST RATES
HOMER J. LIVINGSTON
Chairman of the Board of The First National Bank of Chicago

The past six months have witnessed a sharp pickup in consumer spending. In the first quarter, consumer expenditures surged upward at an annual rate of nearly $17 billion, which was more than double the average quarterly incrdase of the past two years. Preliminary figures indicate that consumer spending continued strong in the second quarter.

Government expenditures also rose more sharply than budgeted last January, reflecting in part a $2.5 billion supplemental defense appropriation.

The U. S. dollar came under speculative pressure early in 1968 as a wave of uncertainty about the durability of the price of gold at $35 an ounce swept the foreign exchange markets of the world.

As a result of these developments, it became increasingly clear that:

(1) the deficit in the federal budget was widening; the proliminary estimate of the deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30 is $25 billion;

(2) inflationary pressures were intensifying; the cost of living rose at an annual rate of over 4¼ per cent in recent months;

(3) a policy of fiscal and monetary restraint was essential if inflation was to be checked and foreign confidence in the dollar retained.

The Federal Reserve authorities did firm monetary policy, raising reserve requirements and increasing the discount rate twice, in an effort to defend the dollar and curb inflationary pressures. With Congressional delay in approving an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures, the monetary authorities slowly but persistently tightened the rein on credit. Reflecting these developments, the reserve position of the nation's banks also tightened, and interest rates moved sharply higher, many touching record levels in recent weeks.

These trends are likely to persist at least for a time in the last half of 1968, even with the tax increase. The need for fiscal restraint - an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures - is of critical importance. The fact that it was delayed is unfortunate, for it permitted inflationary pressures to develop which will take a considerable period to disipate. It also has necessitated a degree of monetary restraint that otherwise might not have been required. The impact of a restrictive monetary policy is uneven, with particularly adverse effects in such areas as home building and municipal financing. A more balanced program with both fiscal and monetary restraint would have been preferable.

With the approval now of the tax-spending legislation, economic activity and the rise in business are likely to begin to moderate by the end of the year. With a less expansive fiscal policy and with the continuance at least for a time of the present restrictive monetary policy, the rate of economic growth will lessen. In these circumstances, the upward pressure on prices and in the financial markets will not be as great.

Federal Reserve policy will necessarily be closely related to the trends in economic activity in the last half of the year. There is at present little evidence that it would be desirable in the next month or so to have a significantly less restrictive monetary policy. While interest rates will probably remain firm in the months immediately ahead, especially with a continued heavy demand for funds, it is my judgment that with the tax increase and a reduction in spending, rates will begin to level out and perhaps edge moderately lower by the end of the year.

INSURANCE

A Form of Life Insurance

A FORM OF LIFE INSURANCE

A late issue of "International Agricultural Development," published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, contains some hard facts about food production and pest control that tell, in some measure at least, why a large part of the peoples of the earth suffer from mal- nutrition. It notes that crop losses in developing nations of 25, 50 or even 80 per cent are not uncommon. These losses are caused mainly by weeds and pests. Underdeveloped countries, where little progress has been made in pesticide application, suffer the heaviest losses.

In the words of the Department of Agriculture publication: "The direct food loss to insects and other pests is large; minimum estimates of world losses range from 20 to 30 per cent of the total food produced." It then describes the need for expanded production of chemical aids to weed and pest control. It says, all types will be needed--insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, nematocides, and rodenticides. And it goes on to poin out that ".....agencies responsible for the safety of our food supply...agree that pesticides, used wisely, are safe."

The U.S. pesticide industry is a world leader in producing crop-saving chemicals and is also a leader in educating everyone to their proper use. Pesticides have become a form of worldwide life insurance for future food supplies. This should be recognized by adaption of international agreements concerning such matters as residue tolerances which will permit the export of U.S. knowledge and chemical products to lands where they are most needed.

As the Agriculture Department publication makes obvious the research and enterprise of our pesticide industry have put at man's disposal the means to greatly increase world food supplies. In the name of humanity, these blessings should be utilized to the fullest.

Postal Exemption Bill Clears Hurdles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt postal workers from a government personnel cutback has cleared two more congressional hurdles en route to probable passage.

The measure zipped through a conference committee and the full Senate Tuesday and was sent to the House today for final action.

There was no debate as the Senate stamped approval on the measure which some members have called "blackmail."

Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson has told Congress that if it does not exempt his 726,400 employes before adjourning for the political conventions, the first in a series of service curtailments will begin Saturday.

These include cutting Saturday window service to a maximum of two hours, putting street box collections on Sunday schedules and closing the first of several hundred fourth class branches.

Under President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax bill, which includes a $6-billion cut in federal spending, all government agencies must cut back to the June 1966 manpower level by filling only three in every four vacancies.

This would have trimmed the postal staff by more than 83,000 workers at a time when Watson says the Post Office workload is increasing.

The Senate already has approved exemptions for the FBI and for for assistant U.S. attorneys.

On August 6, the people of Missouri can choose a U.S. Senator destined for greatness.

We need Tom Eagleton's vigor, his intelligence, his keen sense of justice. Most of all, we need his fresh solutions to today's problems

A seat in the United States Senate can't be bought. It has to be earned.

As our Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General and as Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, Tom Eagleton has earned the respect and confidence of the people of Missouri—and national recognition as one of America's outstanding young leaders.

With your help, Tom Eagleton offers a brilliant future of service—not just to the special-interest few, but to all Missourians.

As our United States Senator, Tom Eagleton will continue to make Missouri proud.

"...we favor his nomination..."

"Mr. Eagleton at 38 is in his prime. He was an exceptionally able Circuit Attorney, an exceptionally able Attorney General, an exceptionally able Lieutenant Governor. Having thus gone through a rigorous period of political training, he is ripe for higher office, and Missouri would be the loser if his talents were not made use of."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, June 11, 1968

Vote for Tom Eagleton, Democrat— a Senator for all Missourians.

Lightest Mexico

by John Abney

Mexico City -- From time to time we get letters asking "please send me your questions on Mexico." There is no such publication. It is a matter of you write me your questions and I will try to answer them in this column. Also, a number of readers keep sending envelopes with U. S. stamps. While this is thoughtful and appreciated on their parts, it is useless. Mexico has its own postal system and its own stamps. U. S. stamps are no good down here. Just a couple of thoughts.

And now we have some letters from Tacoma, Washington, readers and one of them wants to know about suggestions for riding a train down here this winter.

About the best suggestion is to grab it like you would take a train up home and ride. However, since rail travel in Mexico is so inexpensive I would suggest you get a compartment and just ride to your heart's content. A compartment costs very little more than a pullman berth and gives you privacy and greater comfort. It is air conditioned in the summer and will be heated in the winter. You won't have any problems. Just come on down and have some fun. I have been traveling a lot by train lately and have enjoyed every trip I've made. The trains here run slower than ours do up home but it gives you a chance to study the real estate.

WOULD IT BE SAFE FOR ME TO RIDE BUS FOR THE BORDER TO MEXICO CITY AND BACK?

Yes ma'am, it would. There is nothing in the world that will bother you on the buses down here unless it is wanting to get up and walk around. You'll ride a pullman bus and will find it offers no hazards.

WHERE DO YOU FIND GOOD GUIDES FOR MOST INTERESTING PLACES?

Check with the hotel where you stay or with a travel agency. All the first class hotels have bonded guides and the travel agencies can put you in touch with one to take you wherever you want to go.

IF YOU DO NOT HAVE BIRTH CERTIFICATE TO CROSS BORDER WILL VOTING REGISTRATION CARD DO?

It should but you might make an effort to get a birth certificate. The purpose of this is to have documentary evidence of your U. S. citizenship. Generally, the Mexican immigration officials are easy going about such matters but a birth certificate will remove all questions.

WHAT SHOTS DO WE NEED BEFORE ENTERING MEXICO?

You need a smallpox vaccination. You might be able to enter Mexico without one but you could not get back in the U. S. without it. Just go to the U. S. Health Department office at the point you leave the county and ask for the vaccination. Typhoid shots wouldn't hurt although they are not required on either side of the border.

CAN AMERICAN CITIZENS OWN LAND IN MEXICO?

(Questions on Mexico? Write John Abney, San Francisco 1730, Mexico City 12, Mexico.)

WORKER SPEAKS OUT AGAINST COMPULSORY UNIONISM AT DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM COMMITEEE MEETING

John Willson, a worker from Neosho, Missouri, cited compulsory unionism as the reason for the recent loss of his job.

In a prepared statement to the Party Platform Delegates to the Democratic National Convention at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis, Willson said, "Compulsory unionism is the vehicle by which union officials and management took my job away. If Missouri had a Right To Work Law, I would not have been fired."

Willson, Vice President of the Missourians For Right To Work, and a Director of the National Right To Work Committee, was a turret lathe operator for Rocketdyne, Division of North American Rockwell Corporation, the Neosho for 7 years before the plant closed.

Continental Aviation and Engineering Corporation, owned by Ryan Aeronautical Corporation of San Diego, reopened the plant in February, and hired Willson in April. Without a certification election a union contract was entered into by Continental and the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, Local 1070 (UAW).

The contract contains compulsory union shop clauses, which require all employees to join within 30 days of employment, or else lose their jobs. Willson said, "I was officially notified in June that the company and the UAW had signed a contract April 29, 1968, retroactive to April 15, which contained a compulsory union shop clause, and that I had to join the union and pay dues, or be fired."

"To this date, there has been no representation election to show that the UAW properly represents the Continental Employees. To this date, the contract has not been voted on and ratified."

Willson refused to join the union, and was fired on June 28. He has a case pending before the National Labor Relations Board, against both the company and the union.

Gene Mittelberg, Executive Secretary of Missourians For Right To Work, also submitted a statement to the Platform Committee urging consideration of the plank calling for retention of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Section 14 (b) reaffirms the power of States to pass Right To Work Laws outlawing compulsory unionism.

Mr. Mittelberg said, "It is ironic that in this era of particular concern over the civil rights of individuals that it is necessary to plead for the right of an individual to work at his chosen profession, regardless of color, creed, religion or affiliation."

Mittelberg also urged the committee to consider a plank endorsing the "Federal Employees Right To Work Bill which would write President John F. Kennedy's Executive Order # 10988 of 1962 into federal law protecting the right of federal employees to join and assist labor organizations, and the right to refrain from all such activities."

I guess one is never really satisfied in one? Wonder who the wise man was who said "the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence," -- boy, he sure said a mouthful!!

I could hardly wait until school was out and the boys would be home for summer vacation, and I would be free from that constant feeling of having to get somebody somewhere or two somebodies somewhereas all at the same time and while I was suppose to be doing something for somebody else simultaneously.

Well, summer is three fourths gone, and I think the pace has quickened instead of slowed -- brother, am I ever ready for school to start!!

If it's not get them to the pool, it's bring them back, or out for Little League, or back for piano lessons, or off for a few days vacation that takes you a few weeks to get ready for, and that is really the laugh of the century. I just read an article on how many divorces are granted each year as the result of family vacations, and I do, I mean I really do believe it.

We just returned from Rolla, where we took the kids for four days to a Missouri Press golf tournament, and the only reason I didn't stop off at Farmington, on the way back, was that all the beds were already taken!

Vacationing with your family is a true fallicy, particularly when you have to go to and fro your destination in a car, and particularly when you're traveling with two champion "urpers" such as we have. Charles and I must have both had weak stomached genes to pass on to our children, cause only a double dose of heredity could have made them this prone to be so icky. I won't put the full blame of this bad trait of theirs on the Blantons either, (however, I'm quite sure all their other bad habits came from that side as me and mine are just perfect) cause it was just too potent a dose to be entirely one - sided.

Mail Box

To The Editor:

This letter is written in the hope that it will be read by all my neighbors around the country who are afraid of any effective gun - control law and think it would be the government's first step toward taking guns away from everybody. This fear is absolutely unfounded, as anyone who will examine the facts for himself can see. But unfortunately, a powerful gun lobby, led by the National Rifle Association, has so frightened a great many decent, reasonable people that they really do believe it.

A staff member of the Senate Special Subcommittee that has been investigating the need for gun controls said this not long ago about the people who are so afraid of laws to regulate firearms: "These sportsmen are mostly ordinary, decent fellows. They have no idea that they have been intentionally misled for someone else's personal gain, and that they are indirectly responsible for thousands and thousands of unnecessary deaths and injuries every year. If we could only get the truth across to them, they'd back us all the way."

The fact is that in spite of all the propaganda by the gun lobby the great majority of American citizens do want gun - control legislation. The Gallup Polls have shown for the past thirty years that more than 84 percent of the American people favor effective gun controls. In January 1967 a Gallup Poll showed that 73 percent of all Americans would support a law requiring registration of all rifles and shotguns, and 85 percent favored a law requiring registration of all handguns. Even a majority of the nation's gun owners favor gun - control laws. A Harris Survey has shown that 66 percent of the 27 million white Americans who own guns are in favor of a law requiring all persons to register all gun purchases, and a Gallup Poll last year showed that 60 percent of the nation's gun owners would vote in favor of a law requiring a police permit for the purchase of any gun.

The overwhelming majority of law enforcement officials in our country have been on record for years in favor of gun - control laws. For more than thirty years the International Association of Chiefs of Police has favored a law requiring Federal registration of all firearms. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has long been in favor of gun controls and has stated: "Those who claim that the availability of firearms is not a factor in murder in this country are not facing reality .... a review of the motives for murder suggests that a readily accessible gun enables the perpetrators to kill on impulse." The American Bar Association supports strong gun controls. So does at least two thirds of the press, including such a highly respected farm publication as the 127-year-old Prairie Farmer, whose editor made a survey covering the states of Indiana and Illinois and concluded: "I doubt very much that the gun lobby speaks for the American people. It certainly doesn't speak for the urban citizen like myself. And we offer you proof from personal interview polls that it does not speak for midwestern farmers."

What is the truth about the need for gun controls? Here are some facts I hope readers will examine carefully.

In the United States there were 6552 murders with firearms in 1966 and 7700 in 1967; there were 43,500 aggravated assaults with firearms in 1966 and 55,000 in 1967; there were 60,000 robberies with firearms in 1966 and over 71,000 in 1967. This adds up to more than 110,000 gun crimes of all kinds, from armed robbery to murder, in the United States in 1966 and more than 133,000 in 1967. (I won't even talk about the 10,407 suicides and 2,557 accidental deaths by firearms in 1966.)

OPEN FOR BUSINESS, the Air Force C-5 Galaxy nose raises to expose cargo compartment of the world's largest plane. Hydraulic power moves nose up or down, getting it away from ground vehicles. (Lockheed-Georgia)

How does this compare with countries that require gun licensing and registration? In Great Britain, which has one fourth as many people as the United States, instead of 6,552 gun murders in 1966 there were 30 -- about the same number that are shot to death in the United States every 36 hours. In France, a nation of enthusiastic hunters with a population one fourth our size and 2 million hunting rifles and shotguns registered in 1967, there are about 500 deaths by shooting each year, or 1 per 100,000 population-- less than a third of the rate in America. In Paris and its suburbs, with 5 million people (a little more than the population of Indiana), the number of homicides and attempted homicides with firearms has been going since 1962. That year it was 145; in 1966 it was only 76. In Japan, with 98 million people, almost half as many as the United States, there were only 2111 murders of all kinds in 1967 and only 37 of these involved firearms. In Holland, which has just about three times the population of Indiana, the total number of gun murders for the entire year of 1967 was 15, and for a period of three years in the early 1960's there was not a single gun murder in all of Holland.

But perhaps somebody may argue that the lower rate of gun murders in all those countries is not really due to their gun - control laws but just to the fact that in those countries conditions are somehow "different." All right, let's look closer home. Canada is so close and similar to the United States that the Canadians sometimes wonder whether they aren't little more than the fifty-first state. They are a nation of outdoorsmen and hunters, and they have even more great open spaces than we have. But they also have registration of all firearms. With a population about equal to that of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Kentucky, Canada had a total of 281 murders of all kinds in the whole year 1967. Of these, only 140 were committed by firearms, or an average of .8 per 100,000.

Your chances of getting deliberately shot to death are nearly 5 times greater in the United States than in Canada, 27 times greater than in Holland, 29 times greater than in West Germany, 60 times greater than in England, and 89 times greater than in Japan. Why? Are the people in all those countries more moral than we are? More peaceful? More law- abiding? I refuse to believe it. I am convinced that the difference between us and all the rest of the civilized world is very simple: we still stubbornly insist on being anarchists when it comes to the control of firearms, and the rest of the civilized world has learned better.

The firearm anarchists like to claim that the gun control laws already passed by some states and cities do not really make any difference. But the facts do not support them. The first column of figures in the table below shows the percentage of murders that were committed with firearms during the period from 1962 to 1965 in each of the states named. The second column of figures shows the overall murder rate per 100,000 population.

1. States with gun controls: Firearms murders-Murder rate per 100,000 pop.

	1962-65	Rate
Rhode Island	24%	1.4
Massachusetts	35%	2.4
New York	32%	4.8
New Jersey	39%	3.5
Pennsylvania	43%	3.2

2. States with minimal or no gun controls:

	1962-65	Rate
Louisiana	62%	9.9
Arizona	66%	6.1
Nevada	67%	10.6
Texas	69%	9.1
Mississippi	71%	9.7

Again let me ask you: are the people in Mississippi twice as murderous by nature as the people in New York? Are the people in Nevada three times as murderous as the people in New Jersey? Or is it the gun-control laws that make your chances less of getting murdered in New York and New Jersey than in Mississippi and Nevada?

Firearms are involved in only 25 percent of the murders committed in New York City, which is under the Sullivan Law, while in Dallas, Texas, and Phoenix, Arizona, which have virtually no laws controlling firearms, the rate is 72 percent and 65.9 percent respectively. Moreover, despite what those of us who were born in the country or in small towns may like to think about the wickedness of New York City, it has the fifth lowest assault rate of the nation's ten largest cities, the third lowest murder rate, and the lowest robbery rate of them all. If the rest of the United States were likewise under the Sullivan Law, so that New York residents could not get around their own state's gun- control law by buying firearms out-of-state, the crime rate in New York City would very likely be even lower.

We hear a great deal nowadays about crime in the cities. My wife and I have just returned home after living for four months in Washington within three blocks of the Senate Office Buildings, and we know at first hand how bad conditions are in the capital city of our nation. But we also know that Washington cannot cope with its crime problem by itself. Persons with criminal records are prevented by law from buying handguns in the District of Columbia. But no District of Columbia law can keep a criminal from going out into the suburbs and buying a gun where the D.C. laws do not operate. One major gun dealer just across the Maryland line was recently found to be selling 60 percent of his firearms to Washington residents, and 40 percent of these Washington purchasers had criminal records.

Neighbors, if you are among those who have been pressuring our Congressmen to vote against gun controls, then you bear part of the responsibility for perpetuating the crime in our nation's capital. Washington and the other cities cannot control their crime with local laws as long as the small towns and the countryside insist on firearms anarchism.

Why is it that our country lags behind every other civilized nation in laws to regulate traffic in firearms? The answer is to be found in the hysteria created among a minority of otherwise reasonable, decent Americans by the most powerful lobby in the United States, the gun lobby. Here is the way this hysteria was described in a major Senate speech last May by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, who in addition to leading the campaign for adequate gun controls is also one of the strongest anti - Communists in Congress:

"Some of the more reckless critics of the gun bill have charged that it is all a part of a Communist plot to disarm the American people so that the Communists can take over and impose their dictatorship. Registration, they say, leads to confiscation, and confiscation, in turn, makes a Communist takeover easier. Not only is there not a word about 'confiscation' in the legislation, but to anyone who knows anything about the history of Communist takeovers, this argument is the worst kind of nonsense. Virtually every mountaineer in Albania had an unregistered gun before the Communists took over in their country. But that did not prevent the Communists from taking over. On the other hand, the Swiss are a nation of sportsmen and gun lovers who for decades now have practiced the strictest kind of registration. But registration has not led to confiscation -- and Switzerland remains one of the most stanch lyanti-Communist countries in Europe ... If the gun lobby were to carry this argument to its logical conclusion, the first measure they would have to take would be to destroy the entire membershp list of the National Rifle Association and the subscription lists of the dozen or more gun magazines. For if a Communist regime were ever to take power in this country, it could, by impounding these various lists, instantly be able to compile a nationwide master list of the names and addresses of gun owners."

Senator Dodd went on to say, "There is a tendency to forget that the gun lobby is only a relatively small group, and that it depends on terror for its success. It moves its membership to write letters to legislators, newspapers, and Congressmen by telling them falsely the law threatens to take away their firearms. Nothing could be further from the truth ... This small group, motivated and financed by the self - interest of the gun- runners, is the one who has succeeded in opposing laws that most of America wants, to disarm the criminal and those similarly unqualified to go about armed to the teeth."

It is time to stop being terrorized by the gun lobby. Neighbors, if you love our country and are concerned over its welfare, I suggest that you write to your Congressmen and urge them to defy the gun lobby and vote for effective gun controls.

(The facts presented in this letter have been gathered from the following sources: (1) "Strict Gun Control Practiced Abroad," The New York Times, June 13, 1968; (2) President Johnson's message to Congress on June 24 proposing tighter gun controls (The New York Times, June 25, 1968); (3) "Gun Curbs Are Stricter in Many Nations Than in U.S." The Washington Post, June 23, 1968; "Annals of Legislation: If You Love Your Guns," The New Yorker, April 20, 1968, pages 56-155; and (4) the Congressional Record, May 8, 1968, pages S5125-S5148, which gives the text of a three - hour speech in the Senate, packed with an impressive and convincing array of facts, that was made in support of gun controls by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut).

500 Migrants Helped Weekly at New Center

CAIRO-Some 500 migratory farm workers are being helped each week at a new wayside center opened with federal funds on U.S. highway 51 north, seven miles north of this southern Illinois city.

The center, first of its kind in Illinois, is one of 11 set up by the migrant service center project of Washington, D.C., with a $600,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The site was selected because it is a main thoroughfare for northbound migratory workers from Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico. According to Mrs. Geraldine Pang, center manager, they are bound for Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan to harvest crops and are expected to remain in the northern states through October.

Mrs. Pang, a long-time worker in the migrant-help field, likes to stand in the doorway of her one-story concrete block office at the side of the road, "So I can see them when they pull in and go out and greet them." Attractive orange signs depicting a farm worker hauling a basket of produce on his shoulder are posted up and down the highway from the center to catch the eye of bus and truck drivers hauling the migrants.

Waiting for the farm workers, tired and dustry from long hours of traveling, are portable toilets, a shower, a stove and laundry facilities, cots for an overnight rest if desired, and food, coffee, doughnuts, and milk for the children.

Most of the migrants have enough food, Mrs. Pang says, "But I've seen 30 or more babies, mostly Negro, with portruding pot-bellied stomaches from hunger. Most of them are from Mississippi. Their legs are so thin that children of eight resemble children of two years." Mrs. Pang has hopes of installing 200 cots in the Illinois Migrant School, at Cairo, to meet the influx expected in the Fall as the workers finish harvesting and picking and begin their southward journey home. She is also hard at work fitting out a camper trailer at the site. Mrs. Pang says she has asked Washington to make available surplus food, to be stored at the center, for hungry migrant families. "It is iron," she says, "that these people who work so hard to put food on the tables of the nation don't earn enough to deep their children from the verge of starvation."

In assition to surplus food, she says that supplies of vitamins and cod liver oil for children and babies, respectively, would be appreciated. "The migratory farm worker is no beggar," she says. "He is doing the hardest, dirtiest work in American society. Often, his children are with him toiling in the fields, but he has little, or nothing, to show for it at the end of the day."

About half the workers coming through are Negro and half Mexican-American, she says. Mrs. Pang is assisted by a four-member staff.

Rodeo Parade Set

The annual parade to kick off the 16th Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the old south grade school lot at Malone and Stoddard.

The rodeo will feature Ken Curtis, better known as Festus Hagen on the "Gunsmoke" television series. He will appear at all performances Aug. 8-11 at the rodeo grounds.

A little Mr. and Miss Western tot contest will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in downtown Sikeston preliminary to the rodeo.

The parade route next Wednesday will be: North on Stoddard to Front St., east on Front to Kingshighway, south on Kingshighway to Malone and east on Malone to the Midtowner Village Shopping Center, where it will disperse.

Entries in the float competition will be accepted until next Monday. Anyone wishing to participate should contact Peter Myers or Art Hobbs. Myers is the parade chairman; Hobbs is the co-chairman.

A $30 cash prize will be awarded to the winning floats in three categories: Prettiest float, western or rodeo theme, and most original.

Participants in the parade will include, floats, bands, parade horses from Kinney Brothers rodeo stock and local horses. Cars will carry dignitaries, and local implement dealers will show the latest in equipment lines.

Hike in Steel Prices Reported

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The steel industry's two giants announced price increases today, less than 24 hours after the United Steelworkers Union won a new billion-dollar labor contract-richest in its history.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, announced an increase of almost 5 per cent across the board-first of its kind since the late President John F. Kennedy force a rollback in 1962.

Hanoi Charges U.S. Lies of Victories While Losing War

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam today denounced press conference statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as new evidence of "the obduracy of U.S. aggressive ruling circles" in pursuing a "policy of war and aggression."

Speaking in the 15th session of the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Ha Van Lau also charged that "the U.S. government has told lies" in asserting North Vietnam has committed aggression against South Vietnam and in "boasting of victories" when, he said, it is being defeated in the war in Vietnam.

Rusk called on North Vietnam at a news conference in Washington Tuesday to say what it will do to scale down the fighting if the United States ends all attacks on its territory.

Earlier, going into the meeting, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam with ruling "through terror and butchery" and they ought to give their people a little freedom.

Harriman also told newsmen as he entered the 15th meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that he intended to denounce North Vietnam for failure to live up to the 1962 agreement to neutralize Laos.

Harriman made the accusation against the North Vietnamese leaders when asked what he thought about recent jail sentences given by the Saigon government to critics or opponents.

"Have you seen any freedom in North Vietnam, in Hanoi." Harriman responded.

"It would be a great thing for Hanoi to give a little freedom to the people there." he continued.

"They impose their will through terror and butchery and so it's rather ill becoming for them to make any comment about freedom in other parts of the world."

Harriman told newsmen that "the North Vietnamese never kept the 1962 agreement on Laos for one day."

"One of the ways to make peace in Southeast Asia on a permanent basis," he said, "is for North Vietnam to leave its neighbors alone."

North Vietnam's chief delegate, Xuan Thuy, who has been slightly ill recently, did not attend today's session of the talks. His chief deputy, Col. Ha Van Lau, headed the delegation.

Brezhnev Becomes Ill as Soviet-Czech Talks End

PRAGUE (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, secretary-general of the Soviet Communist party, became ill and the history-making showdown talks between Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders on the fate of this country's liberal course ended late today, reliable sources reported.

The informants said Brezhnev, head of the Soviet delegation at the three-day meeting, did not attend today's session at the border town of Cierna.

There was no immediate word whether the illness had forced a premature end to the talks. They had been generally expected to wind up late this afternoon.

The nature of Brezhnev's illness could not be learned immediately. He is 61.

Cierna, where the meeting opened Monday, was closed to Western newsmen.

One of Czechoslovakia's leading Communist reformers reported earlier in the day that the crucial talks between the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak party presidium were taking a "promising course."

"The atmosphere is optimistic," said National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky in Rude Pravo, the Czechoslovak party newspaper.

The leaders of the two parties met for the third day today to the martial accompaniment of record Soviet military maneuvers. The talks continued at least one day longer than expected as the Soviets sought to develop evidence of discord among the Czechoslovaks.

Talks between the top-ranking leaders of the two parties, which had been expected to end Tuesday, were extended after the Soviets insisted that each member of both delegations have a chance to state his personal views on the liberalization program launched by the Czechoslovak party's new leaders.

The Soviets presumably hoped to draw out dissident members of the 11-man Czechoslovak party Presidium attending the conference that began Monday in the tiny farming village of Cierna, in Slovakia one mile from the Russian border.

Arm and Leg Injuries Treated

Four were treated Tuesday at the Missouri Delta Community hospital for arm and leg injuries:

Burglary Charge Dropped

A charge of burglary against Robert T. Harvey, Benton, was dismissed and court costs were certified Tuesday in magistrate court in Sikeston.

Harvey was charged in connection with the theft of about $75 in jewelry from the Fred Laminack home in Morehouse. James Gadberry was charged with burglary in the same case. Judge Marshall Craig directed a verdict in favor of Gadberry Monday in circuit court in Benton. The jewelry was recovered from a car occupied by Gadberry and Harvey when they were arrested.

Judge M. E. Montgomery presided Tuesday. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore represented the state.

Armetha Ray Taylor, Morehouse, charged with allowing an unlicensed driver to operate her motor vehicle, was fined $10 and costs.

Danny Dale Whittle, Canalou, charged with speeding, was fined $75 and costs.

Charles Eugene Miller, 529 Coleman, charged with speeding, was fined $11.50 and costs.

Gary R. Adcock, 836 Wayne, charged with speeding, was fined $21.50 and costs.

William J. Nicholson, route one, Sikeston, charged with public intoxication, was sentenced to 60 days in jail, and given a stay of sentence until Aug. 13 to pay court costs.

Dan R. Caldwell, 115 Sixth St., charged with operating a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes, was fined $5 and costs.

Arrest for Assault

Rolley D. Riley, Blodgett, was arrested by police shortly after noon Tuesday and charged with assault.

Riley was transferred to Scott county authorities in connection with the beating of his ex-brother-in-law Eugene Abbot yesterday near Crowder, Scott county sheriff John Dennis reported.

Riley was released on bond and will appear Aug. 13 in magistrate court.

Abbot was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community hospital for injuries.

In other police activity, Lindsey E. Ozment, 401 Broadway, was charged Tuesday with operating a motor vehicle with no city automobile license.

The city street sweeper driven by Leo W. Rofkahr, 729 East Kathleen, was invovled in an accident at 9:10 a.m. today on South Kingshighway in front of P J's Auto & Home Supply.

The sweeper struck a car driven by Charles R. Tisdel, 51, 402 Virginia, when it pulled from the curb police reported.

A car driven by Roy Lee Rhyme, 56, 710 Montgomery, collided with a car driven by Wesley D. Cooper, 64, Sikeston, at 2:35 a.m. today at Murray Lane and Montgomery, police reported.

Living Costs Take .5 Per Cent Leap

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of living, paced by higher mortgage interest and other home ownership charges, jumped one half of one per cent in June to a level 4.2 per cent above that of a year ago, the government announced today.

The June rise equaled that of February 1966 and was larger than any other since September 1962 when the index went up six-tenths of one per cent.

Charged with nonsupport, James Wade was ordered to pay $20 per week or $80 per month, and fined $20 court costs.

Judgment of $53 was awarded Virginia Stahlhuth, Alice Goessling and LaVerne Hale against Lula Belle Stepps.

The suit of Virginia Stahlhuth, Alice Goessling and LaVerne Hale against James Porter was dismissed by their attorney.

Objections to Boat Docks Withdrawn

NEW MADRID--The Mississippi Valley Association and the American Waterways Operators have withdrawn their objections to the building of boat docks on the narrow point of the river bend at New Madrid.

A protest had been filed with the U.S. Engineers at Memphis, whose plans included docks for unloading coal and aluminum ore on the bend.

The city of New Madrid will build the dock as one phase of developing the 4,000-acre St. Jude Industrial park, on the Mississippi river south of New Madrid.

The federal government has approved a $2,929,000 grant for the development of the park. It will be matched by the city if voters approve bond issues Aug. 23.

A portion of the park has been leased to Noranda Aluminum Inc. for an industrial complex.

The city will build a steam generating plant to furnish electricity for the complex and the dock will be used for unloading coal and aluminum ore.

Objections were raised by barge line operators, who believed heavy traffic at the loading docks would cause congestion at the narrow point of the river bend.

McGovern to Push RFK Ideals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern has emerged as a rallying point for some supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—but mainly to influence the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, an outspoken war critic, said in an interview he has rejected suggestions from Kennedy people that he actively seek the presidential nomination at next month's Democratic National Convention because of his own hard re-election race.

"But I have told them if they want to use me as a rallying point, that's okay," McGovern added, observing that "this will give a little more leverage at the convention."

It was for this reason that he went to California last weekend to discuss the convention, and especially its platform, with Kennedy supporters.

He called on them for a moral commitment to "passion and action in the service of the nation" and implied that neither Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey nor Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the party's presidential contenders, could do this.

McGovern, however, made it plain he will support the party nominee.

When asked whether a dark horse such as he might wind up as the nominee, he said this is "a very, very unlikely event."

He did say he would accept a nomination, adding that "anyone in politics who gets as far as the U.S. Senate who says he wouldn't accept the presidential nomination is crazy."

McGovern said he will probably ask to testify before the convention's platform committee on both farm and Vietnam policy, and added he will work at Chicago to organize delegates to try for "the strongest possible plank on Vietnam, to improve our chances in November and to line up with the mood of the country."

In his Los Angeles speech, he indicated he thought the platform should admit the errors of the Johnson administration's policies."

"I am convinced," he said, "that any president with the will to do it could end the war in Vietnam on terms acceptable to the American people in 60 days."

"It is imperative," the senator went on, "that we nominate a standard-bearer who can run with a clear mind and conscience on our party's platform. That is why I have declined to endorse the candidacy of an old and dear friend—the vice president.

Then, in apparent criticism of McCarthy, McGovern attacked "those—some of them candidates for high office—who cannot seem to detect the urgency of the warning, cannot see the bush that has been burning these many years.

"They think America is tired; that it is time to relax; that we need not action and passion but cool philosophy," the senator said, adding "as Robert Kennedy said so often, that is not the road history has marked for us."

McGovern has been designated South Dakota's "favorite son" by the 26-vote delegation Kennedy captured just hours before his assassination. In addition, over 200 of more than 700 undecided Democratic delegates, including the 174 from California, are believed to be Kennedy supporters.

As for the 46-year-old McGovern, a college professor before entering politics, he still intends to devote most of his energy to his second-term fight against former GOP Gov. Archie L. Gubrud.

Although recent polls have shown McGovern well ahead, the state is normally Republican. In addition, the senator may be hurt by the arrest last weekend of his 19-year-old daughter on marijuana possession charges.

Nixon Urges Platform Endorsing Militant Crusade Against Crime

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon called on the Republican party today to endorse "a militant crusade against crime ... to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

"Only fifty years ago, Americans dreamed of making the world safe for democracy," Nixon said. "Today, our present leadership cannot even make America safe for Americans."

Nixon's statement, given to the GOP Platform Committee by Texas Senator John G. Tower, was the first such presentation of the views the front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination to plank-writers drawing up the party's 1968 document.

At about the same time two other Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—were appearing in person at the pre-convention policy session. And there was a contrast between them.

California Gov. Reagan—whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate—stressed a firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of Communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

New York's Mayor Lindsay, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself for president, accented reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this Johnson administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

The young-looking New Yorker got loud and sustained applause when he took the stand—and perfunctory applause after he got through.

GOP platform drafters indicated that their planks will be broad enough to suit any of the potential presidential nominees.

Nixon's statement today dealt only with the crime issue.

"During the decade of the 1960s," he said, "the peace forces of our society surrendered critical ground to the criminal forces. The first right of every American, the right to be free from domestic violence, has become the forgotten civil right of the American people.

"One paramount need is for the men of government at the national level to exert their moral authority to the limit, to marshal the armies of public opinion behind what can be nothing less than a militant crusade against crime.

Committe Tables Fortas Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee shelved Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice until after Labor Day when not enough senators showed up today to take action on the appointment.

Sen. James O. Eastland, DMiss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said he wouldn't try to call another meeting until Congress returns in September after the national political conventions.

The latest delay consumed more time in the fight by Fortas' foes to block the nomination by filibustering after it reaches the floor.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, RMich., opposing President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments of both Fortas and Judge Homer Thornberry, said his forces have doubled in recent weeks and claimed he has more than enough votes to keep a filibuster going indefinitely.

Only five members of the 16man Senate Judiciary Committee showed up for today's meeting.

Griffin said Tuesday 40 or more senators now oppose the appointments and added, "I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed."

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Fulbright, Rockefeller Victors

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won renomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bernard, father of five, farms and operates a dry cleaning business. His only public service came as a city alderman.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

Rockefeller, the state's first GOP chief executive since Reconstruction, indicated that Bernard would have the all-out backing of his organization. The drive to give the state its first Republican senator in 100 years follows by two years Rockefeller's own triumph which helped Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt become the first Arkansas Republican congressman in a century.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Boswell, at 35 the youngest candidate and a strong advocate to revamp the 94-year-old state constitution, and Mrs. Johnson, the first woman to seek the governorship in Arkansas, appeared headed for a down-to-the-wire battle for the No. 2 spot. Mrs. Johnson is Jim Johnson's wife.

Bill Alexander of Osceola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

Rodeo Parade Set

The annual parade to kick off the 16th Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the old south grade school lot at Malone and Stoddard.

The rodeo will feature Ken Curtis, better known as Festus Hagen on the "Gunsmoke" television series. He will appear at all performances Aug. 8-11 at the rodeo grounds.

A little Mr. and Miss Western tot contest will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in downtown Sikeston preliminary to the rodeo.

The parade route next Wednesday will be: North on Stoddard to Front St., east on Front to Kingshighway, south on Kingshighway to Malone and east on Malone to the Midtowner Village Shopping Center, where it will disperse.

Entries in the float competition will be accepted until next Monday. Anyone wishing to participate should contact Peter Myers or Art Hobbs. Myers is the parade chairman; Hobbs is the co-chairman.

A $30 cash prize will be awarded to the winning floats in three categories: Prettiest float, western or rodeo theme, and most original.

Participants in the parade will include, floats, bands, parade horses from Kinney Brothers rodeo stock and local horses. Cars will carry dignitaries, and local implement dealers will show the latest in equipment lines.

Hike in Steel Prices Reported

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The steel industry's two giants announced price increases today, less than 24 hours after the United Steelworkers Union won a new billion-dollar labor contract-richest in its history.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, announced an increase of almost 5 per cent across the board-first of its kind since the late President John F. Kennedy force a rollback in 1962.

Hanoi Charges U.S. Lies of Victories While Losing War

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam today denounced press conference statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as new evidence of "the obduracy of U.S. aggressive ruling circles" in pursuing a "policy of war and aggression."

Speaking in the 15th session of the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Ha Van Lau also charged that "the U.S. government has told lies" in asserting North Vietnam has committed aggression against South Vietnam and in "boasting of victories" when, he said, it is being defeated in the war in Vietnam.

Rusk called on North Vietnam at a news conference in Washington Tuesday to say what it will do to scale down the fighting if the United States ends all attacks on its territory.

Earlier, going into the meeting, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam with ruling "through terror and butchery" and they ought to give their people a little freedom.

Harriman also told newsmen as he entered the 15th meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that he intended to denounce North Vietnam for failure to live up to the 1962 agreement to neutralize Laos.

Paying fines of $35 each on charges of careless and imprudent driving, failure to exercise highest degree of care, were Raymond Ludwig Spieloogel, Ralph Earl Brandon and Curtis N. Keys. Allen Leon Hampton was fined $25 on a similar charge.

Fined $11 each on charges of defective brakes were Refrigerated Trans, Co., Paul E. Miller and Caravan Refrigerated.

Charged with having no operator's license, Johnny Wesley Cole was assessed $30. Billy Bob Lewis, Fredrick A. Ethridge and Clinton C. Wilson each paid fines of $15 on similar charges.

On two charges of overweight vehicle, Holly Springs Brick & Tile was fined $105 for 1600 pounds overweight and $75 for 1300 pounds overweight.

Charged with destruction of property, Richard Roberts was fined $25.

A fine of $35 was assessed Large L. Copeland on a speeding charge.

Charged with nonsupport, James Wade was ordered to pay $20 per week or $80 per month, and fined $20 court costs.

Judgment of $53 was awarded Virginia Stahlhuth, Alice Goessling and LaVerne Hale against Lula Belle Stepps.

The suit of Virginia Stahlhuth, Alice Goessling and LaVerne Hale against James Porter was dismissed by their attorney.

Objections to Boat Docks Withdrawn

NEW MADRID--The Mississippi Valley Association and the American Waterways Operators have withdrawn their objections to the building of boat docks on the narrow point of the river bend at New Madrid.

A protest had been filed with the U.S. Engineers at Memphis, whose plans included docks for unloading coal and aluminum ore on the bend.

The city of New Madrid will build the dock as one phase of developing the 4,000-acre St. Jude Industrial park, on the Mississippi river south of New Madrid.

The federal government has approved a $2,929,000 grant for the development of the park. It will be matched by the city if voters approve bond issues Aug. 23.

A portion of the park has been leased to Noranda Aluminum Inc. for an industrial complex.

The city will build a steam generating plant to furnish electricity for the complex and the dock will be used for unloading coal and aluminum ore.

Objections were raised by barge line operators, who believed heavy traffic at the loading docks would cause congestion at the narrow point of the river bend.

McGovern to Push RFK Ideals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern has emerged as a rallying point for some supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—but mainly to influence the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, an outspoken war critic, said in an interview he has rejected suggestions from Kennedy people that he actively seek the presidential nomination at next month's Democratic National Convention because of his own hard re-election race.

"But I have told them if they want to use me as a rallying point, that's okay," McGovern added, observing that "this will give a little more leverage at the convention."

It was for this reason that he went to California last weekend to discuss the convention, and especially its platform, with Kennedy supporters.

He called on them for a moral commitment to "passion and action in the service of the nation" and implied that neither Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey nor Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the party's presidential contenders, could do this.

McGovern, however, made it plain he will support the party nominee.

When asked whether a dark horse such as he might wind up as the nominee, he said this is "a very, very unlikely event."

He did say he would accept a nomination, adding that "anyone in politics who gets as far as the U.S. Senate who says he wouldn't accept the presidential nomination is crazy."

McGovern said he will probably ask to testify before the convention's platform committee on both farm and Vietnam policy, and added he will work at Chicago to organize delegates to try for "the strongest possible plank on Vietnam, to improve our chances in November and to line up with the mood of the country."

In his Los Angeles speech, he indicated he thought the platform should admit the errors of the Johnson administration's policies."

"I am convinced," he said, "that any president with the will to do it could end the war in Vietnam on terms acceptable to the American people in 60 days."

"It is imperative," the senator went on, "that we nominate a standard-bearer who can run with a clear mind and conscience on our party's platform. That is why I have declined to endorse the candidacy of an old and dear friend—the vice president.

Then, in apparent criticism of McCarthy, McGovern attacked "those—some of them candidates for high office—who cannot seem to detect the urgency of the warning, cannot see the bush that has been burning these many years.

"They think America is tired; that it is time to relax; that we need not action and passion but cool philosophy," the senator said, adding "as Robert Kennedy said so often, that is not the road history has marked for us."

McGovern has been designated South Dakota's "favorite son" by the 26-vote delegation Kennedy captured just hours before his assassination. In addition, over 200 of more than 700 undecided Democratic delegates, including the 174 from California, are believed to be Kennedy supporters.

As for the 46-year-old McGovern, a college professor before entering politics, he still intends to devote most of his energy to his second-term fight against former GOP Gov. Archie L. Gubrud.

Although recent polls have shown McGovern well ahead, the state is normally Republican. In addition, the senator may be hurt by the arrest last weekend of his 19-year-old daughter on marijuana possession charges.

Nixon Urges Platform Endorsing Militant Crusade Against Crime

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon called on the Republican party today to endorse "a militant crusade against crime ... to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

"Only fifty years ago, Americans dreamed of making the world safe for democracy," Nixon said. "Today, our present leadership cannot even make America safe for Americans."

Nixon's statement, given to the GOP Platform Committee by Texas Senator John G. Tower, was the first such presentation of the views the front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination to plank-writers drawing up the party's 1968 document.

At about the same time two other Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—were appearing in person at the pre-convention policy session. And there was a contrast between them.

California Gov. Reagan—whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate—stressed a firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of Communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

New York's Mayor Lindsay, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself for president, accented reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this Johnson administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

The young-looking New Yorker got loud and sustained applause when he took the stand—and perfunctory applause after he got through.

GOP platform drafters indicated that their planks will be broad enough to suit any of the potential presidential nominees.

Nixon's statement today dealt only with the crime issue.

"During the decade of the 1960s," he said, "the peace forces of our society surrendered critical ground to the criminal forces. The first right of every American, the right to be free from domestic violence, has become the forgotten civil right of the American people.

"One paramount need is for the men of government at the national level to exert their moral authority to the limit, to marshal the armies of public opinion behind what can be nothing less than a militant crusade against crime.

Committe Tables Fortas Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee shelved Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice until after Labor Day when not enough senators showed up today to take action on the appointment.

Sen. James O. Eastland, DMiss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said he wouldn't try to call another meeting until Congress returns in September after the national political conventions.

The latest delay consumed more time in the fight by Fortas' foes to block the nomination by filibustering after it reaches the floor.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, RMich., opposing President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments of both Fortas and Judge Homer Thornberry, said his forces have doubled in recent weeks and claimed he has more than enough votes to keep a filibuster going indefinitely.

Only five members of the 16man Senate Judiciary Committee showed up for today's meeting.

Griffin said Tuesday 40 or more senators now oppose the appointments and added, "I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed."

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Fulbright, Rockefeller Victors

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won renomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bernard, father of five, farms and operates a dry cleaning business. His only public service came as a city alderman.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

Rockefeller, the state's first GOP chief executive since Reconstruction, indicated that Bernard would have the all-out backing of his organization. The drive to give the state its first Republican senator in 100 years follows by two years Rockefeller's own triumph which helped Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt become the first Arkansas Republican congressman in a century.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Boswell, at 35 the youngest candidate and a strong advocate to revamp the 94-year-old state constitution, and Mrs. Johnson, the first woman to seek the governorship in Arkansas, appeared headed for a down-to-the-wire battle for the No. 2 spot. Mrs. Johnson is Jim Johnson's wife.

Bill Alexander of Osceola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

WE ENDORSE: FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Given the proper information, this newspaper will always support the so-called political white hats over the black hats, the proverbial good guys over the political bad guys. perhaps no contest in the Democratic primary next month presents such a classic example of the white hat versus black hat candidate as does the race for Missouri's Attorney General.

The two men in the contest are Norman Anderson, the incumbent, now serving at the end of his first four-year term, and Russell Millin, a former U. S. Attorney who now seeks nomination and election as the state's top legal officer.

Anderson, four years ago, ran against a lackluster candidate from western Missouri in the Democratic primary, and since he was fairly well known in his home area of St. Louis, Anderson needed only portions of outstate Missouri, including the Bootheel, to beat his primary opponent. From then on, Anderson's political career seemed to be going nowhere but up.

Forgetting the fact that service from the Attorney General's office was slow - sometimes agonizingly so -- there seemed to be nothing in the Anderson record that did not recommend him for another term in office. There was nothing, that is, until some facts began cropping up about Anderson that caused thoughtful Democrats and thoughtful Missourians to have some second thoughts about their boy Norman.

The Anderson record - which includes some peculiar associations with unsavory elements in Kansas City and St. Louis and his strange association in the smelly Presidential Insurance Co. scandal - convinced many persons that Anderson's public career should be terminated as quickly as possible.

This newspaper urged state Sen. A. M. Spradling of Cape Girardeau to make the race, but he chose not to do so. We regretted this, and still do, but Anderson has a formidable opponent - at least when it comes to public and personal qualifications - in Russ Millin. A graduate of the University of Missouri Law School, Millin was engaged in private practice for seven years. During that time he served as area coordinator for Sen. Symington's presidential campaign bid and later served in a similar capacity for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

In 1961, President Kennedy named Millin as U. S. Attorney - and this he became, in deed as well as in title. As a federal prosecuting attorney, he became one of western Missouri's most vigorous law enforcement officers and was responsible for the wholesale clean-up of the Kansas City area. He worked tirelessly and effectively against Mafia elements in Kansas City; he quickly earned a reputation as one of the outstanding U. S. Attorneys in the nation. He was reappointed to the federal post following Lyndon Johnson's election in 1964.

We believe Russ Millin would be a credit to the Democratic party and to the state of Missouri were he to be elected Attorney General. He would seek to drive out some of the underworld groups in this state that have been winked at but permitted to operate almost openly in certain areas. Millin would - and could - administer the office without the cronyism that has been part and parcel of the office for the past four years.

If Russ Millin is qualified, he is also inexperienced in the matter of getting elected. He lacks political know-how and he lacks compaign funds. He does not have the vigorous support of the Steamfitters, the Alex Presta group in Kansas City, the Jimmy Michaels gang in St. Louis - all of which are totally committed to Anderson, who also has the support and blessing of the Coran organization.

Millin lacks the campaign staff, the necessary political knowledge, the advantage of being an incumbent. In our opinion he can only be elected if enough Democrats decided they want their party to be represented by the best elements, not the elements that are constantly being investigated and questioned by the press.

Millin can only win if independent, conscientious and worried Democrats will go the polls and nominate him on Tuesday, Aug. 6. Otherwise indifference and complacency will take their toll - and many well bring about the nomination of Norman Anderson, a man who could help bring down the Democratic party next November. If there are enough concerned Democrats, Millin will be elected; if not, the party has only itself to blame.

We wholeheartedly and enthusiastically endorsed Russ Millin for nomination to the office of Attorney General of Missouri.

TELEVISED CONVENTIONS

The Democratic and Republican conventions of 1952 were the first carried to a nation- wide audience by live television. They were also, it turns out, the last conventions in which there was any doubt as to who would win the Presidential nominations. Although Dwight D. Eisenhower won on the first ballot 16 years ago, a credentials fight between Eisenhower and Taft forces kept viewers and delegates from becoming bored. And three ballots were required before the Democrats nominated Adlai E. Stevenson.

In the three succeeding presidential election years, the conventions were more predictable and therefore less exciting. At the same time, TV coverage became more proficient. So television, which needs excitement or controversy to attract viewers, has had to supply its own. One of the leading non - events of 1964 occurred when John Chancellor of NBC-TV was arrested on the floor of the Republican convention for blocking an aisle, was ushered out, and then politely escorted back. Chancellor's exit and re - entry represented one of the highlights of an otherwise cut - and - dried affair.

When the Republican National Convention opens at Miami Beach on Monday, Aug. 5, 1,333 delegates, 1,333 alternates and about 160 tons of network television equipment will be on hand. The GOP can claim the honor of holding the first national political convention carried entirely in color on television.

Whether the convention itself will be colorful is another matter. If the floor battles prove uninteresting or nonexistent, the networks are prepared to fill the breach. NBC has Huntley- Brinkley, CBS has Walter Cronkite and a huge supporting cast, and ABC has William F. Buckley Jr. and Gore Vidal. As waspish observers of the political scene -- though from quite different vantage points -- Buckley and Vidal should keep things lively. National Review editor Buckley does not like any Republican candidate except California Gov. Ronald Reagan very much. Playwright - novelist Vidal is a Democrat who supports Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. Neither Buckley nor Vidal, it appears now, will see his favorite win. The disappointment of both should sharpen the dialogue between them.

WASTE AND FRAUD IN THE POVERTY PROGRAM

A special committee of the Michigan legislature is currently investigating the poverty program in Detroit. Thus far it reveals many flagrant examples of waste and fraud.

The Detroit program has received $53 million in federal funds. The chairman of the investigating committee reports: "Out of $53 million, less than $13 million could have reached the hard-core poor from 1964 to 1967. After overhead costs and salaries are deducted, less than 25 per cent of the poverty funds actually reached thepoor in direct services or on-the-job training."

Many abuses were uncovered. The program's director collected $6,030 for travel expenses, including a trip to Honolulu. $100,000 in dental equipment was purchased in 1966. By the end of 1967, only four patients had been treated. About $45,000 was loaned to businesses which were discontinued shortly after receiving the loans.

The chairman of the investigating committee estimated that about $1 million in equipment had been stolen from the poverty program office, including 6 public address systems, 11 air conditioners, 31 motion picture projectors, 14 tape recorders, and 6 duplicating machines.

The report of the investigating committee stated: "The over-all picture of the entire program is one of gross mismanagement, misuse and fraudulent use of funds, and diversion of funds from one program to another. It is the old story of everyone grabbing tax dollars as fast as they can be grabbed with the least amount of effort." The Detroit program is ample evidence that very little money appropriated for "poverty" actually goes to help the poor. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

DIS-ALIENATING THE INTELLECTUAL:

Reuther-Teamsters Alliance Plans '69 Convention to Launch Massive Federation to Sweep U.S. With New 'Social Action'.

Washington, D.C.: — The other day Victor Reuther, who still carries the obvious wounds of a shotgun blast which the Detroit underworld poured into his face, summoned in some members of the foreign diplomatic corps to brief them on Walter Reuther's alliance with the Teamsters.

Apparently a great deal of blood, good and bad, has gone over the dam.

Brother Victor confided that this Alliance for Labor Action (ALA) would engender the dynamic "social action" the Reuthers feel has long been lacking in the United States.

This explanation moved forward from the other Reuther's statement in the ALA's Declaration of Purpose, that collaboration with the Brotherhood of Teamsters would "repair the alienation of the liberal - intellectual and academe community and the youth of our nation in order to build and strengthen a new alliance of progressive forces in the broad effort to advance the common good."

Last Wednesday, many of the diplomats were fascinated by Victor's discourse on how Walter Reuther and Frank Fitzsimmons, Jimmy Hoffa's one - man caretaker government, and the Teamsters fraternity would rewin the groves of academie.

It was explained that soon enough the impact of the joint social action would be felt. For example, there will be vast housing projects in the black ghettos.

The money, Victor Reuther disclosed, would come from the huge workers pension funds now administered by the auto corporations. First, he said, the ALA will approach General Motors and urge it to use the money for construction, instead of having it managed by financial institutions who hold it in trust for hundreds of thousands of older auto workers.

There will be drives to purify the air, beautify the cities, organize millions of unorganized, build a vast strike defense fund.

And, of course, there's always the Kenneth Galbraithian intellectuals who take AFL-CIO President George Meany as a personal insult. The Galbraiths of the world now must be rewon, and doubtlessly Brother Fitzsimmons will be able to help.

The intellectual community will thus be dis - alienated, not only in America but on all continents and centers of basic thought, including Moscow, to which Walter Reuther soon will travel.

To the diplomats (labor attaches) from abroad, including those from Eastern European lands, Victor Reuther's discourse on social action was impressive indeed.

But to insiders it was hardly complete despite its sweeping grandeur of illusion and sharpness of disillusionment with most of American labor.

What was not said was that the Reuther brothers plan a new labor federation, and not merely an ad hoc series of cooperative drives on the political, medical health, small farmers' and black workers' fronts.

To the informed, this is obvious. People may not be logical. But events are.

The new auto union - Teamsters alliance has hit the high road to federation, a mass movement, and a daring and electrifying confrontation with the 14 million - member AFL-CIO.

Walter Reuther simply is rebuilding his old Congress of Industrial Organizations. Reuther is a brilliant strategist and did not talk and walk his way out of the AFL-CIO to win up in a cul-de-sac.

Having charged the major labor federation with inaction and insensitivity to the new day, the UAW president simply could not continue bombarding George Meany with white papers, and produce nothing.

He had to move. For this he needed a power base which his own union tried but could not build on the political and black fronts outside the auto industry.

So he turned to the one massive power structure outside the AFL-CIO -- the Teamsters. Reuther is a most agile and shrewd bargainer. In return for the alliance, he gave the Fitzsimmons his first chance to dramatize himself without the aid of Jimmy Hoffa.

Thus, Fitz found himself sitting alongside the sociological Reuther instead of some of the scatological muscle so prevelant in preressurection days.

The alliance was announced and there were vague words about social action ad hoc efforts to revitalize labor. The specifics were left for a meeting some time in September.

Meanwhile, having developed his power base, Reuther put himself in a most strategic position. As Victor Reuther told the diplomats, the alliance has huge funds available for organizing.

This will tempt many a union. Reuther also now can offer the bait of Teamster support in new drives and future strikes. This is tempting too.

So some of Reuther's men now are contacting other unions ousted from the old CIO years ago.

There are, for instance, Harry Bridges' left - wing, Pacific Coast longshoremen's union and the East Coast's United Electrical workers.

They're all being told their ouster from the old CIO on charges of having followed a pro - Soviet line is just so much "water over the dam."

And that they're welcome in the new crusade. But welcome to what? Certainly more than an "alliance."

They may all be under the same roof early in 1969 when the new ALA runs "a representative national conference" -- a convention actually.

Such a "conference" need "structuring," as the alienated academicians say. An structuring means a central headquarters and a secretariat. There could be unions with well over four million members at the "conference."

Thus Walter Reuther will have his new labor movement and the Teamsters will have new charisma. And the country may well see a new civil war on the labor front.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: FBI reports underground black nationalist movement; secret strategy planned to take over capital; Strokely Carmichael lies low after subversive statements in foreign countries.

WASHINGTON--An alarming confidential report has been prepared by the FBI on the underground black nationalist movement in the United States.

It may explain the sudden outbreak of violence in Cleveland, a city under a Negro mayor, Carl Stokes, which has been making great progress toward racial understanding but where a handful of black nationalists began shooting police last week merely because they were towing away a parked car.

It definitely explains some of the extremist moves by Negroes in Washington.

Finally it gives a key to the tremendous upsurge in the popularity of George Wallace of Alabama, who represents a latent American fascism whose answer to Negro violence is white violence.

What the FBI has found in Washington is that the Black Militants have worked out a secret plan to take over the nation's capital. The militants argue that Negroes are now in the majority and that given home rule they can take over the city.

At present Washington is governed by a Negro mayor, Walter Washington, an able executive, who is supported by a city council, half Negro, half white. Mayor Washington, however, is considered much too moderate by the black militants. They have worked out the following secret strategy to take over the capital, neighborhood by neighborhood.

SECRET STRATEGY

First they will try to persuade the moderates to become militant, and if they fail, then bury them with frustration and harassment. When the moderates hold meetings, the strategy is to break up the meetings or be so unreasonable that the moderates will have to disassociate themselves from the meetings.

This was the explanation of the recent meeting in the African Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss neighborhood control of police where the black militants demanded that all whites leave. The whites present had been strong supporters of Negro progress. When they left, moderate Negroes walked out with them in protest.

Stokely Carmichael sat quietly in a back row of the meeting. He had been one of the chief architects of the new secret strategy. Another was chuck stone, former assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both militant and moderate Negroes are burnt up over the double standard of Ethical conduct in Congress, whereby Powell, a Negro, was expelled, and Rep. Mendell Rivers of South Carolina, who has had inexcusable bouts with Alcohol and has used government airplanes almost at will, remains a power in the white establishment.

This has caused far more resentment in the black world than congressional leaders realize and appears to moderates to be a legitimate case against congress.

STOKELY LIES LOW

Carmichael, who helped devise the secret strategy to take over Washington, Neighborhood by neighborhood, has been laying low following his subversive statements in foreign countries. He has been careful not to say anything publicly which would cause his arrest.

His operations, however, have been very carefully followed by the Justice Department, including some of his talks with the late Dr. Martin Luther King who finally persuaded Carmichael to stay out of the Poor People's March.

Rev. Ralph David Aberanthy, also Anti-Communist, seems more susceptible to Carmichael's persuasion than King. Shortly before the start of the Poor People's March, he told the New York Times: "I love Stokely. He's a wonderful guy. I may disagree with individuals like him on strategy, but not on goals. All I know is that we will remain nonviolent."

Carmichael's real goal, however, is the overthrow of the United States government. He spelled this out last Aug. 18 in Hanoi at an AFRO-American rally attended largely by North Vietnamese.

"We are not reformists," he said. "We do not seek to reform. We do not wish to be part of the U.S. Government, of its system. We are revolutionaries. We seek to change the imperialist system of the United States. We will be satisfied with nothing less.

"We are comrades," he told the North Vietnamese, "Because we seek to redeem humanity, because we seek to stop the greatest destroyer of humanity--The United States. When we succeed, and we will succeed, our blood, our lives would have been a little price to pay."

Probably Carmichael did not know that his words were picked up by powerful U.S. monitors. What he does know, however, is that his words in Hanoi cannot be used to prosecute him in the United States because the Justice Department can get no witnesses from Communist countries.

Back in the United States, Stokely is being very careful not to repeat these remarks. However, he has been very active in rpomoting quiet moves by which the black militants will gradually take over Washington.

NEW YORK (AP) — It is about 200 miles between New York and Washington, and some motorists can make the trip in as little as four hours. It takes us 10.

That's because my husband has a yen for taking ferryboats. If there isn't a ferry where we are going, we go where there is a ferry.

Thus on a recent trip to the nation's capital we disdained the direct mode of travel via turnpike and expressway in our eternal pursuit of a ferryboat route.

Instead we traversed the entire coastline of New Jersey, all the way down to Cape May where, by diligent map study, my would-be sailor had located a ferry that took us from New Jersey to Delaware. From there it was only a roundabout trip of some hours before we reached our destination.

En route to Florida we always drove down to the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula, from which point we were waterborne in slow splendor across Chesapeake Bay. When they built the 17-mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel a few years ago and eliminated that ferry, what others regarded as an engineering marvel my husband regarded as a personal affront.

The next time we went down that way we traveled a couple of hundred extra miles in order to take a ferry he had discovered in Wilmington, N.C.

There is always some heated debate between us as to whether the ferries he has ferreted out are seaworthy. I always take the negative.

On one occasion we rode a vessel so tiny that it resembled a raft. It was so small it wouldn't even hold the car, but that didn't deter my determined spouse. We left the family vehicle behind and went to an island and back just for the ride.

When we do manage to get the car onto a boat, I am always convinced that we are going to drive straight into the water when we leave it. Actually there is not much danger of this as my chauffeur is usually not even at the wheel when we make landfall. He always insists on getting out, no matter how short the trip, to view the passing scenery and is usually not back by the time the chains are down and the attendants are motioning impatiently for the car to move.

Each time my husband reads that a new bridge is being built and an old ferry is being dropped, he reacts as though a favorite uncle had died.

Outwardly I commiserate with him, but inwardly I smile. I'm all for progress.

POOR CHARLIE SUGGESTS:

That you study the qualifications of Warren Hearnes for Governor.

Edward L. Dowd for Lt. Governor.

James C. Kirkpatrick for Secretary of State.

Russell Millin for Attorney General.

William E. Robinson for State Treasurer.

David Rolwing for Congress.

Tom Eagleton for United States Senator.

* * *

WE ENDORSE: FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Given the proper information, this newspaper will always support the so-called political white hats over the black hats, the proverbial good guys over the political bad guys. perhaps no contest in the Democratic primary next month presents such a classic example of the white hat versus black hat candidate as does the race for Missouri's Attorney General.

The two men in the contest are Norman Anderson, the incumbent, now serving at the end of his first four-year term, and Russell Millin, a former U. S. Attorney who now seeks nomination and election as the state's top legal officer.

Anderson, four years ago, ran against a lackluster candidate from western Missouri in the Democratic primary, and since he was fairly well known in his home area of St. Louis, Anderson needed only portions of outstate Missouri, including the Bootheel, to beat his primary opponent. From then on, Anderson's political career seemed to be going nowhere but up.

Forgetting the fact that service from the Attorney General's office was slow - sometimes agonizingly so -- there seemed to be nothing in the Anderson record that did not recommend him for another term in office. There was nothing, that is, until some facts began cropping up about Anderson that caused thoughtful Democrats and thoughtful Missourians to have some second thoughts about their boy Norman.

The Anderson record - which includes some peculiar associations with unsavory elements in Kansas City and St. Louis and his strange association in the smelly Presidential Insurance Co. scandal - convinced many persons that Anderson's public career should be terminated as quickly as possible.

This newspaper urged state Sen. A. M. Spradling of Cape Girardeau to make the race, but he chose not to do so. We regretted this, and still do, but Anderson has a formidable opponent - at least when it comes to public and personal qualifications - in Russ Millin. A graduate of the University of Missouri Law School, Millin was engaged in private practice for seven years. During that time he served as area coordinator for Sen. Symington's presidential campaign bid and later served in a similar capacity for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

In 1961, President Kennedy named Millin as U. S. Attorney - and this he became, in deed as well as in title. As a federal prosecuting attorney, he became one of western Missouri's most vigorous law enforcement officers and was responsible for the wholesale clean-up of the Kansas City area. He worked tirelessly and effectively against Mafia elements in Kansas City; he quickly earned a reputation as one of the outstanding U. S. Attorneys in the nation. He was reappointed to the federal post following Lyndon Johnson's election in 1964.

We believe Russ Millin would be a credit to the Democratic party and to the state of Missouri were he to be elected Attorney General. He would seek to drive out some of the underworld groups in this state that have been winked at but permitted to operate almost openly in certain areas. Millin would - and could - administer the office without the cronyism that has been part and parcel of the office for the past four years.

If Russ Millin is qualified, he is also inexperienced in the matter of getting elected. He lacks political know-how and he lacks compaign funds. He does not have the vigorous support of the Steamfitters, the Alex Presta group in Kansas City, the Jimmy Michaels gang in St. Louis - all of which are totally committed to Anderson, who also has the support and blessing of the Coran organization.

Millin lacks the campaign staff, the necessary political knowledge, the advantage of being an incumbent. In our opinion he can only be elected if enough Democrats decided they want their party to be represented by the best elements, not the elements that are constantly being investigated and questioned by the press.

Millin can only win if independent, conscientious and worried Democrats will go the polls and nominate him on Tuesday, Aug. 6. Otherwise indifference and complacency will take their toll - and many well bring about the nomination of Norman Anderson, a man who could help bring down the Democratic party next November. If there are enough concerned Democrats, Millin will be elected; if not, the party has only itself to blame.

We wholeheartedly and enthusiastically endorsed Russ Millin for nomination to the office of Attorney General of Missouri.

TELEVISED CONVENTIONS

The Democratic and Republican conventions of 1952 were the first carried to a nation- wide audience by live television. They were also, it turns out, the last conventions in which there was any doubt as to who would win the Presidential nominations. Although Dwight D. Eisenhower won on the first ballot 16 years ago, a credentials fight between Eisenhower and Taft forces kept viewers and delegates from becoming bored. And three ballots were required before the Democrats nominated Adlai E. Stevenson.

In the three succeeding presidential election years, the conventions were more predictable and therefore less exciting. At the same time, TV coverage became more proficient. So television, which needs excitement or controversy to attract viewers, has had to supply its own. One of the leading non - events of 1964 occurred when John Chancellor of NBC-TV was arrested on the floor of the Republican convention for blocking an aisle, was ushered out, and then politely escorted back. Chancellor's exit and re - entry represented one of the highlights of an otherwise cut - and - dried affair.

When the Republican National Convention opens at Miami Beach on Monday, Aug. 5, 1,333 delegates, 1,333 alternates and about 160 tons of network television equipment will be on hand. The GOP can claim the honor of holding the first national political convention carried entirely in color on television.

Whether the convention itself will be colorful is another matter. If the floor battles prove uninteresting or nonexistent, the networks are prepared to fill the breach. NBC has Huntley- Brinkley, CBS has Walter Cronkite and a huge supporting cast, and ABC has William F. Buckley Jr. and Gore Vidal. As waspish observers of the political scene -- though from quite different vantage points -- Buckley and Vidal should keep things lively. National Review editor Buckley does not like any Republican candidate except California Gov. Ronald Reagan very much. Playwright - novelist Vidal is a Democrat who supports Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. Neither Buckley nor Vidal, it appears now, will see his favorite win. The disappointment of both should sharpen the dialogue between them.

WASTE AND FRAUD IN THE POVERTY PROGRAM

A special committee of the Michigan legislature is currently investigating the poverty program in Detroit. Thus far it reveals many flagrant examples of waste and fraud.

The Detroit program has received $53 million in federal funds. The chairman of the investigating committee reports: "Out of $53 million, less than $13 million could have reached the hard-core poor from 1964 to 1967. After overhead costs and salaries are deducted, less than 25 per cent of the poverty funds actually reached thepoor in direct services or on-the-job training."

Many abuses were uncovered. The program's director collected $6,030 for travel expenses, including a trip to Honolulu. $100,000 in dental equipment was purchased in 1966. By the end of 1967, only four patients had been treated. About $45,000 was loaned to businesses which were discontinued shortly after receiving the loans.

The chairman of the investigating committee estimated that about $1 million in equipment had been stolen from the poverty program office, including 6 public address systems, 11 air conditioners, 31 motion picture projectors, 14 tape recorders, and 6 duplicating machines.

The report of the investigating committee stated: "The over-all picture of the entire program is one of gross mismanagement, misuse and fraudulent use of funds, and diversion of funds from one program to another. It is the old story of everyone grabbing tax dollars as fast as they can be grabbed with the least amount of effort." The Detroit program is ample evidence that very little money appropriated for "poverty" actually goes to help the poor. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: FBI reports underground black nationalist movement; secret strategy planned to take over capital; Strokely Carmichael lies low after subversive statements in foreign countries.

WASHINGTON--An alarming confidential report has been prepared by the FBI on the underground black nationalist movement in the United States.

It may explain the sudden outbreak of violence in Cleveland, a city under a Negro mayor, Carl Stokes, which has been making great progress toward racial understanding but where a handful of black nationalists began shooting police last week merely because they were towing away a parked car.

It definitely explains some of the extremist moves by Negroes in Washington.

Finally it gives a key to the tremendous upsurge in the popularity of George Wallace of Alabama, who represents a latent American fascism whose answer to Negro violence is white violence.

What the FBI has found in Washington is that the Black Militants have worked out a secret plan to take over the nation's capital. The militants argue that Negroes are now in the majority and that given home rule they can take over the city.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

DIS-ALIENATING THE INTELLECTUAL:

Reuther-Teamsters Alliance Plans '69 Convention to Launch Massive Federation to Sweep U.S. With New 'Social Action'.

Washington, D.C.: The other day Victor Reuther, who still carries the obvious wounds of a shotgun blast which the Detroit underworld poured into his face, summoned in some members of the foreign diplomatic corps to brief them on Walter Reuther's alliance with the Teamsters.

Apparently a great deal of blood, good and bad, has gone over the dam.

Brother Victor confided that this Alliance for Labor Action (ALA) would engender the dynamic "social action" the Reuthers feel has long been lacking in the United States.

This explanation moved forward from the other Reuther's statement in the ALA's Declaration of Purpose, that collaboration with the Brotherhood of Teamsters would "repair the alienation of the liberal - intellectual and academe community and the youth of our nation in order to build and strengthen a new alliance of progressive forces in the broad effort to advance the common good."

Last Wednesday, many of the diplomats were fascinated by Victor's discourse on how Walter Reuther and Frank Fitzsimmons, Jimmy Hoffa's one - man caretaker government, and the Teamsters fraternity would rewin the groves of academie.

It was explained that soon enough the impact of the joint social action would be felt. For example, there will be vast housing projects in the black ghettos.

The money, Victor Reuther disclosed, would come from the huge workers pension funds now administered by the auto corporations. First, he said, the ALA will approach General Motors and urge it to use the money for construction, instead of having it managed by financial institutions who hold it in trust for hundreds of thousands of older auto workers.

There will be drives to purify the air, beautify the cities, organize millions of unorganized, build a vast strike defense fund.

And, of course, there's always the Kenneth Galbraithian intellectuals who take AFL-CIO President George Meany as a personal insult. The Galbraiths of the world now must be rewon, and doubtlessly Brother Fitzsimmons will be able to help.

The intellectual community will thus be dis - alienated, not only in America but on all continents and centers of basic thought, including Moscow, to which Walter Reuther soon will travel.

To the diplomats (labor attaches) from abroad, including those from Eastern European lands, Victor Reuther's discourse on social action was impressive indeed.

But to insiders it was hardly complete despite its sweeping grandeur of illusion and sharpness of disillusionment with most of American labor.

What was not said was that the Reuther brothers plan a new labor federation, and not merely an ad hoc series of cooperative drives on the political, medical health, small farmers' and black workers' fronts.

To the informed, this is obvious. People may not be logical. But events are.

The new auto union - Teamsters alliance has hit the high road to federation, a mass movement, and a daring and electrifying confrontation with the 14 million - member AFL-CIO.

Walter Reuther simply is rebuilding his old Congress of Industrial Organizations. Reuther is a brilliant strategist and did not talk and walk his way out of the AFL-CIO to win up in a cul-de-sac.

Having charged the major labor federation with inaction and insensitivity to the new day, the UAW president simply could not continue bombarding George Meany with white papers, and produce nothing.

He had to move. For this he needed a power base which his own union tried but could not build on the political and black fronts outside the auto industry.

So he turned to the one massive power structure outside the AFL-CIO -- the Teamsters. Reuther is a most agile and shrewd bargainer. In return for the alliance, he gave the Fitzsimmons his first chance to dramatize himself without the aid of Jimmy Hoffa.

Thus, Fitz found himself sitting alongside the sociological Reuther instead of some of the scatological muscle so prevelant in preressurection days.

The alliance was announced and there were vague words about social action ad hoc efforts to revitalize labor. The specifics were left for a meeting some time in September.

Meanwhile, having developed his power base, Reuther put himself in a most strategic position. As Victor Reuther told the diplomats, the alliance has huge funds available for organizing.

This will tempt many a union. Reuther also now can offer the bait of Teamster support in new drives and future strikes. This is tempting too.

So some of Reuther's men now are contacting other unions ousted from the old CIO years ago.

There are, for instance, Harry Bridges' left - wing, Pacific Coast longshoremen's union and the East Coast's United Electrical workers.

They're all being told their ouster from the old CIO on charges of having followed a pro - Soviet line is just so much "water over the dam."

And that they're welcome in the new crusade. But welcome to what? Certainly more than an "alliance."

They may all be under the same roof early in 1969 when the new ALA runs "a representative national conference" -- a convention, actually.

Such a "conference" needs "structuring," as the alienated academicians say. And structuring means a central headquarters and a secretariat. There could be unions with well over four million members at the "conference."

Thus Walter Reuther will have his new labor movement, and the Teamsters will have a new charisma. And the country may well see a new civil war on the labor front.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Moll of Fullerton, former of Sikeston, Mo. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Diehl Jr. of Easton, Pa.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Stella Moll of Sikeston.

The Rev. Raymond Beckering officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza over taffeta Empire gown fashioned with ruffles at the neckline and wrists.

A picture hat of transparent braid secured her floor-length veil of illusion. She carried a nosegay of Pink roses and stephanotis. Her necklace and earrings were gifts from the groom and had belonged to his mother.

Mrs. Sharon Bell, Buena Park, Calif., was matron of honor and Mrs. Danny Bueno, Diamond Bar, Calif., bridesmaid. Both wore pink linen A-line gowns and carried pink carnations.

Phillip Busby, San Clemente, Calif., was best man and Robert Kuhns and Thomas Hodgins, Anaheim were ushers.

Mrs. Hodgins assisted at a reception in the church parlor and garden attended by 200 guests.

The bride's mother wore a lime green sheath with matching coat and pink rose corsage. Mrs. Diehl wore a yellow linen dress and yellow roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Diehl are employed by Ling Temico Vought Ling Altec in Anaheim.

They will live in Anaheim after returning from a northern California wedding trip.

The entire adult life of the mayfly may consist of only several hours, or at most a few days, in the sun.

Last U.S. president to be inaugurated in March was Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4, 1933.

Met Run Harmless As Birds Pad Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson, who's been dealing almost exclusively in zeros for two months, shrugs off an occasional odd number on the scoreboard.

Tony Cloninger hardly can afford the luxury.

Gibson's latest shutout string was severed at 23 innings Tuesday night but the St. Louis ace breezed past the New York Mets 7-1 for his 12th consecutive victory.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Cloninger, whose next shutout will be his first in two years, blanked Philadelphia on three hits for seven innings but had to settle for relief help and a 5-2 victory that sent the Reds into second place in the National League.

Cloninger, acquired from Atlanta in a trade last month after an injury-plagued 1967 flop with the Braves, failed to go the distance for the 17th time in as many starts this season.

Pittsburgh swept a twi-night doubleheader from Atlanta 8-5 and 5-4 in 10 innings, dropping the slump-ridden Braves from the runner-up spot to third. Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs trampled San Francisco 10-4.

In the American League, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 5-0; Baltimore whipped Boston 8-3; Cleveland drubbed Washington 10-1 and Oakland defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

The Cardinals made it a cakewalk for Gibson Tuesday night by striking for five runs in the fourth inning, with Julian Javier's two-run single the key blow. The league leaders' 23rd victory in 29 games this month gave them a 14-game bulge over the Reds.

Rookie Johnny Bench cracked his ninth homer as Cincinnati staked Cloninger to a 5-0 lead over the floundering Phillies. But Tony Taylor opened the Phils' eighth with a single, then kicked the ball out of Woody Woodward's hand as the Cincy shortstop tried to start a double play on Roberto Pena's grounder.

When Cloninger got behind Johnny Callison 2-0, Manager Dave Bristol yanked him. The Phillies went on to score twice against Clay Carroll before the reliever nailed Cloninger's third victory in nine decisions.

"Though he kept his pitches well under control, at the end he lost it," said Reds pitching coach Mel Harder of Cloninger's near-miss. "It's almost spring training for Tony since he hasn't pitched much this year or last year. It will take him a while to catch up."

It was the Reds' fourth straight victory and the 12th setback for the Phils in their last 14 games.

The Pirates extended Atlanta's losing string to five games when Matty Alou scampered home from third in the 10th inning of the nightcap as the Braves failed to turn over a double play on Manny Mota's hopper.

Pitcher Steve Blass stroked a two-run double in a six-run fourth inning salvo that decided the twilight opener. Catcher Jerry May drove in three Pittsburgh runs with singles in the fourth and fifth.

Bob Bailey drove in two Los Angeles runs with a double and single before Willie Davis tripled in the eighth and scored the clincher on Len Gabrielson's infield tap. The Astros closed the gap with a ninth inning run and chased winner Bill Singer before Jim Brewer came out of the bullpen to end it.

Adolfo Phillips golfed two home runs and Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams hit one apiece as the Cubs overpowered San Francisco. Willie McCovey slammed his 25th homer in the third, giving the Giants a 3-2 edge, but Banks' two-run homer and a three-run shot by Phillips put Chicago on top to stay in the bottom of the inning.

Kranepool Gets Rare RBI off Gibson

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Kranepool is one of a vanishing breed—he drove in a run against Bob Gibson of St. Louis. But as usual, it didn't do any good.

Gibson won his 12th straight game as the National Leagueleading Cardinals beat the New York Mets 7-1.

Kranepool doubled home Ed Charles, who had singled, in the fourth inning for only the second RBI and third run scored off Gibson in 101 innings. Denis Menke of Houston drove in the other run July 12, and the third scored on a wild pitch.

Gibson, whose 15-5 record includes eight shutouts and 13 complete games, has achieved just about every major pitching record except a no-hitter.

"I don't ever expect to pitch one of those," Gibson said. "I would be surprised. I'm a high ball thrower and that kind of pitcher can get hurt.

"A low ball pitcher can make mistakes and get away with it."

Well, if a high ball pitcher can't get away with mistakes, then Gibson must not be making any.

His earned run average is 0.96. The major league record is 1.22 by Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Philadelphia Phils in 1915.

Cairo Trips Sikeston Ruth Team

CHARLESTON--Sikeston was eliminated from the annual invitational Babe Ruth tournament last night, when R. Hileman of Cairo held the Sikeston team to two hits.

His teammates gathered 10, to win 4 to 2.

Hileman was the winning pitcher, while Blankenship was the loser for Sikeston, but Blankenship had the honor of getting the only two hits for the losers.

In a scheduled second game, Clinton, Ky. won by 6 to 0 forfeit over Chaffee, which failed to appear.

No games are scheduled for tonight.

In second round play Thursday, Charleston will play against Scott City at 6:30 p.m. In the second game, Clinton, Ky. will play Cairo at 8:30 p.m.

RECORD CATCH brings happy smile from Elliot Fishman, who landed this 845-pound blue marlin in waters off St. John, Virgin Islands. Hot Passing Chief Hope For Undedog Grid Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, a 16-point underdog, have a potentially hot passing attack going for them against the mighty Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star football game Friday night.

Overall, the pros hold a 23-9-2 margin in the Soldier Field spectacle started in 1935. The last time the collegians won was in 1963 with a 20-17 shading of the Packers.

In other recent upsets, the All-Stars triumphed 35-19 over the Detroit Lions in 1958, after previously winning in 1955, nipping the Cleveland Browns 30?7, and—five seasons earlier—in 1950, by 17-7 over the Philadelphia Eagles.

If Norm Van Brocklin, former Minnesota Viking coach is to make a successful All-Star coaching debut Friday night, his quarterback duo of Gary Beban of UCLA and Greg Landry of Massachusetts probably will have to blaze away as successfully as Wisconsin's Ron Vanderkelen did in the 1963 derailing of the Packers and Michigan State's Jim Ninowski in the 1958 trimming of the Lions.

Beban and Landry, both highly regarded pro prospects for the Washington Redskins and Lions respectively, seemingly have the grab-and-take-off receivers to cause the Packers trouble.

It was Vanderkelen's 74-yard pass play with Badgermate Pat Richter which beat the Packers in 1963. In the 1958 All-Star triumph, Ninowski's shots to fleet Bobby Mitchell of Illinois demoralized the Lions.

Beban, the Uclan's Heisman Trophy winner, probably will get the starting call against the National Football League champions, but Van Brocklin also is expected to use the rangy, sharpshooting Landry as much to keep aerial pressure on the Packers.

Hansen's Solo Triple Play First in 41 Years

CLEVELAND (AP) — You wouldn't figure to find too many smiling faces in the Washington locker room after a 10-1 loss to Cleveland Tuesday night. There was one. Ron Hansen's.

He had an unassisted triple play.

"It just happened," the Senators' shortstop said. "It wasn't a pre-thought thing."

He became the eighth major league player ever to pull the play and the first in 41 years. John Neun, a first baseman for Detroit, and Chicago Cubs' shortstop Jim Cooney did it in 1927.

The Indians had men on first and second and the hit-and-run sign flashed in the first inning when Joe Azcue lined one down to Hansen.

He grabbed the liner, stepped on second to double Dave Nelson and got Russ Snyder coming down from first.

"I knew there were no outs and when I tagged Snyder I knew I had it," Hansen said. "But the importance of the play didn't dawn on me."

Bill Wambsganss of Cleveland is the only player to have an unassisted triple play in a World Series—in 1920.

Others were shortstop Neal Ball of Cleveland in 1909, first baseman George Burns of the Boston Red Sox in 1923, shortstop Ernie Padgett of the Boston Braves in 1923 and shortstop Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh in 1925.

The Washington Senators Or Case of Melting Bats

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Even the sun seemed about to drip. The Washington Senators, languishing around the batting cage, appeared barely able to lift their bats—which, the way things have been going, was not unusual.

In the Senators' dugout, the sprawling, ruggedly ruddy figure of James Robert Lemon, freshman big-league manager, watched his team work out. For him, the day was not unusual. The entire season has been oppressive.

A reporter mentioned to Lemon that, since the Senators were in last place, have been for a goodly time, and were several light years away from the ninth-place club . . .

"I know, I know the record," Lemon interjected, "do you have to repeat it?"

A sixth-place club was inherited from Gil Hodges, who defected to the New York Mets. Lofty hopes had pervaded Washington but they disintegrated into mere chimeras. What happened?

"Everything," said Lemon.

"All the things that happen when you aren't winning. Key players, like catcher Paul Casanova, get hurt. We get runners on, and they don't come off until three outs are made.

"Take a running game," said Lemon. "When your people can't run, you can't steal. And when your starting pitchers give up four and five runs in the first three innings, you can't play for one run. And what do you do when the outfielders break in for balls over their heads, break out for bloopers and break left for balls to their right?

"When a pitcher forgets to cover first on a bunt—like two did in both games of a recent doubleheader—he comes in and says, 'I know, I know what I should've done.' What can you do?"

All right, the pitchers aren't pitching, the fielders aren't fielding, the runners aren't running. That's baseball, as the flanneled philosophers declaim. But what about hitting?

"In the first 30 games," said Lemon, "five starters had only five runs driven in between them—Epstein, Casanova, Peterson and Valentine." Even a sports writer could figure out that was only four players. "Throw in Coggins, then. He's gotta be in there, too."

And now, some 60 games later? "We're doing a little better at the plate. At least we're starting to make contact with the ball." As in hide-and-seek, the players are beginning to get warm.

What about the future? "It's bright," said Lemon, slipping into his public relations disguise. "Epstein'll get better. Frank Howard has a few more good years left. If Casanova gets untracked he'll be one of the best catchers around. Coleman's gonna be a helluva pitcher. Brinkman's a fine glove man, a valuable man if a team can hit.

"I'll tell you one thing, though. No one has dogged it. All the players have given 100 per cent."

If they gave anything less, the Senators would finish below Caborca of the Mexican Rookie League.

Met Run Harmless As Birds Pad Lead

Bob Gibson, who's been dealing almost exclusively in zeros for two months, shrugs off an occasional odd number on the scoreboard.

Tony Cloninger hardly can afford the luxury.

Gibson's latest shutout string was severed at 23 innings Tuesday night but the St. Louis ace breezed past the New York Mets 7-1 for his 12th consecutive victory.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Cloninger, whose next shutout will be his first in two years, blanked Philadelphia on three hits for seven innings but had to settle for relief help and a 5-2 victory that sent the Reds into second place in the National League.

Cloninger, acquired from Atlanta in a trade last month after an injury-plagued 1967 flop with the Braves, failed to go the distance for the 17th time in as many starts this season.

Pittsburgh swept a twi-night doubleheader from Atlanta 8-5 and 5-4 in 10 innings, dropping the slump-ridden Braves from the runner-up spot to third. Los Angeles edged Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs trampled San Francisco 10-4.

In the American League, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 5-0; Baltimore whipped Boston 8-3; Cleveland drubbed Washington 10-1 and Oakland defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

A reporter mentioned to Lemon that, since the Senators were in last place, have been for a goodly time, and were several light years away from the ninth-place club . . .

"I know, I know the record," Lemon interjected, "do you have to repeat it?"

A sixth-place club was inherited from Gil Hodges, who defected to the New York Mets. Lofty hopes had pervaded Washington but they disintegrated into mere chimeras. What happened?

"Everything," said Lemon.

"All the things that happen when you aren't winning. Key players, like catcher Paul Casanova, get hurt. We get runners on, and they don't come off until three outs are made.

"Take a running game," said Lemon. "When your people can't run, you can't steal. And when your starting pitchers give up four and five runs in the first three innings, you can't play for one run. And what do you do when the outfielders break in for balls over their heads, break out for bloopers and break left for balls to their right?

"When a pitcher forgets to cover first on a bunt—like two did in both games of a recent doubleheader—he comes in and says, 'I know, I know what I should've done.' What can you do?"

All right, the pitchers aren't pitching, the fielders aren't fielding, the runners aren't running. That's baseball, as the flanneled philosophers declaim. But what about hitting?

"In the first 30 games," said Lemon, "five starters had only five runs driven in between them—Epstein, Casanova, Peterson and Valentine." Even a sports writer could figure out that was only four players. "Throw in Coggins, then. He's gotta be in there, too."

And now, some 60 games later? "We're doing a little better at the plate. At least we're starting to make contact with the ball." As in hide-and-seek, the players are beginning to get warm.

What about the future? "It's bright," said Lemon, slipping into his public relations disguise. "Epstein'll get better. Frank Howard has a few more good years left. If Casanova gets untracked he'll be one of the best catchers around. Coleman's gonna be a helluva pitcher. Brinkman's a fine glove man, a valuable man if a team can hit.

"I'll tell you one thing, though. No one has dogged it. All the players have given 100 per cent."

If they gave anything less, the Senators would finish below Caborca of the Mexican Rookie League.

Assistant Attorney-General of Missouri.

Three-term prosecuting attorney of Cape Girardeau County

Past president, Missouri Prosecuting Attorneys' Association.

One of our grave concerns must be the exodus of our people from the 10th district. For the 10 years covered by our last population census, we lost 8.7% of our people while the state of Missouri gained 9.2% and the nation 18.5%. It is tragic that, after we have educated our young people, they leave because they cannot find adequate employment here. A U.S. Congressman can do much to insure location of private and public industry in his district. I pledge that, if elected, the acquisition of jobs will be a number one priority of my administration.

Rocky Looks South

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is placing increasing importance on the Southern states in the effort to prevent Richard M. Nixon from winning the Republican nomination for president on an early ballot.

His aides in the South advise him that numerous Southern delegates who are listed as voting for Nixon, the acknowledged frontrunner for the nomination, in fact favor Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

"The first ballot is the key," said Robert Douglass, campaign manager for Rockefeller, "and the Southern delegates who are for Reagan could be the key to that."

He said there are potential defections from Nixon to Reagan in Texas, South and North Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee.

In a news conference in Denver Tuesday, Rockefeller underlined the importance of the first two ballots at the Republican National Convention.

"After the second ballot there will be a drifting toward the ultimate winner," he said. "In the history of our party, the person who has had the most votes in the beginning and then who has lost votes, has never regained that leading position."

Rockefeller's chief Southern leaders are Robert Snodgrass of Atlanta, Southern regional chairman, and Michael Neal of Florida.

Douglass said they have consistently reported "wide latent strength" for Reagan in the South. But so long as Reagan said he was not a candidate for the nomination—which he still says—they listed themselves as supporters of Nixon.

"However," Douglass said, "the minute Reagan began looking like a true, viable candidate, their situation changed."

The Rockefeller camp has not written off the South, although the governor says his principal strength is in the industrial states of the North. His aides said that he could get votes for the nomination in Georgia and Alabama.

The governor's strategists estimate the combined Reagan, Rockefeller strength on the first ballot at between 500-600 votes. They give Nixon approximately 550. The minimum to win the nomination is 667 votes.

Indian Trackers Find Missing Children in Wilds

GRAND RAPIDS, Man. (AP) — Persistent Indian trackers Tuesday night found an 8-year-old girl and her 4-year-old brother after they had been lost for six days and five nights in desolate bush country in northern Manitoba.

Although scratched and bitten by insects, little Jill and Kirby Sinclair appeared to be in good condition. They were taken to the radar station at Gypsumville, on the Winnipeg-Grand Rapids highway, for doctors to examine them.

The children were found huddled behind a log near Buffalo Lake, 12 to 15 miles from the spot where they wandered away from their parents' camp last Thursday.

Influence Of Pope's Edict Small

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

"Many are desperate to control the size of their families," said a well-placed source. "They otherwise have one baby every year, and that keeps them in poverty and it's bad for their health."

The source said that men, from the Pope down, "have always speculated on the moral and theological issues, but it's the women who bear the babies and they make the final decision."

HEW declined official comment on the Pope's encyclical released Monday forbidding Catholic women to use birth control pills or any other mechanical means of contraception.

No figures are available on the number of Catholics among women eligible for family planning services under federally supported programs. But officials say Catholics probably comprise a distinct minority.

HEW officials point out, however, that there are sizeable concentrations of Catholics in low-income brackets, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, HEW's deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning, noted in an interview that predominantely Catholic Puerto Rico has pioneered in family planning programs and they have been extremely popular. But, she said, "It's too early to tell how Catholic women will react to the Pope's statement."

The federal government provided about $28 million in birth control services last year.

President Johnson has asked for $56 million for the current fiscal year. Indications are that Congress will grant only part of the increase.

In another reaction to the Pope's pronouncement, 87 Roman Catholic theologians announced Tuesday in Washington that they were opposed to it and that they believe Catholic couples should use birth control techniques according to their own conscience.

"As Roman Catholic theologians, conscious of our responsibility and our limitations," they said, "we conclude that spouses may reasonably decide according to their conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

Houtchens Says

Delegates Free From Unit Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Delbert Houtchens, Missouri Democratic chairman said Tuesday the party will release its national convention delegates from the unit rule but that most still are expected to support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

In announcing Missouri will go along with Humphrey's wish for free delegate choice, Houtchens predicted the vice president still will get about 55 of the 68 Missouri votes at the convention in Chicago.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy protested at the state convention here June 1 when a rule was adopted requiring all delegates to vote for a single candidate if the candidate is supported by at least two-thirds of the delegation.

"We've given the McCarthy people about everything they asked for except half of the Missouri delegation, which they did not have the strength to claim," said Houtchens, who is a Humphrey backer.

The state chairman said the Missouri delegation will caucus in Chicago before the convention and learn how each delegate stands in order that the Missouri vote may be announced on the convention floor.

John Hasse of Kansas City, a spokesman for Sen. McCarthy's Missouri organization, said they will continue circulating petitions demanding an open convention despite Humphrey's release of delegations bound by the unit rule. Hasse said McCarthy backers have obtained nearly 6,000 petition signatures in two weeks.

Lifted Ban

Henry VIII, reputed to excel in throwing the hammer, was responsible for lifting the ban against track and field events in England. These had previously been outlawed by Edward III because they interfered with archery, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Pamphlet Deals with Fraud

JEFFERSON CITY — Attorney General Norman H. Anderson announced today that a pamphlet dealing with common fraudulent business practices has been completed and is ready for issuance to persons filing complaints with the consumer protection offices.

Anderson said the brochure explains those techniques frequently used in advertising, promotions, and sales which are intended to mislead the consumer public. Emphasis is placed upon "bait and switch" advertising, the bonus display pitch, the "free gift", fraudulent labelling, and selling under false pretense.

Anderson stated that another section of the pamphlet advises the potential purchaser of steps he can take to prevent being swindled and warns specifically against signing blank contracts, accepting oral guarantees, or making agreements without understanding all of the contractual terms.

The consumer protection brochure will be distributed to all persons who register complaints with the Attorney General's offices in St. Louis, Jefferson City, and Kansas City. It will also be made available to all local bar associations and finance offices, with eventual distribution statewide to Missouri residents.

Study Shows Smoking Induces Lung Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking appears to multiply a person's susceptibility to a crippling lung disease associated with air pollution, a new American Cancer Society study shows.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the society vice president, presented preliminary results of the study of 136,866 men between the ages of 40 and 74 to a Senate public works subcommittee Tuesday.

"These findings suggest that occupational exposure to dust, fumes and gases has a greater effect (in respect to emphysema) upon cigarette smokers than upon nonsmokers," Hammond said.

"To put it another way, the combination of the two factors appears to have a far greater effect than might be expected from the effect of each of the two alone," he continued.

Emphysema is a chronic lung disease characterized by shortness of breath, fatigue and chronic coughing. The disease has been associated with both heavy cigarette smoking and air pollution.

A surprising finding in the study, Hammond said, is that "indications of emphysema were more common among rural residents than among metropolitan residents."

"There is no firm evidence that general air pollution increases the risk of cancer," he said.

Social Activities Blooming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social activities ranging from breakfasts to fancy parties will be in the political arsenals of the contenders for the Republican presidential nomination at the party's convention next week.

In their efforts to gain the nomination, the GOP campaigners have appointed social directors to provide hospitality to the 2,666 delegates and alternates at the Miami Beach convention.

If a delegate works at it he could spend the entire week receiving everything from his morning orange juice to his evening dinner and drinks, with entertainment thrown in, all without spending his own money.

Richard Nixon's social leader is Patricia Reilly Hitt, official hostess at the 1964 GOP convention in San Francisco. She now is co-chairman of the Nixon for President Committee.

The Nelson A. Rockefeller party and entertainment director is Bertha Adkins, an Oxford, Md., resident who was an undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Both ladies plan events to provide platforms for their candidates to serve political pitches as well as canapes to the delegates. Parties will be held in benchfront hotels, clubs and boats.

Besides the events scheduled by the various contenders and their supporters, the convention goers will be treated to parties and dinners sponsored by the GOP as a whole.

Eight Will Be Inducted

NEW MADRID-Eight men from New Madrid county will leave Tuesday for induction into the armed forces at Memphis.

Listed for induction are Virgil Pratcher, New Madrid; William Henry Yarbro, Jr., Portageville; John Wayn- Crews, Catron; Clifford James Rush, Matthews; Otis McKelly, Parma; John Henry James, Portageville; Tommy Townsend Jr., New Madrid, and Matthew Jones, Lilbourn.

Santa Comes Alive in Idaho

SANTA, Idaho (AP) — Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, nor an economy move stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds to Santa.

The Santa Post Office was one of many across the nation recently scheduled for closing.

There was an immediate outcry from Idaho officials, who noted that thousands of children each year send Christmas letters to Santa. The letters are answered by volunteers among the 100 townsfolk.

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested that maybe the Post Office Department had something against kids.

Tuesday, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced in Washington that the department had changed its mind.

Santa is alive and well in northern Idaho.

Protecting The Ozark Rivers

Governor's Committee Offers Bill for State to Preserve 20 Streams

From The Kansas City Star

"What do you want, a jungle?"

"Yes! We want wilderness. We want some of Missouri's rivers left like they are.

"You see, we're afraid. We're afraid for those streams and rivers. We're afraid that, the way things are going, it won't be many years before our Ozark rivers are either dammed or lined with cabins and other buildings or turned into filthy pools by industrial waste. We're afraid that one of these years we're going to wake up and be told, 'You can't go outside any more.'

The occasion was the House Interior Committee's hearing on H.R. 842, the Missouri Wild Rivers bill.

The bill names 11 river systems—or a total of 20 rivers and streams—to be included in the Ozark Wild Rivers Preservation System; and in most cases, only a part of each stream would be protected.

The streams are the Eleven Point river; the Gasconade-Big Piney-Osage Fork system; North Fork and Bryant creek, the headwaters of Lake Norfork; the Niangua river; the St. Francis-Little St. Francis-Big creek system, which feeds Lake Wappapello; Big Sugar and Indian creeks, Elk river and tributaries, Beaver creek, a Bull Shoals feeder; the Black river, Bull Creek and Swan creek, which enter Lake Taneycomo on the north shore; the James river and the upper Meramec-Huzzah-Courtois system.

Those rivers were selected by the Wild Rivers Advisory Committee, a 10-member group appointed by the Governor to study the rivers and recommend a plan to preserve the best of the streams that still run free.

The bill covers the rivers themselves and the land within sight of the rivers up to an eight-mile on either side. It says that the land may be obtained in four ways: donation, purchase, exchange or condemnation.

Condemnation is an ugly word to many people. To them, it says, "I won't leave and you can't make me." It says "Get off." It says that how it is with it is what you get for it. Get off."

That's not how it is with H.R. 842. The Governor's committee estimates that scenic easements can be taken on 95 per cent-122,902 acres-of the total land required. Only 5 per cent-6468 acres-would be purchased.

The easements, which would be negotiated individually with each landowner, would put in black and white the uses for which the land could be landowner would be paid. He would used without taking away land owners right to use the land.

Bill Schock of St. Louis, a member of the Governor's committee, put it another way. "This is simply zoning, to keep the land bordering the rivers in its natural landscape." To keep the land the way it is now.

A home on the river would not be razed; it would stay. If the owner wanted a little more room and decided he need to add a bedroom, he could. But he would not be allowed to build more houses.

A farmer with 60 acres of bottom land in corn could grow corn-or any other crop-as long as the river runs. If his buildings were within sight of the river or withing that eighth-mile strip, and he needed a new barn, he could build a new barn. But he could not buy off a stand of timber along the river.

So the scenic easement is, in effect, an agreement, arrived at by each landowner and the state agency—the Missouri Conservation Commission. For agreeing to restrict the uses to which he puts his property within range of the outlined limit, the not be handing over rights to his property.

Leo Drey of St. Louis spoke to the House members as, he said, a threeheaded monster. He talked with all three heads. More importantly he made sense with all three.

As a committee member he explained to Representative Harry Hatcher of Neosho-who thinks that 660 feet is a deep piece of land to be included-that the figure is arbitrary.

"If we're talking of bottom land, then we might have to go to the full 660 feet. But if the land we're speaking of is a bluff, then we're going to the top of the bluff, not to the top and only 660 feet back."

As a member of the Ozark Rivers Association he showed of the State Representatives 100 letters of intent, signed by landowners along the Current a and Jacks Fork rivers, who bill. The $4,500,000 would be volunteered to give scenic spend over many years, with easements to the state if the easements or property being Federal Government would not acquired as the money becomes come in. The Government did available.

Part of the money could they pointed out, come from Missouri's share of "This is an indication of he the federal Land and Water feeling of landowners."

As a landowner, Drey Conservation Fund. The explained that he would be remainder would have to be affected by the wild rivers bill. appropriated by the Legislature. He owns 135,000 acres of land, "We don't even need money much of it in the Pioneer forest, now," said Ed Stegner of conservation in forestry," he is necessary now is to establish already making use of Jefferson City, chairman of the logged commercially. "We are Governor's committee. "All that a flowing streams in the United States," he said. "We are in the center of the country. Our rivers are mild, not wild; people can get out on them and negotiate them."

"We will find," he predicted, "in a few years that the rivers are so popular there will be a demand for more."

Other than misunderstanding the workings of the scenic easement, the bill had its roughest time in the finance department.

The cost of insuring a total of 761 miles of the 20 rivers and streams that would be protected was put at about $4,500,000 in a fiscal note appended to the bill. The $4,500,000 would be

FOOD INDUSTRY

The agribusiness picture is brighter this year. Strong consumer demands for food products and adequate supplies of most agricultural commodities should mean improved results for both processors and producers in 1968.

The general economy has surged to higher activity during the first half, as have consumer incomes. Expenditures on food, while not continuing the unusually rapid advance of the first quarter, should be up 5 per cent for the year. Low unemployment, higher wages, increased population, and desires for higher-value food products support this rise.

Coupled with strong demand, supply levels of most commodities suggest livestock prices near or moderately above 1967 levels. Increased stocks of grain and normal yields on 1968 plantings should mean grain prices near support levels.

Profits at the processor and farm levels should be improved from a year ago. Grains in both sectors will be dampened by increased labor and supply costs. Net farm incomes are projected to be up 5 per cent from the $14.5 billion realized in 1967.

Adequate supplies of feed grains seem assured for 1968. Stocks this spring were 12 per cent above a year ago, and prospects are for adequate volume to meet both domestic and foreign requirements.

Corn stocks in April were up 17 per cent. Intended acreage, while expected to be down 8 per cent to 65 million acres, should produce 4.3 to 4.5 billion bushels. New crop developments will sharpen this forecast over the coming weeks, but fall cash prices will likely be in the $1.20 range for No. 2 corn.

What supplies in April totaled 836 million bushels, 19 per cent more than a year ago. The 1968 winter crop may match last year's record; favorable crop forecasts around the world undoubtedly keep the downward pressure on prices at around the $1.25 loan level.

Soybean production has been increasingne more rapidly than demand, particularly in the South, in recent years. With stocks now up 17 per cent acreage increase with this carry-over will hold prices in the $2.60 to $2.70 range this summer, with harvest prices at the $2.50 level.

Hog marketings this summer and fall may nearly match year-ago levels. While spring intentions indicated fewer farrowings for the spring and summer r months, volumes of marketings thys far have been above expectations. With demand strong, hog prices will probably peak in the $21 range during July-August before declining seasonally in the and winter months. These p levels should result in favore feeding ratios for efficient producers.

The cattle industry is ho equally strong position. A l reports showed only 2 per more cattle on feed than a ye quite modest growth for industry. Beef supplies consumers should be year-ago levels this summer fall. Rising demands, howe will mean prices for choice cattle in the $26 to $29 ra (Chicago basis) during this half year, up $1 to $2 fr 1967. Adequate forage, ext feeding capacity, and higher l cattle prices will result in $3 to $3 higher feeder cattle prices late 1968 compared with Broiler marketings for remainder of 1968 are likely be the same or slightly lo than in the fall of 1967. With excessive red meat competition, broilers generally average 1 to 1½ ce higher this fall.

Brudensome turkey sto (up 28 per cent on May 1) force a cutback in production the order of 15 per cent. may find average turkey pric up 2 to 3 cents during the fall marketing period compa with the lows of a year ago.

These adjustments in marketplace and on the natio farms will mean an improv year for most producers a processors in the food indust Declines in realization, wil certain segments will be m than matched by improveme more broadly anticipated.

Influence Of Pope's Edict Small

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

"Many are desperate to control the size of their families," said a well-placed source. "They otherwise have one baby every year, and that keeps them in poverty and it's bad for their health."

The source said that men, from the Pope down, "have always speculated on the moral and theological issues, but it's the women who bear the babies and they make the final decision."

HEW declined official comment on the Pope's encyclical released Monday forbidding Catholic women to use birth control pills or any other mechanical means of contraception.

No figures are available on the number of Catholics among women eligible for family planning services under federally supported programs. But officials say Catholics probably comprise a distinct minority.

HEW officials point out, however, that there are sizeable concentrations of Catholics in low-income brackets, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, HEW's deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning, noted in an interview last predominantly Catholic Puerto Rico has pioneered in family planning programs and they have been extremely popular. But, she said, "It's too early to tell how Catholic women will react to the Pope's statement."

The federal government provided about $28 million in birth control services last year.

President Johnson has asked for $56 million for the current fiscal year. Indications are that Congress will grant only part of the increase.

In another reaction to the Pope's pronouncement, 87 Roman Catholic theologians announced Tuesday in Washington that they were opposed to it and that they believe Catholic couples should use birth control techniques according to their own conscience.

"As Roman Catholic theologians, conscious of our dignity and our limitations," they said, "we conclude that spouses may responsibly decide according to their conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

Houtchens Keep Delegates Free From Unit Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Delbert Houtchens, Missouri Democratic chairman said Tuesday the party will release its national convention delegates from the unit rule but that most still are expected to support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

In announcing Missouri will go along with Humphrey's wish for free delegate choice, Houtchens predicted the vice president still will get about 55 of the 60 Missouri votes at the convention in Chicago.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy protested at the state convention here June 1 when a rule was adopted requiring all delegates to vote for a single candidate if the candidate is supported by at least two-thirds of the delegation.

"We've given the McCarthy people about everything they asked for except half of the Missouri delegation, which they did not have the strength to claim," said Houtchens, who is a Humphrey backer.

The state chairman said the Missouri delegation will caucus in Chicago before the convention and learn how each delegate stands in order that the Missouri vote may be announced on the convention floor.

John Hasse of Kansas City, a spokesman for Sen. McCarthy's Missouri organization, said they will continue circulating petitions demanding an open convention despite Humphrey's release of delegations bound by the unit rule. Hasse said McCarthy backers have obtained nearly 6,000 petition signatures in two weeks.

Pamphlet Deals with Fraud

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Attorney General Norman H. Anderson announced today that a pamphlet dealing with common fraudulent business practices has been completed and is ready for issuance to persons filing complaints with the consumer protection offices.

Anderson said the brochure explains those techniques frequently used in advertising, promotions, and sales which are intended to mislead the consumer public. Emphasis is placed upon "bait and switch" advertising, the bonus display pitch, the "free gift", fraudulent labelling, and selling under false pretense.

Anderson stated that another section of the pamphlet advises the potential purchaser of steps he can take to prevent being swindled and warns specifically against signing blank contracts, accepting oral guarantees, or making agreements without understanding all of the contractual terms.

The consumer protection brochure will be distributed to all persons who register complaints with the Attorney General's offices in St. Louis, Jefferson City, and Kansas City. It will also be made available to all local associations and business offices, with eventua distribution statewide to Missouri residents.

Study Shows Smoking Induces Lung Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking appears to multiply a person's susceptibility to a developing lung disease associated with air pollution, a new American Cancer Society study shows.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, a society vice president, presented preliminary results of the study of 136,896 men between the ages of 40 and 74 to a Senate public works subcommittee Tuesday.

"These findings suggest that occupational exposure to dust, fumes and gases has a greater effect in cigarette smokers than upon cigarette smokers than upon nonsmokers," Hammond said.

"To put it another way, the combination of the two factors appears to have a far greater effect than might be expected from the effect of each of the two alone," he continued.

Emphysema is a chronic lung disease characterized by shortness of breath, fatigue and chronic coughing. The disease has been associated with both heavy cigarette smoking and air pollution.

A surprising finding in the study, Hammond said, is that "indications of emphysema were more common among rural residents than among metropolitan residents."

"There is no firm evidence that general air pollution increases the risk of cancer," he said.

Social Activities Blooming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social activities ranging from breakfasts to fancy parties will be in the political arsenals of the contenders for the Republican presidential nomination at the party's convention next week.

In their efforts to gain the nomination, the GOP campaigners have appointed social directors to provide hospitality to the 2,666 delegates and alternates at the Miami Beach convention.

If a delegate works at it he could spend the entire week receiving everything from his morning orange juice to his evening dinner and drinks, with entertainment thrown in, all without spending his own money.

Richard Nixon's social leader is Patricia Reilly Hitt, official hostess at the 1964 GOP convention in San Francisco. She now is co-chairman of the Nixon for President Committee.

The Nelson A. Rockefeller party and entertainment director is Bertha Adkins, an Oxford, Md., resident who was an undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Both ladies plan events to provide platforms for their candidates to serve political pitches as well as canapes to the delegates. Parties will be held in beachfront hotels, clubs and boats.

Besides the events scheduled by the various contenders and their supporters, the convention goers will be treated to parties and dinners sponsored by the GOP as a whole.

Governor's Committee Offers Bill for State to Preserve 20 Streams

From The Kansas City Star

"What do you want, a jungle?"

"Yes! We want wilderness. We want some of Missouri's rivers left like they are.

"You see, we're afraid. We're afraid for those streams and rivers. We're afraid that, the way things are going, it won't be many years before our Ozark rivers are either dammed or lined with cabins and other buildings or turned into filthy pools by industrial waste. We're afraid that one of these years we're going to wake up and be told, 'You can't go outside any more.'"

The occasion was the House Interior Committee's hearing on H.R. 842, the Missouri Scenic Rivers bill.

The bill names 11 river systems or a total of 20 rivers and streams to be included in the Ozark Wild Rivers Preservation System; and in most cases, only a part of each stream would be protected.

The streams are the Eleven Point river; the Gasconade-Big Piney-Osage River system; North Fork and Bryant creek, the headwaters of Lake Norfork; the Niangua river; the St. Francis-Little St. Francis-Big creek system, which feeds Lake Wappapello; Big Sugar and Indian creeks, Elk river tributaries, Beaver creek, Big Shoals feeder; the Black river, Bull Shoals feeder, and Swan creek, which enter Lake Taneycomo on the north shore; the James river; and the upper Meramec-Huzzah-Courtois system.

Those rivers were selected by the Wild Rivers Advisory Committee, a 15-member group appointed by the Governor to study the rivers and recommend a plan to preserve the best of the streams that still run free.

The bill covers the rivers themselves and the land within sight of the rivers up to an eight-mile on either side. It says that the land may be acquired in four ways: donation, purchase, exchange or condemnation.

Condemnation is an ugly word to many people. To them, it says, "I'll take this land and this is what you get for it. Get off."

That's not how it is with S. 842. The Interior Department estimates that scenic easements can be taken on 5 per cent-122,902 acres-of the total land required. Only 5 per cent-6468 acres-would be purchased.

The easements, which would be negotiated individually with each landowner, would put in black and white the uses for which the land could be landowner would be paid. He would used without taking away land owners' right to use the land.

Bill Schock of St. Louis, a member of the Governor's committee, put it another way: "This is simply zoning, to keep the land bordering the rivers in its natural landscape." To keep the land the way it is now.

A home on the river would not be razed; it would stay. If the owner wanted a little more room and decided he need to add a bedroom, he could. But he would not be allowed to build more houses.

A farmer with 60 acres of bottom land in corn could grow corn or any other crop as long as the river runs. If his buildings were within sight of the river or within that eight-mile strip, and he needed a new barn, he could build a new barn. But he could not log off a stand of timber along the river.

So the scenic easement is, in effect, an agreement, arrived at by each landowner and the state agency-the Missouri Conservation Commision. For agreeing to restrict the uses to which he puts his property within range of the outlined limit, the not be handing over rights to his property.

Leo Drey of St. Louis spoke to the House members as, he said, a threeheaded monster. He talked with all three heads. More importantly he made sense with all three.

As a committee member he explained to Representative Harry Hatcher of Neosho-who thinks that 660 feet is a dirty piece of land to be included-that the figure is arbitrary.

"If we're talking of bottom land, then we might have to go to the full 660 feet. But if the land we're speaking of is a bluff, then we're going to the top of that bluff, not to the top and department.

The cost of insuring a total of 761 miles of the 20 rivers and streams that would be protected was put at about $4,500,000 in a fiscal note appended to the bill. The $4,500,000 would be spread over many years, with condemnation of property being acquired as the money becomes available.

Part of the money could come from Missouri's share of the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund. The remainder would have to be appropriated by the Legislature.

"We don't even need money now," said Ed Stegner of Jefferson City, chairman of the Governor's committee. "All that is necessary now is to establish the Wild River system. That costs no money.

"If we do no more than name the rivers, we will have some assurance the streams will remain free flowing."

The world's first subway system began in 1863 in London, England, using steam locomotives, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Profits at the processor and farm levels should be improved from a year ago. Gains in both sectors will be dampened by increased labor and supply costs. Net farm incomes are projected to be up 5 per cent from the $14.5 billion realized in 1967.

Adequate supplies of feed grains seem assured for 1968. Stocks this spring were 12 per cent above a year ago, and prospects are for sufficient volume to meet both domestic and foreign requirements.

Corn acres in April were up 17 per cent. Intended acreage, while expected to be down 8 per cent to 65 million acres, should produce 4.3 to 4.5 billion bushels. New crop developments will sharpen this forecast over the coming weeks, but fall cash corn will likely be in the $1.00 range for No. 2 corn.

Wheat supplies in April totaled 1.85 million bushels, 19 per cent more than a year ago. The 1968 winter crop may match last year's record, with favorable crop forecasts around the world undoubtedly keeping downward pressure on prices at around the $1.25 loan level.

Soybean production has been increasingsing more rapidly than demand, particularly in the South, in recent years. With stocks now up 17 per cent acreage increase with this carry-over will hold prices in the $2.60 to $2.70 range this summer, with harvest prices at the $2.50 level.

Hog marketings this summer and fall may nearly match year-ago levels. While spring intentions indicated fewer farrowings for the spring and summer r months, volumes of marketings thys far have been above expectations. With demand strong, hog prices will probably peak in the $21 range during July-August bef declining seasonally in the and winter months. These p levels should result in favore feeding ratios for efficient producers.

The cattle industry is hov a basically strong position. A l reports showed only 2 per c more cattle on farms a ye quite modest growth for industry. Beef supplies consumers should be r year-ago levels this summer fall. Rising demands, howe will mean prices for Choice cattle in the $26 to $29 ra (Chicago basis) during this half year, up $1 to $2 fr 1967. Adequate forage, ex feeding capacity and higher f cattle prices will result in $1 $3 higher feeder cattle prices late 1968 compared with year.

Broiler marketings for remainder of 1968 are likely be the same or slightly lo than in the fall of 1967. With excessive red meats competition, broiler generally average 1 to 15 ce higher this fall.

Bradenome turkey sto (up 28 per cent on May 1) v force a cutback in production the order of 15 per cent. may find average turkey pri up 2 to 3 cents during the ma fall months-about 12 per cent with the lows of a year ago.

These adjustments in marketplace and on the natic farms will mean an improv year for most producers a processors in the food indust Declines in realization will certain segments will be mo than matched by improveme more broadly anticipated.

Jane Russell Ends 25 Years Of Marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former film glamor girl Jane Russell has divorced her ex-football star husband, Bob Waterfield, ending a 25-year marriage.

Miss Russell, 47, testified in divorce court Tuesday that her husband was cold and indifferent. He had filed a cross-complaint charging her with habitual intemperance.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $110,000 house in Newport Beach and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family house in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launced her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1943. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Waterfield became quarterback for the professional Los Angeles Rans while his wife starred in scores of pictures during the 1940s and 1950s.

During the last year of their marriage, Miss Russell testified, Waterfield was often out until 2 and 3 a.m. and rarely showed up for dinner.

TIPS ON HOME PLUMBING CARE

Can you imagine the chaos in your home if the plumbing in your bathroom suddenly stopped functioning or if you didn't have running water in the kitchen? Most of us take our plumbing for granted and don't stop to realize that the health, comfort and convenience of the entire family depend on it.

To do its best job for you, your plumbing equipment must be cared for properly. A booklet loaded with tips has been prepared with the help of qualified plumbing contractors. Besides telling you how to keep your equipment in good repair, the booklet also tells you what jobs should be left strictly to qualified contractors because of the danger of cross-connections between the potable water and waste drain lines.

The booklet is titled "Plumbing Care & Repair" and is available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Bank Burglary Attempt Fails

PUXICO-Bank burglars apparently stole a highway department dump truck at Puxico Monday night but were unsuccessful in completing a job at the Puxico State Bank.

The highway patrol reported the thieves apparently stole the 1967 Ford dump truck from the Puxico highway shed with the intention of hauling away a safe from the bank. Locks were cut at both the shed and at the rear entrance to the bank.

The truck was found abandoned Tuesday on highway 51 a mile north of Puxico and only about $1 in change was missing from petty cash drawer at the bank. Sgt. Kenneth Link said the night deposit box apparently had not been tampered with.

A burglar alarm system was disconnected, Link said, and the thieves took the alarm battery with them. The patrol and federal bureau of investigation are investigating.

Basis for Claim

The United States bases its claim to the Swan Islands on the fact that, in 1893, Capt. Alonzo Adams came upon them by chance. He planted a flag and claimed the islands in the name of the United States.

BATHROOM FLOOR CLEANING MADE EASIER

If you're planning a new bathroom or powder room this fall, take a look at off-the-floor water closets before making your final choice.

This advice comes from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, which notes that such fixtures have been used in public washrooms for years because they make floor maintenance easier. Why not have the same convenience in your own home?

Spring has come, winter has went,
It was not did by accident.
The birds have sang, the grass has grew,
The sun is shoned in I and you.
The creeks have ran with melted snow.
St. Francis River done overflow;
The ducks have flew, as you have saw,
And spring has come to Arkansas.

Bank Burglary Attempt Fails

PUXICO-Bank burglars apparently stole a highway department dump truck at Puxico Monday night but were unsuccessful in completing a job at the Puxico State Bank.

The highway patrol reported the thieves apparently stole the 1967 Ford dump truck from the Puxico highway shed with the intention of hauling away a safe from the bank. Locks were cut at both the shed and at the rear entrance to the bank.

The truck was found abandoned Tuesday on highway 51 a mile north of Puxico and only about $1 in change was missing from petty cash drawer at the bank. Sgt. Kenneth Link said the night deposit box apparently had not been tampered with.

A burglar alarm system was disconnected, Link said, and the thieves took the alarm battery with them. The patrol and federal bureau of investigation are investigating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery in Sikeston

Basis for Claim

The United States bases its claim to the Swan Islands on the fact that, in 1893, Capt. Alonzo Adams came upon them by chance. He planted a flag and claimed the islands in the name of the United States.

BATHROOM FLOOR CLEANING MADE EASIER

If you're planning a new bathroom or powder room this fall, take a look at off-the-floor water closets before making your final choice.

This advice comes from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, which notes that such fixtures have been used in public washrooms for years because they make floor maintenance easier. Why not have the same convenience in your own home?

TOURISM is down in France and recent strikes and uprisings are blamed. The well-known Place du Tertre, top, considered one of the gayest spots in Paris, normally would be bustling with tourists but shows a scarcity of strollers. Equally deserted are the beaches of the French Riviera, bottom, where resorts are reporting their worst season in years.

Color: A Vital Part of Life

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Home Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Since textile designer Dorothy Liebes picked up her bachelor's degree in art from San Jose (Calif.) State Teachers College she has made color a vital part of everyone's life.

Seen in her Manhattan apartment decorated in black, red, white and gold, she is a walking exponent of her favorite topic. Miss Liebes was relaxing after a day of photography and interviewing dressed in a light knit of blue, green and purple with green mesh stockings. Certainly the costume helped her hold her own in rooms with soaring ceilings which accommodated a classic mobile over a grand piano and with Oriental art mixed with sharp lines and colors of today's abstract paintings.

"Color," Miss Liebes says in her definite way, "comes first and then texture and composition."

She is happy that we are in a color culture where people can go to museums and study how the professional artists attack and control color. However, she is unhappy that more cities such as New York "have so little exterior color."

She adds that a lot of undistinguished architecture could be improved with more use of color. "Paint covers a lot of mistakes," she feels.

During her career as textile designer and color consultant the Liebes sleight-of-hand with colorations has touched all age groups through her designs in wallpaper, blankets, scarves, tablecloths, carpets, blinds, knits and other clothes. Recent Liebes-directed styles appeared in Morgan Jones bedspreads and Conso trims, for example.

DOROTHY LIEBES, TEXTILE DESIGNER and color consultant, uses color photographs to catch historic or nostalgic moments and also in her work. People afraid of color should look at nature, she says. "There is no bad color, just bad combinations of color."

To present her ideas she follows through with her adamant thought that "you can't talk color. You must see it." For this she has approximately 20,000 dye lots in her studio and travels with at least 10 suitcases of items to show prospective clients.

Another gimmick she uses stems from her interest in photography. "I started taking pictures when I was 8, and I have about 40 books of clippings and personal photographs."

She photographs a design project in color, Miss Liebes explains, and when traveling or entertaining in the apartment or in her summer home fashioned from two Denver and Rio Grande railroad cabooses she greets her guests with a clicking camera. "They all laugh and say, 'Here she comes with her camera,' but they always call for prints."

"Ours is a color culture," she continues, "and we are blessed as a nation with science to allow anyone to have beautiful color prints for decorating."

Her one regret is that some people are born with a blind spot which leads her to advise those shopping for clothes or the home that, "Good color doesn't cost any more than bad."

THREE FACES of Holly Schmidt, 10, who has been named 1968 National Poster Child of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. Holly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schmidt, Saginaw, Mich., poses in swimsuit; makes like a glamor girl with a pet kitten; and beats out a tune on a xylophone.

TOURISM is down in France and recent strikes and uprisings are blamed. The well-known Place du Tertre, top, considered one of the gayest spots in Paris, normally would be bustling with tourists but shows a scarcity of strollers. Equally deserted are the beaches of the French Riviera, bottom, where resorts are reporting their worst season in years.

Color: A Vital Part of Life

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Home Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Since textile designer Dorothy Liebes picked up her bachelor's degree in art from San Jose (Calif.) State Teachers College she has made color a vital part of everyone's life.

Seen in her Manhattan apartment decorated in black, red, white and gold, she is a walking exponent of her favorite topic. Miss Liebes was relaxing after a day of photography and interviewing dressed in a light knit of blue, green and purple with green mesh stockings. Certainly the costume helped her hold her own in rooms with soaring ceilings which accommodated a classic mobile over a grand piano and with Oriental art mixed with sharp lines and colors of today's abstract paintings.

"Color," Miss Liebes says in her definite way, "comes first and then texture and composition."

She is happy that we are in a color culture where people can go to museums and study how the professional artists attack and control color. However, she is unhappy that more cities such as New York "have so little exterior color."

She adds that a lot of undistinguished architecture could be improved with more use of color. "Paint covers a lot of mistakes," she feels.

During her career as textile designer and color consultant the Liebes sleight-of-hand with colorations has touched all age groups through her designs in wallpaper, blankets, scarves, tablecloths, carpets, blinds, knits and other clothes. Recent Liebes-directed styles appeared in Morgan Jones bedspreads and Conso trims, for example.

DOROTHY LIEBES, TEXTILE DESIGNER and color consultant, uses color photographs to catch historic or nostalgic moments and also in her work. People afraid of color should look at nature, she says. "There is no bad color, just bad combinations of color."

To present her ideas she follows through with her adamant thought that "you can't talk color. You must see it." For this she has approximately 20,000 dye lots in her studio and travels with at least 10 suitcases of items to show prospective clients.

Another gimmick she uses stems from her interest in photography. "I started taking pictures when I was 8, and I have about 40 books of clippings and personal photographs."

She photographs a design project in color, Miss Liebes explains, and when traveling or entertaining in the apartment or in her summer home fashioned from two Denver and Rio Grande railroad cabooses she greets her guests with a clicking camera. "They all laugh and say, 'Here she comes with her camera,' but they always call for prints."

"Ours is a color culture," she continues, "and we are blessed as a nation with science to allow anyone to have beautiful color prints for decorating."

Her one regret is that some people are born with a blind spot which leads her to advise those shopping for clothes or the home that, "Good color doesn't cost any more than bad."

Minister's Daughter Protests Sex Education by Parents

Dear Ann Landers: I saw myself in that letter from the 16-year-old minister's daughter who was consumed with guilt because she had let a boy kiss her. Your advice was excellent. I hope she takes it.

My brother and I were P.K.'s (Preacher's Kids). We were taught that sex was sinful and nasty. I was 17 when a boy kissed me on the way home from a church picnic. My father was riding in the car behind us. He saw this. I was punished so severely I was determined to get even. So I became pregnant by a no good bum. My parents sent me to another state and I never did return home after that.

My brother married a very quiet girl (another P.K.) at age 23. Within two years his wife had a nervous breakdown and she later sued him for divorce. The reason: He used to sneak out of the house at night and take up with street tramps. Why? Because he had such a low opinion of sex he couldn't function with a respectable partner. He needed a gutter type.

Fortunately my brother and I have had intensive therapy and are now living decent lives, but we were luckier than most. Please keep telling the teen-agers that sex is nothing to be ashamed of, that properly used it can be beautiful and a meaningful part of life. In fact you ought to write a book about it. -- ARKANSAS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I did -- three years ago. It is called "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex" and can be purchased in paperback for 50 cents. But let's get something straight, Lady, I don't buy the conflict between parent and child that you describe happens in all professions. The dedicated ministers I know raise fine children.

Dear Ann Landers: After publishing the letter signed "Pilloried," I'll bet you are the pin - up girl of every divorced man in the United States. My own soon - to - be shed spouse mailed that column to me and attached a note which read: "See, just like us."

Undoubtedly some men do get picked clean by conniving wives but a few of us deserve whatever we can get from the low - life skunks.

When Guy and I were married, his folks sold their home, bought a trailer and moved to our backyard. Guy has never made an independent decision. It was always, "I'll have to ask Dad."

For eleven years I served Guy his coffee in bed. When I was sick with the flu he went fishing because he was afraid he'd catch it if he "hung around."

I could have tolerated his disregard for me, but I couldn't stand the way he ignored his children. He said it was a woman's job to look after the kids, so he didn't even talk to them.

The day his son waited four hours for his dad to come and take him to a ball game -- and then called to say he couldn't make it -- was the day I decided to get a divorce.

We have $60,000 saved in cash and bonds. I want $500 a month plus $75 support for each child. (We have three.) He is screaming like a stuck pig.

I am asking you to break your rule and print my letter even though you are dead set against divorce. Granted, there's no such thing as a good divorce, but it beats living a lifetime with a mama's boy who is no father, no husband and no human being. ---FREEDOM IT'S BEAUTIFUL

Dear Beautiful: Here's your letter. Surprised to see it in print? I though you'd be.

Man Safe After Swim

CAIRO - Rescue workers searched more than four hours Sunday before finding a missing man who tired to swim the Ohio River.

The Alexander County rescue unit was called to assist in the search about 2 a.m., Sunday after a companion of the man summoned help.

Bob Hubbard and William Cade, both of Cairo, were in a boat in the river near Olmsted when it capsized and sank. Hubbard swam to the Illinois shore and got help. The rescue unit responded.

Bob Thomas of the rescue unit said more help was called for after Cade could not be found.

The search for Cade ended about 7:30 a.m., when the rescue boat found him on the Kentucky bank north of the Olmsted boat dock.

"He was safe and sound," Thomas said. "We went north on the chance he might have swam upstream instead of down, and there he was . . . sitting on the bank waiting for us."

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain. (John 15:16)

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for what the church has meant throughout the ages. Yet even more is required of her in these tough days of crisis. Renew Your church to be equal to her task. As a member, make me so to live and serve that if each other member will do the same, Your church will fulfill her mission. Amen.

Doors in Steam Bath Must Function Easily

THE CASE OF THE FRENZIED CAPTIVE
By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Henry went to a steam bath for his health and it nearly killed him. When it came time to leave the steaming Hades, he found to his chagrin that the door would not open.

Pounding on it in the hopes of being rescued from a fate comparable, in his mind, to that of a boiled lobster, he inadvertently pushed his hand through a glass window in the door and cut it badly. In due course, he sued the proprietor of the steam bath for his injury.

"The door had a faulty latch," he complained in court, "and the steam bath should not have been used until it was fixed."

"While I knew the lock was somewhat defective," answered the proprietor, "that wasn't the cause of Henry's injury. It was due to his own frenzy. Actually, the only thing he had to fear was fear itself. Since it was his own panic that caused him to cut his hand, I can't be held responsible!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you relieve the proprietor of the steam room of responsibility for Henry's injury?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that a steam room can be a device for inflicting grave injuries, including scalding, burning, asphyxiation and even death. Thus, the proprietor of the steam room had a duty to repair the lock on the steamroom door so as to insure its being able to open and close easily. Having placed Henry in a dangerous situation, concluded the judge, the proprietor could not escape responsibility for Henry's injury because Henry, in fright, frenzy or panic added to his danger by an act which, in later serene moments of contemplation, might seem to have been unwise.

Yard of Month Winners Named

NEW MADRID-Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman of the Missouri Community Betterment city beautification project, announced the following yard-of-the-month selections for August.

In ward one, the yard of R. E. Pearson, 311 Locust, was named yard-of-the-month. The yards of Mrs. Pearl Arnold, 629 Mott, and L.L. Schuette, 1002 Mill, received honorable mention.

The yard of L. H. Recker, 1215 Davis, was named outstanding in ward two. Honorable mention awards went to Paul Foster, 1330 Scott, and Mrs. Thelma Funk, 741 Scott.

Mrs. Lena McKee, 170 St. Matthews, received the top award in ward three for yard beautification. The yards of Albert Ransburgh, 902 Main, and John Alfred Hunter, 725 Pinnell, were given honorable mention awards.

Special Election Protest Denied --

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - Without comment, the Missouri Supreme Court Monday refused to look into a special election in the 8th Senatorial District of Jackson County set for August 6 by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The election, which coincides with the state primary, was challenged by Kansas Citians Richard L. Berkley and Robert L. Simpson.

The election was called by Hearnes on June 24 to fill a vacancy that resulted from the death of Sen. John P. Ryan, D-Kansas City. Distirc Democrats ahve chosen State Rep. Donald L. Manford, and the Republican nominee for the special election is Bob Frank of Raytown.

Berkley and Simpson argue that Jackson County Democrats normally turn out a much heavier primary election vote than the Republicans.

given little chance of success in today's session in the face of the current economy drive in Congress.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., sponsored the Pueblo amendment. He said the State Department had done nothing thus far to obtain release of the crewmen "except ask for their return."

"It is time we exercised some pressure," he said, predicting his approach would pressure Communist countries dealing with North Korea to seek release of the crewmen.

But acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Foreign Relations Committee, argued the amendment was a "cruel hoax" that would end in nothing but false hopes for the families of the prisoners.

Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said the Dominick proposal was "silly and meaningless."

Senate Approves Change in Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an amendment to its foreign aid bill which sponsors say could help gain the release of the USS Pueblo's crew, but which critics term "a cruel hoax ... silly and meaningless."

The amendment was added by a 43-29 vote to the pending $1.94-billion bill Tuesday.

It would withdraw, until North Korea releases the 82 crewmen seized last January, presidential authority to make exceptions to an existing law barring U.S. aid to Communist nations.

The President can authorize such aid if he thinks it vital to U.S. security, if the recipient nation is not controlled "by an international Communist conspiracy" and if the aid would spur the receiver toward independence from the Communist bloc.

The aid authorization has been cut more than $1 billion below President Johnson's requests.

Proposals to restore some of the funds for aid to underdeveloped countries were

Dear Hiram:

I would like to take this opportunity to express to you my sincere thanks for the way you handled the incident involving payment by Mr. Jefferson for out-patient services. I feel that credit should go where credit is due, and certainly without your help and cooperation, this account would have been lost.

I am sure that many times you think that your job is a thankless one, and your efforts to help our city go unnoticed, but believe me this is not the case. I think that too many of us just do not take time out to express a big "thanks".

Again, may I express my appreciation to you for the manner in which you conducted yourself, and help in this particular incident.

Washington Report

By Senator Symington

As this report is written, plans call for the Congress to recess this weekend, August 3, for the month of August and then come back to Washington after Labor Day for sessions during September.

Legislation that will probably be postponed until that time includes military appropriations, foreign aid appropriations, gun control legislation, and final action on the President's nominations for the Supreme Court.

Last week and this week have been filled with committee and Senate sessions on a variety of legislative proposals, important both to the urban areas in our State and in farm areas.

HOUSING BILL -- The omnibus housing bill is considered one of the most important measures yet passed in effort to meet the housing need. Included in the bill are provisions for a home ownership assistance program for low-income families, an insurance underwriting provision for damages resulting from civil disorders and riots, flood insurance programs, additional authorization for the model cities and urban mass transportation and Federally assisted water and sewer programs.

Also in the legislation is provision for Federally - chartered, privately funded corporations to plan and carry out the building or rehabilitation of housing for low - and moderate - income families.

AGRICULTURE ACT EXTENDED -- Most important action for people of agriculture was the vote in the Senate (58-18) to extend the 1965 act for four additional years. Following House action, conferences will be needed to work out differences.

No one believes that the type of program we now have is the perfect or final answer to the farm problem, but most farm spokesmen urged the extension of the present Food and Agriculture Act for four years so that farm owners could plan ahead.

PUBLIC WORKS VOTED

Action has been completed on the Public Works Appropriations Bill for fiscal 1969, providing $46,644,000 for Missouri flood control projects.

This appropriation falls short of the Army Engineers capability on a number of projects important to the present and future development of our water resources. Our State is blessed with many important streams and two great rivers, the Missouri and Mississippi, but hundreds of millions of dollars of work has been authorized to control and develop this most valuable natural resource.

Nevertheless, because of the expected $20 billion Federal deficit this fiscal year, after the tax increase and the $6 billion cutback in Federal spending, it was not possible to get full funding on the more than 25 projects we want moved ahead. This is just one more reason why it is so important to bring an end to the Vietnam conflict.

Please keep telling the teen-agers that sex is nothing to be ashamed of, that properly used it can be beautiful and a meaningful part of life. In fact you ought to write a book about it. -- ARKANSAS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I did -- three years ago. It is called "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex" and can be purchased in paperback for 50 cents. But let's get something straight, Lady, I don't buy the conflict between parent and child that you describe happens in all professions. The dedicated ministers I know raise fine children.

Dear Ann Landers: After publishing the letter signed "Pilloried," I'll bet you are the pin - up girl of every divorced man in the United States. My own soon - to - be shed spouse mailed that column to me and attached a note which read: "See, just like us."

Undoubtedly some men do get picked clean by conniving wives but a few of us deserve whatever we can get from the low - life skunks.

When Guy and I were married, his folks sold their home, bought a trailer and moved to our backyard. Guy has never made an independent decision. It was always, "I'll have to ask Dad."

For eleven years I served Guy his coffee in bed. When I was sick with the flu he went fishing because he was afraid he'd catch it if he "hung around."

I could have tolerated his disregard for me, but I couldn't stand the way he ignored his children. He said it was a woman's job to look after the kids, so he didn't even talk to them.

The day his son waited four hours for his dad to come and take him to a ball game -- and then called to say he couldn't make it -- was the day I decided to get a divorce.

We have $60,000 saved in cash and bonds. I want $500 a month plus $75 support for each child. (We have three.) He is screaming like a stuck pig.

I am asking you to break your rule and print my letter even though you are dead set against divorce. Granted, there's no such thing as a good divorce, but it beats living a lifetime with a mama's boy who is no father, no husband and no human being. ---FREEDOM IT'S BEAUTIFUL

Dear Beautiful: Here's your letter. Surprised to see it in print? I though you'd be.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Man Safe After Swim

CAIRO - Rescue workers searched more than four hours Sunday before finding a missing man who tired to swim the Ohio River.

The Alexander County rescue unit was called to assist in the search about 2 a.m., Sunday after a companion of the man summoned help.

Bob Hubbard and William Cade, both of Cairo, were in a boat in the river near Olmsted when it capsized and sank. Hubbard swam to the Illinois shore and got help. The rescue unit responded.

Bob Thomas of the rescue unit said more help was called for after Cade could not be found.

The search for Cade ended about 7:30 a.m., when the rescue boat found him on the Kentucky bank north of the Olmsted boat dock.

"He was safe and sound," Thomas said. "We went north on the chance he might have swam upstream instead of down, and there he was . . . sitting on the bank waiting for us."

Doors in Steam Bath Must Function Easily

THE CASE OF THE FRENZIED CAPTIVE
By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Henry went to a steam bath for his health and it nearly killed him. When it came time to leave the steaming Hades, he found to his chagrin that the door would not open.

Pounding on it in the hopes of being rescued from a fate comparable, in his mind, to that of a boiled lobster, he inadvertently pushed his hand through a glass window in the door and cut it badly. In due course, he sued the proprietor of the steam bath for his injury.

"The door had a faulty latch," he complained in court, "and the steam bath should not have been used until it was fixed."

"While I knew the lock was somewhat defective," answered the proprietor, "that wasn't the cause of Henry's injury. It was due to his own frenzy. Actually, the only thing he had to fear was fear itself. Since it was his own panic that caused him to cut his hand, I can't be held responsible!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you relieve the proprietor of the steam room of responsibility for Henry's injury?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that a steam room can be a device for inflicting grave injuries, including scalding, burning, asphyxiation and even death. Thus, the proprietor of the steam room had a duty to repair the lock on the steamroom door so as to insure its being able to open and close easily. Having placed Henry in a dangerous situation, concluded the judge, the proprietor could not escape responsibility for Henry's injury because Henry, in fright, frenzy or panic added to his danger by an act which, in later serene moments of contemplation, might seem to have been unwise.

Yard of Month Winners Named

NEW MADRID-Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman of the Missouri Community Betterment city beautification project, announced the following yard-of-the-month selections for August.

In ward one, the yard of R. E. Pearson, 311 Locust, was named yard-of-the-month. The yards of Mrs. Pearl Arnold, 629 Mott, and L.L. Schuette, 1002 Mill, received honorable mention.

The yard of L. H. Recker, 1215 Davis, was named outstanding in ward two. Honorable mention awards went to Paul Foster, 1330 Scott, and Mrs. Thelma Funk, 741 Scott.

Mrs. Lena McKee, 170 St. Matthews, received the top award in ward three for yard beautification. The yards of Albert Ransburgh, 902 Main, and John Alfred Hunter, 725 Pinnell, were given honorable mention awards.

Mail Box

Dear Hiram:

I would like to take this opportunity to express to you my sincere thanks for the way you handled the incident involving payment by Mr. Jefferson for out-patient services. I feel that credit should go where credit is due, and certainly without your help and cooperation, this account would have been lost.

I am sure that many times you think that your job is a thankless one, and your efforts to help our city go unnoticed, but believe me this is not the case. I think that too many of us just do not take time out to express a big "thanks".

Again, may I express my appreciation to you for the manner in which you conducted yourself, and help in this particular incident.

Sincerely yours,
Pat E. Jones,
Assistant Administrator

Miniature Car Won By Benton Farm Boy

Danny Kern, 12, route one, Benton, was one of five district winners of a Mini-Lizzie car, in a teenage drawing contest sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Malden.

The small cars are gasoline powered from the rear and have all the features of an oldtimer roadster in miniature.

The Sikeston area winner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Kern.

Other area winners were Tommy Stuart, Malden; Cindy Culbertson, Poplar Bluff; Donald Luther, Kennett; and Glen Rotan, Willow Springs.

Senate Approves Change in Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an amendment to its foreign aid bill which sponsors say could help gain the release of the USS Pueblo's crew, but which critics term "a cruel hoax ... silly and meaningless."

The amendment was added by a 43-29 vote to the pending $1.94-billion bill Tuesday.

It would withdraw, until North Korea releases the 82 crewmen seized last January, presidential authority to make exceptions to an existing law barring U.S. aid to Communist nations.

The President can authorize such aid if he thinks it vital to U.S. security, if the recipient nation is not controlled "by an international Communist conspiracy" and if the aid would spur the receiver toward independence from the Communist bloc.

The aid authorization has been cut more than $1 billion below President Johnson's requests.

Proposals to restore some of the funds for aid to underdeveloped countries were given little chance of success in today's session in the face of the current economy drive in Congress.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., sponsored the Pueblo amendment. He said the State Department had done nothing thus far to obtain release of the crewmen "except ask for their return."

"It is time we exercised some pressure," he said, predicting his approach would pressure Communist countries dealing with North Korea to seek release of the crewmen.

But acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Foreign Relations Committee, argued the amendment was a "cruel hoax" that would end in nothing but false hopes for the families of the prisoners.

Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said the Dominick proposal was "silly and meaningless."

The Maltese cross has eight sharp points.

Special Election Protest Denied —

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - Without comment, the Missouri Supreme Court Monday refused to look into a special election in the 8th Senatorial District of Jackson County set for August 6 by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The election, which coincides with the state primary, was challenged by Kansas Citians Richard L. Berkley and Robert L. Simpson.

The election was called by Hearnes on June 24 to fill a vacancy that resulted from the death of Sen. John P. Ryan, D-Kansas City. Distirc Democrats ahve chosen State Rep. Donald L. Manford, and the Republican nominee for the special election is Bob Frank of Raytown.

Berkley and Simpson argue that Jackson County Democrats normally turn out a much heavier primary election vote than the Republicans.

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain. (John 15:16)

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for what the church has meant throughout the ages. Yet even more is required of her in these tough days of crisis. Renew Your church to be equal to her task. As a member, make me so to live and serve that if each other member will do the same, Your church will fulfill her mission. Amen.

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 31, the 213th day of 1968. There are 153 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in history:

On this date in 1777, the Marquis de Lafayette offered his services to the struggling American colonies, and the 20-yearold French nobleman was commissioned a major general.

On this date:

In 1498, Columbus discovered the island of Trinidad.

In 1556, the founder of the Roman Catholic Jesuit order, Ignatius of Loyola, died.

In 1790, the U.S. government issued its first patent—to Samuel Hopkins for a process in making potash.

In 1917, the World War I Battle of Flanders began.

In 1945, the French occupation leader, Pierre Laval, surrendered to U.S. occupation authorities in Austria after being denied refuge in Spain.

In 1953, race riots broke out in Chicago's Trumbull Park housing project after a Negro family moved into the white community.

Ten years ago — Fifty persons were injured in a train derailment in Oak Creek, Wis.

Five years ago — The U.N. Security Council called for an embargo on arms sent to Portugal for use in maintaining her rule over African territories.

One year ago — An uneasy calm returned to Milwaukee's Negro district after rioting.

North Carolina's Mt. Mitchell is named for Dr. Elisha Mitchell, who first measured it.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., AUG. 3, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you – or some beloved member of your family tomorrow . . . next week . . . next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do with your pay check stopped, but liying expenses still going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that . . . Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00 – or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year – at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments . . . at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and – best of all . . .

. . . The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost. You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan(#HP 18L-1067) . . .

PAYS Up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH — if you need a full time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital — up to 50 weeks.

PAYS $1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.

PAYS Up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.

PAYS Up to $5,000.00 when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.

PAYS you cash benefits that increase each year . . . to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK . . . at no extra cost to you

NO age limit — no medical examination required

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare – or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week . . . EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that – after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week – for as long as you need the nurse – even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential . . .

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days – as long as necessary – you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home . . . you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan . . . and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able

As a special consideration to you – if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL – TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON
Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time – direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone – and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensible x-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown in the enrollment form — just a few days from today

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy – only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive the Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then – show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still – show it to your own insurance man . . . even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below . . . even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III—FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us — or because of advanced age – but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
The full amounN You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.)
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
You certainly will . . . regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day . . . or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢ — that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
$100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits . . . at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes . . . when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish — for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (excluding Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?
Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this policy ?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?
Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application — just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility — and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join?

It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential . . .

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days – as long as necessary – you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home . . . you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan . . . and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able

As a special consideration to you – if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL – TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time – direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone – and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensible x-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown in the enrollment form — just a few days from today

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy – only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive the Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then – show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still – show it to your own insurance man . . . even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below . . . even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III—FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us – or because of advanced age – but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
The full amount You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.)

2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
You certainly will . . . regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day . . . or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.

3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢ — that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.

4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
$100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits . . . at no extra cost to you!

5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.

6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes . . . when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.

7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.

9. How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish – for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.

10. May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.

11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.

12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.

13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (excluding Waiver of Premium).

14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?
Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.

15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.

17. What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.

18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance, and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.

19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.

20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?
Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application – just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility – and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.

22. How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!

23. How do I join?
Fill out your brief enrollment form and mail it, with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

MRS. BILL ADKISON, 309 Wilbur St., East Prairie, works on a potrait of a friend of her daughter.

Mrs. Bill Adkison, East Prairie, Paints, Plays Organ

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 97th in a series of articles about the home life of Sikeston area families.—

By RUTH DILLENDER

EAST PRAIRIE—Mrs. Dickey Adkison, 309 Wilbur St., is a talented artist. She works with oils and pastels. Mrs. Adkison is completing a portrait of a friend of her daughter. She is copying the girl's face from a colored photograph.

Mrs. Adkison's husband, Bill, is an agent for the Mississippi County Gas and Oil Company and farms. Mrs. Adkison works at the company half a day.

The Adkisons have lived in East Prairie all their lives.

Their daughter, Marla, 19, is attending the summer session at Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif. She is living with a friend and family in Escondido. She attended Central Methodist College in Fayette. She will be a sophomore at Murray State University in Murray, Ky., this fall.

Miss Adkison plans to major in art and go into the commercial art field.

Mrs. Adkison says she plays the organ for her own enjoyment. She raises roses and freezes and cans fruits and vegetables raised on their farm.

The family attends Nelson Memorial Methodist church.

Mrs. Adkison says she has no set routine.

Prized possessions in the Adkison home are a round wooden table made before the Civil War, a 1919 watch box and razor strop that belonged to her great-grandfather, and a pitcher from the World's Fair held in 1904 in St. Louis.

Miss Adkison has a clock that belonged to her great-great-grandfather.

Recipes Mrs. Adkison suggests are:

BAKED LASAGNA

1 pound Italian sausage, bulk pork sausage or ground beef
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon parsley falkes
1 tablespoon basil
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1 pound can tomatoes
2 6 ounce cans tomato paste
1 10 ounce package wide or lasagna noodles
2 12 ounce carton large curd cream style cottage cheese
2 beaten eggs
2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoon parsley flakes
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
1 pound mozzarella or American cheese, sliced thin

Brown meat slowly; spoon off excess fat. Add next six ingredients to meat. Simmer, uncovered till thick 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Cook noodles in boiling salt water till tender, drain, rinse in cold water.

Meanwhile combine cottage cheese with the next five ingredients.

Place half the noodles in 13 by 9 by 2 inch baking dish; spread half of the cottage cheese mixture over; add half of the mozzarella cheese and half the meat mixture over that. Repeat layers. Bake in moderate oven 375 for 30 minutes. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes beofre cutting in squares filling will set slightly. Makes 12 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE DELIGHT

1 small box cottage cheese
1/3 cup cucumber, diced fine
1 tablespoon onion grated
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3 tablespoon Mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon worchester sauce
1/2 teaspoon black pepper, peppercorns ground
1/2 teaspoon salt

Chill and serve as salad, or slice fresh tomatoes and use as stuffing.

This also can be used as a dip by adding 1 can of crab meat and five drops of tobacco sauce.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

2 cups crushed pineapple
Juice of one lemon
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup grated american cheese
1/2 pint whipping cream, whipped

DRESSING

1 cup Hallmans mayonnaise
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon celery, chopped
1 teaspoon onion
1 teaspoon green pepper chopped

Meat crushed pineapple, add juice of lemon and sugar. Soak: gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water 10 minutes. Add gelatin to pineapple, mix and cool. Add 1 cup grated cheese and 1/2 pint whipping cream. Stir and mold.

Mix ingredients for dressing and fold on top of salad. Let set overnight before serving.

Mrs. Adkison suggests molding this salad in a round mold and serving the dressing in the center.

Construction and Right of Way Program Totals $1 Billion

The five year right of way and construction program of the Missouri State Highway Commission, beginning July 1, 1968, totals slightly less than one billion dollars, according to a statement issued today by Chief Engineer M. J. Snider.

The program covers all categories of state highways and is distributed to all areas of the state.

The Interstate, Primary, and Supplementary systems account for approximately $838,420,000 of the total.

The Urban program amounts to $157,514,000 with $48,941,000 of the total in the Kansas City Urban Area and $72,955,000 confined to the St. Louis Urban Area. The balance of the urban program totaling $35,618,000 is planned for other urban areas throughout the state. An urban area is one with 5,000 or more population.

The Hill Cumorah Pageant

More than 450 persons will participate in the 31st annual religious pageant at Palmyra, N.Y. The outdoor spectacle depicts the rise and fall of an ancient American civilization according to the Book of Mormon. It will be presented July 29-Aug. 3 on the broad slope of Hill Cumorah.

time-established principles of right reason and scientific research."

A spokesman for Archbishop Terenece J. Cooke of New York said the papal decree was "an authoritative teaching on the part of the Pope that does require assent by Catholics."

"Rome has spoken," said Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, "and for the time being the case is closed."

In Washington a group claiming to speak for 142 of the 1,223 clergymen in the archdiocese went on record against the anticipated ban last Saturday, saying in a letter to Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle:

"Many of your priests cannot in conscience follow this directive because it gives no room for either probable opinion regarding the practice of contraception or the right of conscience so clearly enunciated in the documents of Vatican II."

Mary Louise Birmingham, a Catholic housewife and editor of Hackensack, N.J., said: "The papacy is an outmoded institution, something like the English monarchy. Catholics are paying less and less attention to it."

"I don't care what the Pope says," said Maryann Napolie, a young Manhattan housewife and mother of two. "I have the feeling the clergy are talking to themselves on this issue. I've made my decision, and couldn't care less about people at the Vatican who are designing another Galileo case."

Jewish and Protestant leaders and officials of population control organizations were generally critical of the Pope's stand as were some medical authorities.

Evangelist Billy Graham, arriving in New York from Paris, said: "In general I would disagree with it. Anyone who travels has seen we need some form of birth control."

Graham added: "Within the framework of marriage, there is no such sin as sex."

Outside the United States, there was also a good deal of negative reaction.

Anglican bishops attending the Lambeth Conference in London expressed fears that the encyclical would harm closer relations between Anglicans and Roman Catholics.

Belgians heard a Jesuit priest, Father Delepierre, declare over their national radio: "The Pope's encyclical is not the language that people expected. It appeals to a very high ideal but is too remote from the daily life of Catholics."

Reactions Sharply Divided On Birth Control Ruling

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some Roman Catholics have reacted with dissent or indifference to Pope Paul VI's encyclical against birth control while others hailed the papal statement as refreshing and a reaffirmation of Christian truth.

The Pope, in a long-awaited pronouncement Monday, upheld the prohibition on all artificial means of contraception and appealed to leaders of civil governments everywhere to outlaw contraception, sterilization and abortion as means of limiting population.

Most liberal Catholics who spoke out after the announcement took the view that those among the world's half billion Catholics who already use modern birth control methods would continue to do so based on the belief that sexual morality is a matter of conscience.

Gerald L. Fitzgerald, a Catholic layman and official of the Christian Family Movement, said in New York: "I suspect that Pope Paul and a lot of church authorities are going to be surprised by the lack of concern caused by the encyclical.

"If Pope Paul had come out with it four or three or even two years ago, it might have made a difference," he said. "But by now I think that most couples who have been struggling with the problem have made up their minds and settled their consciences."

Commonweal, a liberal weekly journal edited by Catholics, said in an editorial for publication this week: "For millions of lay people, the birth control question has been confronted, prayed over and settled—and not in the direction of the Pope's encyclical."

On another note, Triumph magazine, which voices a Conservative viewpoint, declared the papal statement was "a courageous reaffirmation of Christian truth" that "invites the world to return to moral sanity."

Most Catholic prelates and priests preferred not to comment until they had seen the official text of the Pope's encyclical. Some, however, did voice their views.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, a conservative, found the Pope's statement "refreshing" and "in conformity with

BILL BOON examines construction of strip-plow at Portageville. Top shares move all trash into the middles.

DR. LEO DUCLOS stands in a plot worked by strip-plow at the Delta Center in Portageville. Wheat stubble was knee high before working rows are free of trash beneath and above the plowed strip.

Tillage Tool Tried

PORTAGEVILLEA new minimum tillage tool was tried out at the Delta Center reports E. B. Nace, area farm management agent. The strip-till plow and planter was developed by J. S. McKibben, agriucltural engineer at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

The plow-planter unit is designed to work under trashy conditions in shredded corn stalks or wheat stubble with no preparation. The unit works a strip 14 inches wide and 8 to 10 inches deep, leaving the tilled strip free of trash underneath and on the surface. All the trash is swept to the middles leaving the planted row practically level with the rest of the field.

It is amazing to watch this machine invert a strip of soil and sweep it trash free and plant it in one oepration. One of its big advantages is that it does not work any trash into the tilled strip to keep it fluffy so that moisture is lost. Seed are planted in a firmed seedbed for moisture conservation and quick germination. Moisture for germination is the key to a stand of beans after wheat and this method of tillage can conserve this moisture.

After crops are planted the middles can be cultivated with a set of half-plows of the same design or with conventional cultivators.

Most of the research with this strip-plow has been done in old corn stalks or small grain stubble planted to corn. We can see real promise here for its use on soybean land with our regular crop and on wheat land planted to beans.

No burning of straw is necessary. The unit can begin to plow and plant right behind the combine. It works well where a straw spreader is used on a combine, thus eliminating the straw chopper which requires a lot of horsepower.

In comparing the time and fuel required to plant an acre the strip-plow is way out in front of breaking and wheel track planting. Wheel track planting required 115 minutes per acre to break, plant and cultivate one acre and used 3.28 gallons of fuel. The strip-plow required 72 minutes to prepare, plant and cultivate one acre and used 1.86 gallons of fuel.

Professor McKibben says most of the old crop residue seems to disappear from the middles after the first cultivation. Apparently a little mixing of the trash and soil at the surface causes rapid decomposition and this trash has not been a problem.

The machine is ready for commercial production. Manufacturers can get the details of design from Professor McKibben.

The Outlook for Business

For the last six months of 1968

CREDIT OF INTEREST RATES
HOMER J. LIVINGSTON
Chairman of the Board of
The First National Bank of Chicago

The past six months have witnessed a sharp pickup in consumer spending. In the first quarter, consumer expenditures surged upward at an annual rate of nearly $17 billion, which was more than double the average quarterly incrdase of the past two years. Preliminary figures indicate that consumer spending continued strong in the second quarter.

Government expenditures also rose more sharply than budgeted last January, reflecting in part a $2.5 billion supplemental defense appropriation.

The U. S. dollar came under speculative pressure early in 1968 as a wave of uncertainty about the durability of the price of gold at $35 an ounce swept the foreign exchange markets of the world.

As a result of these developments, it became increasingly clear that:

(1) the deficit in the federal budget was widening; the proliminary estimate of the deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30 is $25 billion;

(2) inflationary pressures were intensifying; the cost of living rose at an annual rate of over 4¼ per cent in recent months;

(3) a policy of fiscal and monetary restraint was essential if inflation was to be checked and foreign confidence in the dollar retained.

The Federal Reserve authorities did firm monetary policy, raising reserve requirements and increasing the discount rate twice, in an effort to defend the dollar and curb inflationary pressures. With Congressional delay in approving an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures, the monetary authorities slowly but persistently tightened the rein on credit. Reflecting these developments, the reserve position of the nation's banks also tightened, and interest rates moved sharply higher, many touching record levels in recent weeks.

These trends are likely to persist at least for a time in the last half of 1968, even with the tax increase. The need for fiscal restraint - an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures - is of critical importance. The fact that it was delayed is unfortunate, for it permitted inflationary pressures to develop which will take a considerable period to dissipate. It also has necessitated a degree of monetary restraint that otherwise might not have been required. The impact of a restrictive monetary policy is uneven, with particularly adverse effects in such areas as home building and municipal financing. A more balanced program with both fiscal and monetary restraint would have been preferable.

With the approval now of the tax-spending legislation, economic activity and the rise in business are likely to begin to moderate by the end of the year. With a less expansive fiscal policy and with the continuance at least for a time of the present restrictive monetary policy, the rate of economic growth will lessen. In these circumstances, the upward pressure on prices and in the financial markets will not be as great.

Federal Reserve policy will necessarily be closely related to the trends in economic activity in the last half of the year. There is at present little evidence that it would be desirable in the next month or so to have a significantly less restrictive monetary policy. While interest rates will probably remain firm in the months immediately ahead, especially with a continued heavy demand for funds, it is my judgment that with the tax increase and a reduction in spending, rates will begin to level out and perhaps edge moderately lower by the end of the year.

INSURANCE

A FORM OF LIFE INSURANCE

A late issue of "International Agricultural Development," published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, contains some hard facts about food production and pest control that tell, in some measure at least, why a large part of the peoples of the earth suffer from mal- nutrition. It notes that crop losses in developing nations of 25, 50 or even 80 per cent are not uncommon. These losses are caused mainly by weeds and pests. Underdeveloped countries, where little progress has been made in pesticide application, suffer the heaviest losses.

In the words of the Department of Agriculture publication: "The direct food loss to insects and other pests is large; minimum estimates of world losses range from 20 to 30 per cent of the total food produced." It then describes the need for expanded production of chemical aids to weed and pest control. It says, all types will be needed--insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, nematocides, and rodenticides. And it goes on to poin out that "....agencies responsible for the safety of our food supply...agree that pesticides, used wisely, are safe."

The U.S. pesticide industry is a world leader in producing crop-saving chemicals and is also a leader in educating everyone to their proper use. Pesticides have become a form of worldwide life insurance for future food supplies. This should be recognized by adaption of international agreements concerning such matters as residue tolerances which will permit the export of U.S. knowledge and chemical products to lands where they are most needed.

As the Agriculture Department publication makes obvious the research and enterprise of our pesticide industry have put at man's disposal the means to greatly increase world food supplies. In the name of humanity, these blessings should be utilized to the fullest.

Postal Exemption Bill Clears Hurdles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt postal workers from a government personnel cutback has cleared two more congressional hurdles en route to probable passage.

The measure zipped through a conference committee and the full Senate Tuesday and was sent to the House today for final action.

There was no debate as the Senate stamped approval on the measure which some members have called "blackmail."

Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson has told Congress that if it does not exempt his 726,400 employes before adjourning for the political conventions, the first in a series of service curtailments will begin Saturday. These include cutting Saturday window service to a maximum of two hours, putting street box collections on Sunday schedules and closing the first of several hundred fourth class branches.

Under President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax bill, which includes a $6-billion cut in federal spending, all government agencies must cut back to the June 1966 manpower level by filling only three in every four vacancies.

This would have trimmed the postal staff by more than 83,000 workers at a time when Watson says the Post Office workload is increasing.

The Senate already has approved exemptions for the FBI and for for assistant U.S. attorneys.

On August 6, the people of Missouri can choose a U.S. Senator destined for greatness.

WIN WITH Tom Eagleton

We need Tom Eagleton's vigor, his intelligence, his keen sense of justice. Most of all, we need his fresh solutions to today's problems

A seat in the United States Senate can't be bought. It has to be earned.

As our Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General and as Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, Tom Eagleton has earned the respect and confidence of the people of Missouri—and national recognition as one of America's outstanding young leaders.

With your help, Tom Eagleton offers a brilliant future of service—not just to the special-interest few, but to all Missourians.

As our United States Senator, Tom Eagleton will continue to make Missouri proud.

"...we favor his nomination..."

"Mr. Eagleton at 38 is in his prime. He was an exceptionally able Circuit Attorney, an exceptionally able Attorney General, an exceptionally able Lieutenant Governor. Having thus gone through a rigorous period of political training, he is ripe for higher office, and Missouri would be the loser if his talents were not made use of."

BILL BOON examines construction of strip-plow at Portageville. Top shares move all trash into the middles.

DR. LEO DUCLOS stands in a plot worked by strip-plow at the Delta Center in Portageville. Wheat stubble was knee high before working rows are free of trash beneath and above the plowed strip.

Tillage Tool Tried

PORTAGEVILLEA new minimum tillage tool was tried out at the Delta Center reports E. B. Nace, area farm management agent. The strip-till plow and planter was developed by J. S. McKibben, agriucltural engineer at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

The plow-planter unit is designed to work under trashy conditions in shredded corn stalks or wheat stubble with no preparation. The unit works a strip 14 inches wide and 8 to 10 inches deep, leaving the tilled strip free of trash underneath and on the surface. All the trash is swept to the middles leaving the planted row practically level with the rest of the field.

It is amazing to watch this machine invert a strip of soil and sweep it trash free and plant it in one oepration. One of its big advantages is that it does not work any trash into the tilled strip to keep it fluffy so that moisture is lost. Seed are planted in a firmed seedbed for moisture conservation and quick germination. Moisture for germination is the key to a stand of beans after wheat and this method of tillage can conserve this moisture.

After crops are planted the midddles can be cultivated with a set of half-plows of the same design or with conventional cultivators.

Most of the research with this strip-plow has been done in old corn stalks or small grain stubble planted to corn. We can see real promise here for its use on soybean land with our regular crop and on wheat land planted to beans.

No burning of straw is necessary. The unit can begin to plow and plant right behind the combine. It works well where a straw spreader is used on a combine, thus eliminating the straw chopper which requires a lot of horsepower.

In comparing the time and fuel required to plant an acre the strip-plow is way out in front of breaking and wheel track planting. Wheel track planting required 115 minutes per acre to break, plant and cultivate one acre and used 3.28 gallons of fuel. The strip-plow required 72 minutes to prepare, plant and cultivate one acre and used 1.86 gallons of fuel.

Professor McKibben says most of the old crop residue seems to disappear from the middles after the first cultivation. Apparently a little mixing of the trash and soil at the surface causes rapid decomposition and this trash has not been a problem.

The machine is ready for commercial production. Manufacturers can get the details of design from Professor McKibben.

The Outlook for Business

For the last six months of 1968

CREDIT OF INTEREST RATES
HOMER J. LIVINGSTON
Chairman of the Board of The First National Bank of Chicago

The past six months have witnessed a sharp pickup in consumer spending. In the first quarter, consumer expenditures surged upward at an annual rate of nearly $17 billion, which was more than double the average quarterly incrdase of the past two years. Preliminary figures indicate that consumer spending continued strong in the second quarter.

Government expenditures also rose more sharply than budgeted last January, reflecting in part a $2.5 billion supplemental defense appropriation.

The U. S. dollar came under speculative pressure early in 1968 as a wave of uncertainty about the durability of the price of gold at $35 an ounce swept the foreign exchange markets of the world.

As a result of these developments, it became increasingly clear that:

(1) the deficit in the federal budget was widening; the proliminary estimate of the deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30 is $25 billion;

(2) inflationary pressures were intensifying; the cost of living rose at an annual rate of over 4¼ per cent in recent months;

(3) a policy of fiscal and monetary restraint was essential if inflation was to be checked and foreign confidence in the dollar retained.

The Federal Reserve authorities did firm monetary policy, raising reserve requirements and increasing the discount rate twice, in an effort to defend the dollar and curb inflationary pressures. With Congressional delay in approving an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures, the monetary authorities slowly but persistently tightened the rein on credit. Reflecting these developments, the reserve position of the nation's banks also tightened, and interest rates moved sharply higher, many touching record levels in recent weeks.

These trends are likely to persist at least for a time in the last half of 1968, even with the tax increase. The need for fiscal restraint - an increase in taxes and a reduction in expenditures - is of critical importance. The fact that it was delayed is unfortunate, for it permitted inflationary pressures to develop which will take a considerable period to dissipate. It also has necessitated a degree of monetary restraint that otherwise might not have been required. The impact of a restrictive monetary policy is uneven, with particularly adverse effects in such areas as home building and municipal financing. A more balanced program with both fiscal and monetary restraint would have been preferable.

With the approval now of the tax-spending legislation, economic activity and the rise in business are likely to begin to moderate by the end of the year. With a less expansive fiscal policy and with the continuance at least for a time of the present restrictive monetary policy, the rate of economic growth will lessen. In these circumstances, the upward pressure on prices and in the financial markets will not be as great.

Federal Reserve policy will necessarily be closely related to the trends in economic activity in the last half of the year. There is at present little evidence that it would be desirable in the next month or so to have a significantly less restrictive monetary policy. While interest rates will probably remain firm in the months immediately ahead, especially with a continued heavy demand for funds, it is my judgment that with the tax increase and a reduction in spending, rates will begin to level out and perhaps edge moderately lower by the end of the year.

INSURANCE

A FORM OF LIFE INSURANCE

A late issue of "International Agricultural Development," published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, contains some hard facts about food production and pest control that tell, in some measure at least, why a large part of the peoples of the earth suffer from mal- nutrition. It notes that crop losses in developing nations of 25, 50 or even 80 per cent are not uncommon. These losses are caused mainly by weeds and pests. Underdeveloped countries, where little progress has been made in pesticide application, suffer the heaviest losses.

In the words of the Department of Agriculture publication: "The direct food loss to insects and other pests is large; minimum estimates of world losses range from 20 to 30 per cent of the total food produced." It then describes the need for expanded production of chemical aids to weed and pest control. It says, all types will be needed--insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, nematocides, and rodenticides. And it goes on to poin out that ".....agencies responsible for the safety of our food supply...agree that pesticides, used wisely, are safe."

The U.S. pesticide industry is a world leader in producing crop-saving chemicals and is also a leader in educating everyone to their proper use. Pesticides have become a form of worldwide life insurance for future food supplies. This should be recognized by adaption of international agreements concerning such matters as residue tolerances which will permit the export of U.S. knowledge and chemical products to lands where they are most needed.

As the Agriculture Department publication makes obvious the research and enterprise of our pesticide industry have put at man's disposal the means to greatly increase world food supplies. In the name of humanity, these blessings should be utilized to the fullest.

Postal Exemption Bill Clears Hurdles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt postal workers from a government personnel cutback has cleared two more congressional hurdles en route to probable passage.

The measure zipped through a conference committee and the full Senate Tuesday and was sent to the House today for final action.

There was no debate as the Senate stamped approval on the measure which some members have called "blackmail."

Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson has told Congress that if it does not exempt his 726,400 employes before adjourning for the political conventions, the first in a series of service curtailments will begin Saturday.

These include cutting Saturday window service to a maximum of two hours, putting street box collections on Sunday schedules and closing the first of several hundred fourth class branches.

Under President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax bill, which includes a $6-billion cut in federal spending, all government agencies must cut back to the June 1966 manpower level by filling only three in every four vacancies.

This would have trimmed the postal staff by more than 83,000 workers at a time when Watson says the Post Office workload is increasing.

The Senate already has approved exemptions for the FBI and for for assistant U.S. attorneys.

On August 6, the people of Missouri can choose a U.S. Senator destined for greatness.

WIN WITH Tom Eagleton

We need Tom Eagleton's vigor, his intelligence, his keen sense of justice. Most of all, we need his fresh solutions to today's problems

A seat in the United States Senate can't be bought. It has to be earned.

As our Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General and as Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, Tom Eagleton has earned the respect and confidence of the people of Missouri—and national recognition as one of America's outstanding young leaders.

With your help, Tom Eagleton offers a brilliant future of service—not just to the special-interest few, but to all Missourians.

As our United States Senator, Tom Eagleton will continue to make Missouri proud.

"...we favor his nomination..."

"Mr. Eagleton at 38 is in his prime. He was an exceptionally able Circuit Attorney, an exceptionally able Attorney General, an exceptionally able Lieutenant Governor. Having thus gone through a rigorous period of political training, he is ripe for higher office, and Missouri would be the loser if his talents were not made use of."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, June 11, 1968

Vote for Tom Eagleton, Democrat— a Senator for all Missourians.

Lightest Mexico

Mexico City -- From time to time we get letters asking "please send me your questions on Mexico." There is no such publication. It is a matter of you write me your questions and I will try to answer them in this column. Also, a number of readers keep sending envelopes with U. S. stamps. About the best suggestion is to grab it like you would take a train up home and ride. However, since rail travel in Mexico is so inexpensive I would suggest you get a compartment and just ride to your heart's content. A compartment costs very little more than a pullman berth and gives you privacy and greater comfort. It is air conditioned in the summer and will be heated in the winter. You won't have any problems. Just come on down and have some fun. I have been traveling a lot by train lately and have enjoyed every trip I've made. The trains here run slower than ours do up home but it gives you a chance to study the real estate.

WOULD IT BE SAFE FOR ME TO RIDE BUS FOR THE BORDER TO MEXICO CITY AND BACK?

Yes ma'am, it would. There is nothing in the world that will bother you on the buses down here unless it is wanting to get up and walk around. You'll ride a pullman bus and will find it offers no hazards.

WHERE DO YOU FIND GOOD GUIDES FOR MOST INTERESTING PLACES?

Check with the hotel where you stay or with a travel agency. All the first class hotels have bonded guides and the travel agencies can put you in touch with one to take you wherever you want to go.

IF YOU DO NOT HAVE BIRTH CERTIFICATE TO CROSS BORDER WILL VOTING REGISTRATION CARD DO?

It should but you might make an effort to get a birth certificate. The purpose of this is to have documentary evidence of your U. S. citizenship. Generally, the Mexican immigration officials are easy going about such matters but a birth certificate will remove all questions.

WHAT SHOTS DO WE NEED BEFORE ENTERING MEXICO?

You need a smallpox vaccination. You might be able to enter Mexico without one but you could not get back in the U. S. without it. Just go to the U. S. Health Department office at the point you leave the county and ask for the vaccination. Typhoid shots wouldn't hurt although they are not required on either side of the border.

CAN AMERICAN CITIZENS OWN LAND IN MEXICO?

Yes, under certain conditions. But you should check with an attorney here before trying to buy.

WORKER SPEAKS OUT AGAINST COMPULSORY UNIONISM AT DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM COMMITEEE MEETING

John Willson, a worker from Neosho, Missouri, cited compulsory unionism as the reason for the recent loss of his job.

In a prepared statement to the Party Platform Delegates to the Democratic National Convention at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis, Willson said, "Compulsory unionism is the vehicle by which union officials and management took my job away. If Missouri had a Right To Work Law, I would not have been fired."

Willson, Vice President of the Missourians For Right To Work, and a Director of the National Right To Work Committee, was a turret lathe operator for Rocketdyne, Division of North American Rockwell Corporation, the Neosho for 7 years before the plant closed.

Continental Aviation and Engineering Corporation, owned by Ryan Aeronautical Corporation of San Diego, reopened the plant in February, and hired Willson in April. Without a certification election a union contract was entered into by Continental and the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, Local 1070 (UAW).

The contract contains compulsory union shop clauses, which require all employees to join within 30 days of employment, or else lose their jobs. Willson said, "I was officially notified in June that the company and the UAW had signed a contract April 29, 1968, retroactive to April 15, which contained a compulsory union shop clause, and that I had to join the union and pay dues, or be fired."

"To this date, there has been no representation election to show that the UAW properly represents the Continental Employees. To this date, the contract has not been voted on and ratified."

Willson refused to join the union, and was fired on June 28. He has a case pending before the National Labor Relations Board, against both the company and the union.

Gene Mittelberg, Executive Secretary of Missourians For Right To Work, also submitted a statement to the Platform Committee urging consideration of the plank calling for retention of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Section 14 (b) reaffirms the power of States to pass Right To Work Laws outlawing compulsory unionism.

Mr. Mittelberg said, "It is ironic that in this era of particular concern over the civil rights of individuals that it is necessary to plead for the right of an individual to work at his chosen profession, regardless of color, creed, religion or affiliation."

Mittelberg also urged the committee to consider a plank endorsing the "Federal Employees Right To Work Bill which would write President John F. Kennedy's Executive Order # 10988 of 1962 into federal law protecting the right of federal employees to join and assist labor organizations, and the right to refrain from all such activities."

Continental Aviation and Engineering Corporation, owned by Ryan Aeronautical Corporation of San Diego, reopened the plant in February, and hired Willson in April. Without a certification election a union contract was entered into by Continental and the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, Local 1070 (UAW).

The contract contains compulsory union shop clauses, which require all employees to join within 30 days of employment, or else lose their jobs. Willson said, "I was officially notified in June that the company and the UAW had signed a contract April 29, 1968, retroactive to April 15, which contained a compulsory union shop clause, and that I had to join the union and pay dues, or be fired."

"To this date, there has been no representation election to show that the UAW properly represents the Continental Employees. To this date, the contract has not been voted on and ratified."

Willson refused to join the union, and was fired on June 28. He has a case pending before the National Labor Relations Board, against both the company and the union.

Gene Mittelberg, Executive Secretary of Missourians For Right To Work, also submitted a statement to the Platform Committee urging consideration of the plank calling for retention of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Section 14 (b) reaffirms the power of States to pass Right To Work Laws outlawing compulsory unionism.

Mr. Mittelberg said, "It is ironic that in this era of particular concern over the civil rights of individuals that it is necessary to plead for the right of an individual to work at his chosen profession, regardless of color, creed, religion or affiliation."

Mittelberg also urged the committee to consider a plank endorsing the "Federal Employees Right To Work Bill which would write President John F. Kennedy's Executive Order # 10988 of 1962 into federal law protecting the right of federal employees to join and assist labor organizations, and the right to refrain from all such activities."

I guess one is never really satisfied in one? Wonder who the wise man was who said "the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence," --- boy, he sure said a mouthful!!

I could hardly wait until school was out and the boys would be home for summer vacation, and I would be free from that constant feeling of having to get somebody somewhere or two somebodies somewhereas all at the same time and while I was suppose to be doing something for somebody else simultaneously.

Well, summer is three fourths gone, and I think the pace has quickened instead of slowed --- brother, am I ever ready for school to start!!

If it's not get them to the pool, it's bring them back, or out for Little League, or back for piano lessons, or off for a few days vacation that takes you a few weeks to get ready for, and that is really the laugh of the century. I just read an article on how many divorces are granted each year as the result of family vacations, and I do, I mean I really do believe it.

We just returned from Rolla, where we took the kids for four days to a Missouri Press golf tournament, and the only reason I didn't stop off at Farmington, on the way back, was that all the beds were already taken!

Vacationing with your family is a true fallicy, particularly when you have to go to and fro your destination in a car, and particularly when you're traveling with two champion "urpers" such as we have. Charles and I must have both had weak stomached genes to pass on to our children, cause only a double dose of heredity could have made them this prone to be so icky. I won't put the full blame of this bad trait of theirs on the Blantons either, (however, I'm quite sure all their other bad habits came from that side as me and mine are just perfect) cause it was just too potent a dose to be entirely one - sided.

To The Editor:

This letter is written in the hope that it will be read by all my neighbors around the country who are afraid of any effective gun - control law and think it would be the government's first step toward taking guns away from everybody. This fear is absolutely unfounded, as anyone who will examine the facts for himself can see. But unfortunately, a powerful gun lobby, led by the National Rifle Association, has so frightened a great many decent, reasonable people that they really do believe it.

A staff member of the Senate Special Subcommittee that has been investigating the need for gun controls said this not long ago about the people who are so afraid of laws to regulate firearms: "These sportsmen are mostly ordinary, decent fellows. They have no idea that they have been intentionally misled for someone else's personal gain, and that they are indirectly responsible for thousands and thousands of unnecessary deaths and injuries every year. If we could only get the truth across to them, they'd back us all the way."

The fact is that in spite of all the propaganda by the gun lobby the great majority of American citizens do want gun - control legislation. The Gallup Polls have shown for the past thirty years that more than 84 percent of the American people favor effective gun controls. In January 1967 a Gallup Poll showed that 73 percent of all Americans would support a law requiring registration of all rifles and shotguns, and 85 percent favored a law requiring registration of all handguns. Even a majority of the nation's gun owners favor gun - control laws. A Harris Survey has shown that 66 percent of the 27 million white Americans who own guns are in favor of a law requiring all persons to register all gun purchases, and a Gallup Poll last year showed that 60 percent of the nation's gun owners would vote in favor of a law requiring a police permit for the purchase of any gun.

The overwhelming majority of law enforcement officials in our country have been on record for years in favor of gun - control laws. For more than thirty years the International Association of Chiefs of Police has favored a law requiring Federal registration of all firearms. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has long been in favor of gun controls and has stated: "Those who claim that the availability of firearms is not a factor in murder in this country are not facing reality .... a review of the motives for murder suggests that a readily accessible gun enables the perpetrators to kill on impulse." The American Bar Association supports strong gun controls. So does at least two thirds of the press, including such a highly respected farm publication as the 127-year-old Prairie Farmer, whose editor made a survey covering the states of Indiana and Illinois and concluded: "I doubt very much that the gun lobby speaks for the American people. It certainly doesn't speak for the urban citizen like myself. And we offer you proof from personal interview polls that it does not speak for midwestern farmers."

What is the truth about the need for gun controls? Here are some facts I hope readers will examine carefully.

In the United States there were 6552 murders with firearms in 1966 and 7700 in 1967; there were 43,500 aggravated assaults with firearms in 1966 and 55,000 in 1967; there were 60,000 robberies with firearms in 1966 and over 71,000 in 1967. This adds up to more than 110,000 gun crimes of all kinds, from armed robbery to murder, in the United States in 1966 and more than 133,000 in 1967. (I won't even talk about the 10,407 suicides and 2,557 accidental deaths by firearms in 1966.)

OPEN FOR BUSINESS, the Air Force C-5 Galaxy nose raises to expose cargo compartment of the world's largest plane. Hydraulic power moves nose up or down, getting it away from ground vehicles.

(Lockheed-Georgia)

How does this compare with countries that require gun licensing and registration? In Great Britain, which has one fourth as many people as the United States, instead of 6,552 gun murders in 1966 there were 30 -- about the same number that are shot to death in the United States every 36 hours. In France, a nation of enthusiastic hunters with a population one fourth our size and 2 million hunting rifles and shotguns registered in 1967, there are about 500 deaths by shooting each year, or 1 per 100,000 population-- less than a third of the rate in America. In Paris and its suburbs, with 5 million people (a little more than the population of Indiana), the number of homicides and attempted homicides with firearms has been going since 1962. That year it was 145; in 1966 it was only 76. In Japan, with 98 million people, almost half as many as the United States, there were only 2111 murders of all kinds in 1967 and only 37 of these involved firearms. In Holland, which has just about three times the population of Indiana, the total number of gun murders for the entire year of 1967 was 15, and for a period of three years in the early 1960's there was not a single gun murder in all of Holland.

But perhaps somebody may argue that the lower rate of gun murders in all those countries is not really due to their gun - control laws but just to the fact that in those countries conditions are somehow "different." All right, let's look closer home. Canada is so close and similar to the United States that the Canadians sometimes wonder whether they aren't little more than the fifty-first state. They are a nation of outdoorsmen and hunters, and they have even more great open spaces than we have. But they also have registration of all firearms. With a population about equal to that of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Kentucky, Canada had a total of 281 murders of all kinds in the whole year 1967. Of these, only 140 were committed by firearms, or an average of .8 per 100,000.

Your chances of getting deliberately shot to death are nearly 5 times greater in the United States than in Canada, 27 times greater than in Holland, 29 times greater than in West Germany, 60 times greater than in England, and 89 times greater than in Japan. Why? Are the people in all those countries more moral than we are? More peaceful? More law- abiding? I refuse to believe it. I am convinced that the difference between us and all the rest of the civilized world is very simple: we still stubbornly insist on being anarchists when it comes to the control of firearms, and the rest of the civilized world has learned better.

The firearm anarchists like to claim that the gun control laws already passed by some states and cities do not really make any difference. But the facts do not support them. The first column of figures in the table below shows the percentage of murders that were committed with firearms during the period from 1962 to 1965 in each of the states named. The second column of figures shows the overall murder rate per 100,000 population.

1. States with gun controls: Firearms murders-Murder rate per 100,000 pop.

	1962-65	Rate
Rhode Island	24%	1.4
Massachusetts	35%	2.4
New York	32%	4.8
New Jersey	39%	3.5
Pennsylvania	43%	3.2

2. States with minimal or no gun controls:

	1962-65	Rate
Louisiana	62%	9.9
Arizona	66%	6.1
Nevada	67%	10.6
Texas	69%	9.1
Mississippi	71%	9.7

Again let me ask you: are the people in Mississippi twice as murderous by nature as the people in New York? Are the people in Nevada three times as murderous as the people in New Jersey? Or is it the gun-control laws that make your chances less of getting murdered in New York and New Jersey than in Mississippi and Nevada?

Firearms are involved in only 25 percent of the murders committed in New York City, which is under the Sullivan Law, while in Dallas, Texas, and Phoenix, Arizona, which have virtually no laws controlling firearms, the rate is 72 percent and 65.9 percent respectively. Moreover, despite what those of us who were born in the country or in small towns may like to think about the wickedness of New York City, it has the fifth lowest assault rate of the nation's ten largest cities, the third lowest murder rate, and the lowest robbery rate of them all. If the rest of the United States were likewise under the Sullivan Law, so that New York residents could not get around their own state's gun- control law by buying firearms out-of-state, the crime rate in New York City would very likely be even lower.

We hear a great deal nowadays about crime in the cities. My wife and I have just returned home after living for four months in Washington within three blocks of the Senate Office Buildings, and we know at first hand how bad conditions are in the capital city of our nation. But we also know that Washington cannot cope with its crime problem by itself. Persons with criminal records are prevented by law from buying handguns in the District of Columbia. But no District of Columbia law can keep a criminal from going out into the suburbs and buying a gun where the D.C. laws do not operate. One major gun dealer just across the Maryland line was recently found to be selling 60 percent of his firearms to Washington residents, and 40 percent of these Washington purchasers had criminal records.

Neighbors, if you are among those who have been pressuring our Congressmen to vote against gun controls, then you bear part of the responsibility for perpetuating the crime in our nation's capital. Washington and the other cities cannot control their crime with local laws as long as the small towns and the countryside insist on firearms anarchism.

Why is it that our country lags behind every other civilized nation in laws to regulate traffic in firearms? The answer is to be found in the hysteria created among a minority of otherwise reasonable, decent Americans by the most powerful lobby in the United States, the gun lobby. Here is the way this hysteria was described in a major Senate speech last May by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, who in addition to leading the campaign for adequate gun controls is also one of the strongest anti - Communists in Congress:

"Some of the more reckless critics of the gun bill have charged that it is all a part of a Communist plot to disarm the American people so that the Communists can take over and impose their dictatorship. Registration, they say, leads to confiscation, and confiscation, in turn, makes a Communist takeover easier. Not only is there not a word about 'confiscation' in the legislation, but to anyone who knows anything about the history of Communist takeovers, this argument is the worst kind of nonsense. Virtually every mountaineer in Albania had an unregistered gun before the Communists took over in their country. But that did not prevent the Communists from taking over. On the other hand, the Swiss are a nation of sportsmen and gun lovers who for decades now have practiced the strictest kind of registration. But registration has not led to confiscation -- and Switzerland remains one of the most stanch lyanti-Communist countries in Europe ... If the gun lobby were to carry this argument to its logical conclusion, the first measure they would have to take would be to destroy the entire membershp list of the National Rifle Association and the subscription lists of the dozen or more gun magazines. For if a Communist regime were ever to take power in this country, it could, by impounding these various lists, instantly be able to compile a nationwide master list of the names and addresses of gun owners."

Senator Dodd went on to say, "There is a tendency to forget that the gun lobby is only a relatively small group, and that it depends on terror for its success. It moves its membership to write letters to legislators, newspapers, and Congressmen by telling them falsely the law threatens to take away their firearms. Nothing could be further from the truth ... This small group, motivated and financed by the self - interest of the gun- runners, is the one who has succeeded in opposing laws that most of America wants, to disarm the criminal and those similarly unqualified to go about armed to the teeth."

It is time to stop being terrorized by the gun lobby. Neighbors, if you love our country and are concerned over its welfare, I suggest that you write to your Congressmen and urge them to defy the gun lobby and vote for effective gun controls.

(The facts presented in this letter have been gathered from the following sources: (1) "Strict Gun Control Practiced Abroad," The New York Times, June 13, 1968; (2) President Johnson's message to Congress on June 24 proposing tighter gun controls (The New York Times, June 25, 1968); (3) "Gun Curbs Are Stricter in Many Nations Than in U.S." The Washington Post, June 23, 1968; "Annals of Legislation: If You Love Your Guns," The New Yorker, April 20, 1968, pages 56-155; and (4) the Congressional Record, May 8, 1968, pages S5125-S5148, which gives the text of a three - hour speech in the Senate, packed with an impressive and convincing array of facts, that was made in support of gun controls by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut).

500 Migrants Helped Weekly at New Center

CAIRO-Some 500 migratory farm workers are being helped each week at a new wayside center opened with federal funds on U.S. highway 51 north, seven miles north of this southern Illinois city.

The center, first of its kind in Illinois, is one of 11 set up by the migrant service center project of Washington, D.C., with a $600,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The site was selected because it is a main thoroughfare for northbound migratory workers from Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico. According to Mrs. Geraldine Pang, center manager, they are bound for Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan to harvest crops and are expected to remain in the northern states through October.

Mrs. Pang, a long-time worker in the migrant-help field, likes to stand in the doorway of her one-story concrete block office at the side of the road, "So I can see them when they pull in and go out and greet them." Attractive orange signs depicting a farm worker hauling a basket of produce on his shoulder are posted up and down the highway from the center to catch the eye of bus and truck drivers hauling the migrants.

Waiting for the farm workers, tired and dustry from long hours of traveling, are portable toilets, a shower, a stove and laundry facilities, cots for an overnight rest if desired, and food, coffee, doughnuts, and milk for the children.

Most of the migrants have enough food, Mrs. Pang says, "But I've seen 30 or more babies, mostly Negro, with portruding pot-bellied stomaches from hunger. Most of them are from Mississippi. Their legs are so thin that children of eight resemble children of two years." Mrs. Pang has hopes of installing 200 cots in the Illinois Migrant School, at Cairo, to meet the influx expected in the Fall as the workers finish harvesting and picking and begin their southward journey home. She is also hard at work fitting out a camper trailer at the site. Mrs. Pang says she has asked Washington to make available surplus food, to be stored at the center, for hungry migrant families. "It is iron," she says, "that these people who work so hard to put food on the tables of the nation don't earn enough to deep their children from the verge of starvation."

In assition to surplus food, she says that supplies of vitamins and cod liver oil for children and babies, respectively, would be appreciated. "The migratory farm worker is no beggar," she says. "He is doing the hardest, dirtiest work in American society. Often, his children are with him toiling in the fields, but he has little, or nothing, to show for it at the end of the day."

About half the workers coming through are Negro and half Mexican-American, she says. Mrs. Pang is assisted by a four-member staff.

But unfortunately, a powerful gun lobby, led by the National Rifle Association, has so frightened a great many decent, reasonable people that they really do believe it.

A staff member of the Senate Special Subcommittee that has been investigating the need for gun controls said this not long ago about the people who are so afraid of laws to regulate firearms: "These sportsmen are mostly ordinary, decent fellows. They have no idea that they have been intentionally misled for someone else's personal gain, and that they are indirectly responsible for thousands and thousands of unnecessary deaths and injuries every year. If we could only get the truth across to them, they'd back us all the way."

The fact is that in spite of all the propaganda by the gun lobby the great majority of American citizens do want gun - control legislation. The Gallup Polls have shown for the past thirty years that more than 84 percent of the American people favor effective gun controls. In January 1967 a Gallup Poll showed that 73 percent of all Americans would support a law requiring registration of all rifles and shotguns, and 85 percent favored a law requiring registration of all handguns. Even a majority of the nation's gun owners favor gun - control laws. A Harris Survey has shown that 66 percent of the 27 million white Americans who own guns are in favor of a law requiring all persons to register all gun purchases, and a Gallup Poll last year showed that 60 percent of the nation's gun owners would vote in favor of a law requiring a police permit for the purchase of any gun.

The overwhelming majority of law enforcement officials in our country have been on record for years in favor of gun - control laws. For more than thirty years the International Association of Chiefs of Police has favored a law requiring Federal registration of all firearms. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has long been in favor of gun controls and has stated: "Those who claim that the availability of firearms is not a factor in murder in this country are not facing reality .... a review of the motives for murder suggests that a readily accessible gun enables the perpetrators to kill on impulse." The American Bar Association supports strong gun controls. So does at least two thirds of the press, including such a highly respected farm publication as the 127-year-old Prairie Farmer, whose editor made a survey covering the states of Indiana and Illinois and concluded: "I doubt very much that the gun lobby speaks for the American people. It certainly doesn't speak for the urban citizen like myself. And we offer you proof from personal interview polls that it does not speak for midwestern farmers."

What is the truth about the need for gun controls? Here are some facts I hope readers will examine carefully.

In the United States there were 6552 murders with firearms in 1966 and 7700 in 1967; there were 43,500 aggravated assaults with firearms in 1966 and 55,000 in 1967; there were 60,000 robberies with firearms in 1966 and over 71,000 in 1967. This adds up to more than 110,000 gun crimes of all kinds, from armed robbery to murder, in the United States in 1966 and more than 133,000 in 1967. (I won't even talk about the 10,407 suicides and 2,557 accidental deaths by firearms in 1966.)

OPEN FOR BUSINESS, the Air Force C-5 Galaxy nose raises to expose cargo compartment of the world's largest plane. Hydraulic power moves nose up or down, getting it away from ground vehicles.

(Lockheed-Georgia)

How does this compare with countries that require gun licensing and registration? In Great Britain, which has one fourth as many people as the United States, instead of 6,552 gun murders in 1966 there were 30 -- about the same number that are shot to death in the United States every 36 hours. In France, a nation of enthusiastic hunters with a population one fourth our size and 2 million hunting rifles and shotguns registered in 1967, there are about 500 deaths by shooting each year, or 1 per 100,000 population-- less than a third of the rate in America. In Paris and its suburbs, with 5 million people (a little more than the population of Indiana), the number of homicides and attempted homicides with firearms has been going since 1962. That year it was 145; in 1966 it was only 76. In Japan, with 98 million people, almost half as many as the United States, there were only 2111 murders of all kinds in 1967 and only 37 of these involved firearms. In Holland, which has just about three times the population of Indiana, the total number of gun murders for the entire year of 1967 was 15, and for a period of three years in the early 1960's there was not a single gun murder in all of Holland.

But perhaps somebody may argue that the lower rate of gun murders in all those countries is not really due to their gun - control laws but just to the fact that in those countries conditions are somehow "different." All right, let's look closer home. Canada is so close and similar to the United States that the Canadians sometimes wonder whether they aren't little more than the fifty-first state. They are a nation of outdoorsmen and hunters, and they have even more great open spaces than we have. But they also have registration of all firearms. With a population about equal to that of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Kentucky, Canada had a total of 281 murders of all kinds in the whole year 1967. Of these, only 140 were committed by firearms, or an average of .8 per 100,000.

Your chances of getting deliberately shot to death are nearly 5 times greater in the United States than in Canada, 27 times greater than in Holland, 29 times greater than in West Germany, 60 times greater than in England, and 89 times greater than in Japan. Why? Are the people in all those countries more moral than we are? More peaceful? More law- abiding? I refuse to believe it. I am convinced that the difference between us and all the rest of the civilized world is very simple: we still stubbornly insist on being anarchists when it comes to the control of firearms, and the rest of the civilized world has learned better.

The firearm anarchists like to claim that the gun control laws already passed by some states and cities do not really make any difference. But the facts do not support them. The first column of figures in the table below shows the percentage of murders that were committed with firearms during the period from 1962 to 1965 in each of the states named. The second column of figures shows the overall murder rate per 100,000 population.

1. States with gun controls: Firearms murders-Murder rate per 100,000 pop.

	1962-65	Rate
Rhode Island	24%	1.4
Massachusetts	35%	2.4
New York	32%	4.8
New Jersey	39%	3.5
Pennsylvania	43%	3.2

2. States with minimal or no gun controls:

	1962-65	Rate
Louisiana	62%	9.9
Arizona	66%	6.1
Nevada	67%	10.6
Texas	69%	9.1
Mississippi	71%	9.7

Again let me ask you: are the people in Mississippi twice as murderous by nature as the people in New York? Are the people in Nevada three times as murderous as the people in New Jersey? Or is it the gun-control laws that make your chances less of getting murdered in New York and New Jersey than in Mississippi and Nevada?

Firearms are involved in only 25 percent of the murders committed in New York City, which is under the Sullivan Law, while in Dallas, Texas, and Phoenix, Arizona, which have virtually no laws controlling firearms, the rate is 72 percent and 65.9 percent respectively. Moreover, despite what those of us who were born in the country or in small towns may like to think about the wickedness of New York City, it has the fifth lowest assault rate of the nation's ten largest cities, the third lowest murder rate, and the lowest robbery rate of them all. If the rest of the United States were likewise under the Sullivan Law, so that New York residents could not get around their own state's gun- control law by buying firearms out-of-state, the crime rate in New York City would very likely be even lower.

We hear a great deal nowadays about crime in the cities. My wife and I have just returned home after living for four months in Washington within three blocks of the Senate Office Buildings, and we know at first hand how bad conditions are in the capital city of our nation. But we also know that Washington cannot cope with its crime problem by itself. Persons with criminal records are prevented by law from buying handguns in the District of Columbia. But no District of Columbia law can keep a criminal from going out into the suburbs and buying a gun where the D.C. laws do not operate. One major gun dealer just across the Maryland line was recently found to be selling 60 percent of his firearms to Washington residents, and 40 percent of these Washington purchasers had criminal records.

Neighbors, if you are among those who have been pressuring our Congressmen to vote against gun controls, then you bear part of the responsibility for perpetuating the crime in our nation's capital. Washington and the other cities cannot control their crime with local laws as long as the small towns and the countryside insist on firearms anarchism.

Why is it that our country lags behind every other civilized nation in laws to regulate traffic in firearms? The answer is to be found in the hysteria created among a minority of otherwise reasonable, decent Americans by the most powerful lobby in the United States, the gun lobby. Here is the way this hysteria was described in a major Senate speech last May by Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, who in addition to leading the campaign for adequate gun controls is also one of the strongest anti - Communists in Congress:

"Some of the more reckless critics of the gun bill have charged that it is all a part of a Communist plot to disarm the American people so that the Communists can take over and impose their dictatorship. Registration, they say, leads to confiscation, and confiscation, in turn, makes a Communist takeover easier. Not only is there not a word about 'confiscation' in the legislation, but to anyone who knows anything about the history of Communist takeovers, this argument is the worst kind of nonsense. Virtually every mountaineer in Albania had an unregistered gun before the Communists took over in their country. But that did not prevent the Communists from taking over. On the other hand, the Swiss are a nation of sportsmen and gun lovers who for decades now have practiced the strictest kind of registration. But registration has not led to confiscation -- and Switzerland remains one of the most stanchly anti-Communist countries in Europe ... If the gun lobby were to carry this argument to its logical conclusion, the first measure they would have to take would be to destroy the entire membership list of the National Rifle Association and the subscription lists of the dozen or more gun magazines. For if a Communist regime were ever to take power in this country, it could, by impounding these various lists, instantly be able to compile a nationwide master list of the names and addresses of gun owners."

Senator Dodd went on to say, "There is a tendency to forget that the gun lobby is only a relatively small group, and that it depends on terror for its success. It moves its membership to write letters to legislators, newspapers, and Congressmen by telling them falsely the law threatens to take away their firearms. Nothing could be further from the truth ... This small group, motivated and financed by the self - interest of the gun- runners, is the one who has succeeded in opposing laws that most of America wants, to disarm the criminal and those similarly unqualified to go about armed to the teeth."

It is time to stop being terrorized by the gun lobby. Neighbors, if you love our country and are concerned over its welfare, I suggest that you write to your Congressmen and urge them to defy the gun lobby and vote for effective gun controls.

500 Migrants Helped Weekly at New Center

CAIRO-Some 500 migratory farm workers are being helped each week at a new wayside center opened with federal funds on U.S. highway 51 north, seven miles north of this southern Illinois city.

The center, first of its kind in Illinois, is one of 11 set up by the migrant service center project of Washington, D.C., with a $600,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The site was selected because it is a main thoroughfare for northbound migratory workers from Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico. According to Mrs. Geraldine Pang, center manager, they are bound for Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan to harvest crops and are expected to remain in the northern states through October.

Mrs. Pang, a long-time worker in the migrant-help field, likes to stand in the doorway of her one-story concrete block office at the side of the road, "So I can see them when they pull in and go out and greet them." Attractive orange signs depicting a farm worker hauling a basket of produce on his shoulder are posted up and down the highway from the center to catch the eye of bus and truck drivers hauling the migrants.

Waiting for the farm workers, tired and dustry from long hours of traveling, are portable toilets, a shower, a stove and laundry facilities, cots for an overnight rest if desired, and food, coffee, doughnuts, and milk for the children.

Most of the migrants have enough food, Mrs. Pang says, "But I've seen 30 or more babies, mostly Negro, with portruding pot-bellied stomaches from hunger. Most of them are from Mississippi. Their legs are so thin that children of eight resemble children of two years." Mrs. Pang has hopes of installing 200 cots in the Illinois Migrant School, at Cairo, to meet the influx expected in the Fall as the workers finish harvesting and picking and begin their southward journey home. She is also hard at work fitting out a camper trailer at the site. Mrs. Pang says she has asked Washington to make available surplus food, to be stored at the center, for hungry migrant families. "It is iron," she says, "that these people who work so hard to put food on the tables of the nation don't earn enough to deep their children from the verge of starvation."

In assition to surplus food, she says that supplies of vitamins and cod liver oil for children and babies, respectively, would be appreciated. "The migratory farm worker is no beggar," she says. "He is doing the hardest, dirtiest work in American society. Often, his children are with him toiling in the fields, but he has little, or nothing, to show for it at the end of the day."

About half the workers coming through are Negro and half Mexican-American, she says. Mrs. Pang is assisted by a four-member staff.
